15:34:04 From Fang Fang to Everyone:

Sorry I am in another meeting. I will join back as soon as I can.

15:34:35 From Kate McNally Carter (she/her) to Everyone:

I can access it okay

15:34:44 From Ariana Santiago to Everyone:

sorry I'm late! lost track of time

15:40:11 From Ariana Santiago to Everyone:

yes good point - in Pressbooks you won't have the ability to add comments/suggestions like you would in Word or Google Docs

15:44:04 From Ariana Santiago to Everyone:

this refers to importing from Word (though you could also copy/paste):

15:44:31 From Albert Flavie UHouston to Everyone:

Thanks!

15:55:07 From Melody Li to Everyone:

sorry I have problem with my mic but here're the updates for our group: We discussed the release plan based on the template

(<https://docs.google.com/document/d/1MrJ69BbyNGtDOMNffraNINgccjg8zjfsmy9IlyoB7WI/edit>)

Formatting process: we will follow the pressbook formatting settings. At the start we will search for some samples from the existing projects and use them as the basics for our formatting design. We will use Chicago style.

Timeline: Major formatting such as graphics and book layout will be drafted by spring break 2023 when we finish building the majority of the content.

Offline: PDF for printing demand. Also interested in other channels such as Amazon e-book.

Promotion: (1) introduce the book to UH academic community through events such as Emerging Trends, (2) we also plan an online book release event to reach more faculty and students, in and outside of UH, or even internationally.

Promotion timeline: 2023 Fall.
