Concepts: Complex Cultural Influences, Differences Bring Strength, Unity through Diversity

Your upbringing is one of travel and varied influences on your life. Perhaps, whether by choice or by force, your formative years were spent moving from place to place; or you were the runt of the market, constantly meeting new people from strange far off places. Regardless of your upbringing, it exposed you to a vast multitude of people and cultures from across Grimoire and perhaps even beyond.

Generally, people of this culture understand that their upbringing was unique. They understand that the varied perspectives of their upbringing lend a hand, and allow them to be more successful. They know that the more varied the perspectives in a group, the more able it is to overcome obstacles and challenges. They celebrate their differences and allow that to strengthen them instead of shunning differences and allowing distinctiveness to isolate or ostracize people.

Cultural Concepts

Little is in common within the culture itself. Players who wish to make a character from this Culture are encouraged to look through the other Cultures and select 1-2 Commonalities from a number of different Cultures

Inheritance Power: Prevalent Influence

The Character may select an Inheritance Power from another Culture, or a General Power at Character Creation to serve as their Inheritance Power. If selecting a General Power, they must meet the Requirements for it.
