

Welcome to the Google Drive area for Translating Python for Informatics

This is a shared Google Drive area that I use to enable the slides for Programming for Everybody / Python for Informatics to be translated into multiple languages.

The idea is to build a collaborative group with one or several leaders for each language. I will maintain a master copy in English and create folders and give edit permission to the various languages. I will copy the master files into a new folder for each new requested language.

Please wait until I copy the files into the language folders so I can make sure the EN-us versions are up-to-date as we are doing some cleanup of the EN-us slides after the conversion from PowerPoint to Google Docs.

All of the materials will be publicly readable at this URL:

Since these translations are crowd-sourced, I personally cannot vouch for any of the languages other than my original English language versions. If you see a problem, feel free to join the above Google Group and let us know.

If you would like to participate in the translation efforts, please join this Google Group:
