

Secret to getting more Clients:

Hey Mike,

I'm a digital marketing specialist who came across your amazing weight loss videos on Instagram. I was really impressed with your coaching abilities and I believe that you have the potential to help a lot of people achieve their weight loss goals.

After taking a closer look at your website, I couldn't help but notice that there are a few areas that could use some improvement. One of the biggest issues is that your landing page is not strong enough to convince potential clients that you have the solution to their problems.

Fitness influencers like Tony Horton and Shaun T use a technique that uses human emotions and their pain/desires to convince them that their life would be better with a certain product/service.

So if you would like to know what your problems are and how you can solve them using pulsepoint. Do let me know.

Regards