

Product Description # 1 (Product Name: Androgyny)

Androgyny. Organic skincare.

Soap of the Earth: cruelty-free and unisex. Smokey, white birch tree tantalises fatigued soles. Rejuvenating eucalyptus and citrus cleanse and reinforce the spirit. Perfect self-care for him, her and them.

Winter essential? Exfoliation. (Organic as much as practical).

We use organic colloidal oatmeal, cocoa and walnut powder to gently remove dead and dry skin.

Skin Benefits

Our hypoallergenic, slightly fancy blend of oils and butters hydrate efficiently. This is essentially because we create the right amount of richness.

So, moisturisers work in two different ways:

Humectants absorb and, in this way, trap moisture; however, they do not prevent natural moisture loss from the skin surface.

Occlusives, though, form a barrier over the skin, preventing it from losing moisture through natural evaporation.

Our organic Aussie moisturisers are:

Occlusive, forming that desired skin barrier. They also have humectant properties, allowing moisture to be absorbed.

Artificial free? Pile it on!

+ our soaps are for the greater good, locally sourced, crafted with ZERO palm oil and 100% vegan.

Does this mean we're totally cruelty free?

Yes- our staff are pretty damn happy working for us too.

Not only do we care for the environment, we care for staff.

Additional Info.

- Made with all-natural soy wax and a cotton wick for a clean burn (no soot!)
- Each complete with a stainless-steel lid for clean storage
- Hand pressed in Jersey with happy small business owner vibes.

Why is soy wax so special anyway?

Unlike the popular alternative, paraffin wax, which is made from petroleum and/or oil, soy is generated from the humble soy bean. All-natural and unrelated to bees, it's also less likely than other options, to trigger an allergic reaction.
