

How do you tell someone you hate them?

Like, that you really hate them?

That you just hate their entire existence?

That it physically hurts just to think about them?

I'm not sure how to even accept the fact that I hate them.

I mean, I shouldn't them, myself, per se.

I just...

They've infected my entire life; ruining how I think of myself; destroying my past.

How do I just...

Just tell them I hate them?

That they deserve to die?

That I wish they never have existed?

...

Is that a little harsh?

No, I don't think so.

I think that's an easy way out.

I think that just dying doesn't do their past mistakes justice.

I think that they need to suffer greater, more severe consequences.

...

They...

I hate them.

With every fiber of my being.

Why do I have to live in the aftermath of their stupidity?

Why do I have to put up with them?

Why do I hate them?

...

Sometimes, I cry in the shower.

Sometimes, I cry myself to sleep.

Sometimes, I cry.

...

How do you tell someone you hate them?

...

Like, that you really hate them?

...

That you just hate their entire existence?

...

That it physically hurts just to think about them?

...

Please let me know.