002. About

Personality: Leslie Meyers is nothing but a cruel, calculating machine. Haha!!! Just kidding!! Leslie Meyers is a fun loving, party-going robo girl :). She loves to hang out with her friends and do anything any normal girl would do.

Leslie makes it a point to put on a playful/energetic front. Deep down she's not really like that, but she's trying her best to act human after all. She is usually quite erratic and unpredictable. One minute she could be ecstatic about something, and the next she's fuming over something else. She takes things very seriously and is very to the point.

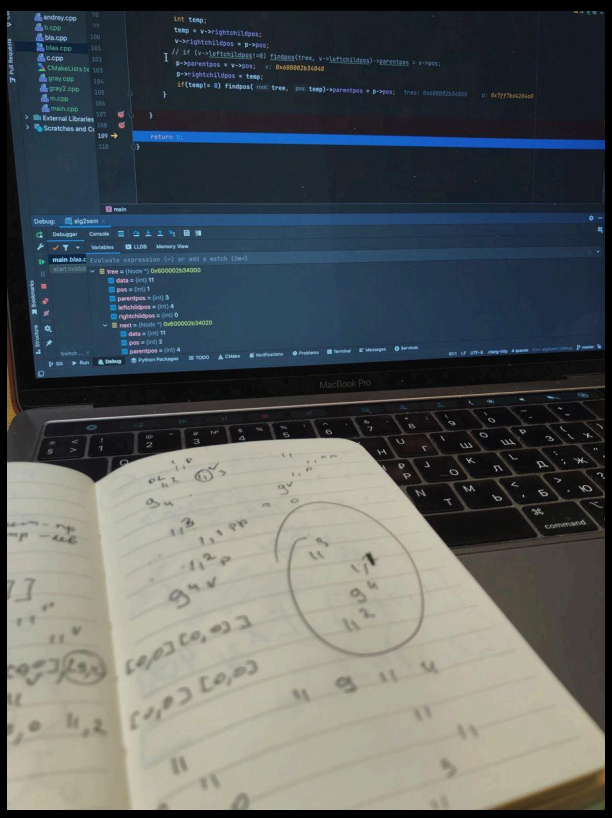
Likes: Mainly anything a typical girl would like!! :) Additionally, she takes a strange interest in coding and computer software and technology things of that sort.

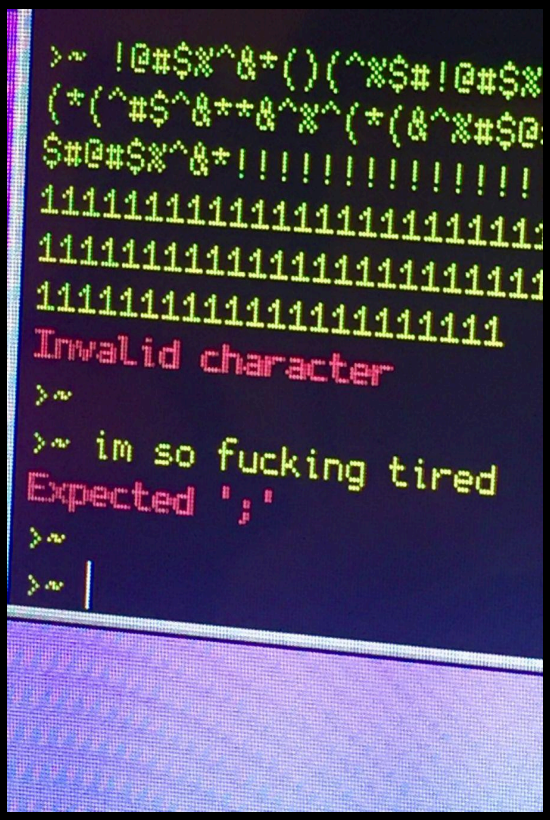
Dislikes: She doesn't like when people stick their noses in her business. I mean, who would like that after all? It's not like she'd ever try anything shady!!

Hobbies: Leslie enjoys making computer programs in her spare time, as well as a fair bit of hacking. She also gossips from time to time.

Talents: She's weirdly strong. Like, seriously. It's crazy.

Habits: She malfunctions sometimes. From time to time, whenever she's going places or doing certain things she'll look around to verify no one is around to watch her. No one likes getting watched. :)





003. Appearance

Leslie Meyers is a tall girl with black hair that goes down to about her shoulders and green eyes. Typically, her favorite color to wear is yellow. She likes sweaters and things that have graphics on them. She also likes wearing headbands with her outfits.
