

Rj's Note App Privacy policy

The content of Rj's Note App ("the app") has been developed by Rutger Jan Colon (" the author"). This is a straight forward note app that is to be utilized as a tool to help user write down individual notes with description. This app does not collect any data. It does not require using internet, local data, permissions, or any technologies that would collect data or could be used to collect data.

The author may, in the future, modify the app. Should tha occur, the author will comply with its obligations under applicable privacy law, including this privacy policy as required.