'FLICKER'

Please credit label as (Soothsayer)

'Flicker' is the debut single from Melbourne solo electronic producer, Juno Mamba (aka Vinci Andanar), out now through Soothsayer. And just like that the family grows, as Soothsayer welcome another profound talent to their stable.

"I vividly remember hearing Juno Mamba for the first time. I was in a rundown Airbnb in LA and had just woken up to an email containing a link and the words, "listen to this". I was instantly floored and decided right then and there that we needed to work with this artist in some way.

We've had the same response from everyone we've shown the music to. While Vinci's only at square one of his journey as an artist, he already creates worlds within worlds with music, something familiar but wholly new." – Chris Rigney, Soothsayer

'Flicker' is an intricate and cerebral track that was born from a trip to Japan where Vinci found himself immensely moved by the designs of local architect and 'King of Concrete', Tadao Ando.

"I remember feeling an unexplainable energy inside the buildings and losing all perspective of space and time. I felt a surprising sense of freedom, although visually, it's quite structured and carefully considered. I wanted to recreate that feeling and aesthetic within this song."

Where Taodo strives to move and captivate his viewer through a structured choreography of light in a physical space, Juno uses 'Flicker' to explore the sonic elements of light, darkness and the shadows in between. All seven minutes and six seconds of this epic are a lesson in mastered craftsmanship.

2019 marks the start of something huge for Juno Mamba, 'Flicker' is just the beginning... stay tuned for more!
