About Hypernova

Hypernova Systems is building an on-chain funded trading protocol. We give everyday traders capital, institutional grade tools and rule-based payouts enforced by smart contracts. Our mission is to become the most profitable and trusted home for retail traders.

We're bringing funded trading on-chain to deliver transparency and alignment to a billion dollar market plagued by opaque rules, denied payouts and rented tech stacks. We're rebuilding from first principles.

Our team has built trading and custody infrastructure at Coinbase and Citi, run multi billion dollar risk at Walleye Capital, and scaled global platforms at Amazon. Our CEO led DeFi investments at RockawayX, including early backing of BreakoutProp (leading crypto prop firm).

We've recently closed our pre-seed fundraise of $3m and are currently building our engineering and growth team. If you align with our mission, apply now!

The Role

We're looking for a Founder Associate to take the reins on all things content and communication.

So far, our founder, Anar, has been running content directly - but we're ready for someone who can bring consistency, creativity, and a bit of humour to the way we show up online.

You'll be:

- Writing and posting across X (Twitter) and eventually Instagram
- Helping shape Hypernova's tone of voice and narrative in the trading community
- Spotting and riffing on trends in the space
- Collaborating with (and occasionally reaching out to) influencers and trading personalities
- Experimenting with content that drives trader signups, engagement, and buzz

No need for blockchain or crypto expertise - curiosity and wit are far more important.

About You

- You write fast, clearly, and with humour
 - You love the pace and experimentation of early-stage startups
 - You're a generalist who can create, test, and learn
 - You understand online culture and what performs
 - You're comfortable being scrappy and learning on the fly

Why Join

We're early. You'd be joining the founding team at a 6-person startup that's just raised $3M and will be growing fast.

This role will evolve with the company - today it's content and community, tomorrow it could be growth, partnerships, and CAC strategy.

You'll work directly with the founders, get exposure to all sides of the business, and have a real shot at shaping how Hypernova is perceived by thousands of traders worldwide.
