The Unfolding Case of…

We have arrived at the near end of the semester for N283 Nursing Foundations. Self organize into groups of 5 people per group. This group project is an opportunity to take what you have learned in class, experienced in clinical, and now create an unfolding case study. Your group is tasked to choose a real patient you have encountered in N284 Clinical– refer to a completed clinical packet. Maintain HIPAA when creating your case. Create a fictional unfolding case study for this patient, no more than 10-12 slides. Similar to the case of Lia Lee in week 13, you are to help guide the case as it unfolds. Feel free to get creative on how you do this. You can choose 1 of 2 ways to do this:

OPTION 1: Utilize google slides & embed hyperlinks to other slides in your presentation allowing for the audience to choose a course of nursing foundation interventions related to any of the topics covered near the end of this semester:

a. Culture & Spirituality
b. Family Nursing
c. Sexuality & Gender
d. Patient Education
e. Communication

OPTION 2: Utilize the google slides & create a video or audio recordings of the patient case study. You can act out your scenario among your group which will include a nurse talking aloud in the first person on their train of thought or showing video clip examples of "what I think I want to do," then the audience will need to select a course of action. Feel free to provide multiple different 'better' examples along with rationales to support your nursing interventions. Use props from the nursing skills lab to give it a sense of authenticity such as a gown, patient bed, etc. Video or audio length clips no longer than 1-2 minutes per scene.

f. Culture & Spirituality
g. Family Nursing
h. Sexuality & Gender
i. Patient Education
j. Communication

WHICHEVER option you choose, you are also tasked to include 5 NCLEX style questions with rationales for the correct answer and a care plan.

Upon completion of the unfolding case study, select one student within your group to submit your materials via the blackboard assignment link. If having trouble submitting via the link, it is okay to email your completed project to Lorenzo including the 2nd & 3rd page of this document with your group's names (First & Last name).
