

Sandra L. Kohler, DNP, MSN, BSN, RN has been active in nursing since 1988 when she obtained her bachelor's degree from the University of Minnesota. She has been involved in nursing education since 1999 starting as a clinical expert in cardiac and critical care and advancing to obtaining her Master of Science in Nursing from the University of Phoenix in 2006 and her DNP from American Sentinel University in 2020. She moved into a full-time administrative role at Anoka- Ramsey Community College (ARCC) in 2015 as the Dean of Nursing and Allied Health. She has been involved in the holistic admissions process since 2018 with a focus on equity and student success. She has most recently spearheaded research into what are the predictors for student success in the nursing program.