

Assignment One Prompt

PART 1: Group Presentation

Due 09/18 and 09/23

Working in groups you will create slides and give a class presentation on either 09/18 or 09/23.

The details are on this Google doc.

Part 2: Analysis (600-900 words)

Due 09/30 in class

Compose a short rhetorical analysis of either Harari et al., "You Can Have the Blue Pill or the Red Pill," OR Marche, "The Future of Writing Is a Lot Like Hip-Hop."

1. Compose a brief introductory paragraph providing background on the author(s), when and where the text was published, and the author's purpose.
2. Summarize the main claims and the support given for them. Identify one persuasive strategy and explain how it is used to persuade/impact readers.
3. Write an evaluative or personal response to the text. An evaluative response will focus on a particular strength or weakness, and a personal response will entail connecting an element of the text with an experience, interest, or text you've read. For example, if you find Marche's Hip-Hop analogy interesting, you could extend or illustrate it with your own examples or discuss how your experiences with A.I. connect to his text.
4. Separately, in your A.I. reflection journal, document and reflect on your use of A.I. for parts 1 and 2 of this assignment. Include a link to your reflection at the end of this paper.

Format

- Compose this paper in Google docs in your Google folder. Include your name and the date in the Google doc filename.
- Use MLA format. Include a title for your paper, your name, and the date.
- Use one-inch margins, double spacing, and Include page numbers.