Abstract

keywords:

Keywords arranged by alphabetically and should have at least two keywords and maximum five keywords separated by a semicolon (;).

Abstract

The abstract should be clear, concise, and descriptive. This abstract should provide a brief introduction to the problem, objective of the paper, followed by a statement regarding the methodology and a summary of results. Abstracts are written in English. Font Times New Roman (11pt) Italic and preferably not more than 300 words.

DOI :

A. Introduction (Times New Roman (12 pt)& Bold)

The introduction should be clear and provide the issue to be discussed in the manuscript. Before the objective, authors should provide an adequate background, and very short literature survey in order to record the existing solutions/method, to show which is the best of previous researches, to show the main limitation of the earlier researches, to show what do you hope to achieve (to solve the limitation), and to show the scientific merit or novelties of the paper. At the end of the paragraph, the author/s should end with a comment on the significance concerning identification of the issue and objective of the research. Then the writer can write descriptively the research method used in the article. This method is optional, the author can only write it in the introduction or abstract chapter. Originality or Novelty of research is required in this segment/paragraph. This research is executed differently from existing or previous research, Example "The novelty of this research will make a significant contribution to determining the means, size, and function of the parliamentary threshold in the legislative election". The method is optional for original research articles. This method is written indescriptive and should provide a statement regarding the methodology of the research. This method as much as possible gives the reader an idea through the methods used. At the end of the introduction, it is necessary to end with the problem question. The question problem contains details of the things to be researched and delivered as a research/study statement, this question problem is optional.

B. Discussion
