At-Home Reading Program

Children need plenty of opportunities to read and be exposed to books in both English and your home language. Spending time reading with your child, both you reading to your child or your child reading to you, is important to your child's reading progress. This Take Home Reading Program will help you provide those opportunities for your child and help them grow as a reader.

Throughout the week, your child will bring home a book(s) to read. It should not take too long for your child to read the book to you, and they could even read it multiple times. They will gain confidence each time they read their book(s). Talk to your child about the book in your home language.

There may be a reading journal that your child brings home with their book(s). The reading journal provides space for you to write the date, title of the book, and comments. You can comment on if the book is too easy or too difficult or if your child enjoyed the book. This information you share in the comment section is very valuable. At the end of the week, the book(s) and journal will be collected and the teacher will read through your comments. These comments will help determine the book(s) for the upcoming week. You know your child best, so your insight is very important to the teacher.

Please know that the most important outcome of this Take Home Reading Program is for your child to love reading. If your child is struggling, frustrated, or even just too tired to read the book one night, it is okay to take a night off. Instead, you could read the book to your child or choose a different book to read to them. Reading to your child is just as important as them reading to you. There is nothing better than enjoying a story together, especially in your home language!
