

Chatraw, Jason- Bio

Jason Chatraw - Club Journalist

Jason has been involved with soccer for more than 40 years as either a player, coach, or journalist covering the sport, starting as a wee little lad in England. While living in the UK, he cut his soccer teeth by playing the sport at his school and trying to emulate his favorite Ipswich Town players.

Since that time, his love affair with soccer has included playing on a traveling team in South Carolina, coaching at various youth levels (including for Idaho Rush), covering the 1996 Olympic soccer tournament including gold medal matches, covering World Cup qualifying and MLS games, and spending way too much time watching EPL matches before anyone else in the house is awake.

As a sports writer and longtime freelance journalist, he's written for many major newspapers, news outlets, and magazines around the country, including The Associated Press, The New York Times, and The Sporting News.

Jason lives in Boise, Idaho with his wife and four children and is excited about giving the best stories from Rush Soccer a bigger audience.
