Originally from Finland, I completed my studies and gained extensive experience in the Finnish education system before moving abroad. For several years, I've taught English in bilingual and international schools across France and Geneva, working with diverse age groups. Most recently, I worked in a Montessori-based preschool, embracing child-centered learning.

Finnish language and literature have always been my passion—from crafting stories and poems as a child to writing song lyrics later on. I thrive on creativity, integrating arts, music, and drama into my teaching to make learning joyful and dynamic. My greatest professional strengths are my emotional intelligence and sensitivity, which help me connect deeply with students and foster a supportive, inspiring classroom.
