

Valeria Matayoshi was born in Buenos Aires (1978). She graduated as an architect from the University of Buenos Aires (2004) and holds a postgraduate degree in Architecture and Technology (Di Tella University). She is a doctoral candidate at FADU-UBA, focusing her research on Japanese architecture and cultural hybridization. She has been teaching at the same institution since 2003 in the Design and History of Architecture programs. Currently, she teaches at the CBC in the subject of Design and in Urban Design and Architectural Design. She earned a scholarship from the Japanese International Cooperation Agency (JICA) to complete an internship at Tokyo studios: Atelier Bow-Wow and Shigeru Ban Architects (2007). She received the "Diploma of Merit from the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Japan" (2017) and won awards in furniture, interior, and urban design. Her articles include those in the magazine Summa +, a presentation at the First Meeting of Japanese Studies, and papers presented at research conferences at FADU, UBA.