

Context: I've seen about every single post on his social media, and he always starts with Hi Quants, so that's the reason I start with Hi. I sought the whole internet for his name, but couldn't find it.

Hi Mr. Quant,

I saw the video you made about calculating the intrinsic value of a stock. I totally agree with using this spreadsheet for calculating this, as it provides a clear overview of whether you should invest in it or not.

I wanted to see what more you had to offer. So, I took a quick look at your site and saw your course: QuantProgram Prometheus Offer.

While the site looks clean, the course's product description could be improved by explaining how it will benefit the customer, increasing its authority and potential for faster sales.

So, because I like what you're doing in terms of teaching the importance of trading in stocks, I've made an improved product description for your course.

I've put the product description in this email.

I have some effective strategies that will help you with generating more sales for your course, like advertising on social media. Just shoot me a reply if you are interested!

Cheers,

Danylo

<FV>

I saw the video you made about calculating the intrinsic value of a stock. I totally agree with using this spreadsheet for calculating this, as it provides a clear overview of whether you should invest in it or not.