

Email Test

SL: A Solution for you, (name)

Hello (name),

Your recent project you have finished caught my attention and I want to congratulate you on the great job you did by personalizing the design with your client's taste!

I see you post your work very often on Instagram and with your rich portfolio, I believe we could use your portfolio to a better advantage. Many of the top players I studied, use their portfolios to attract people to their webpage which makes their job easier to land clients.

By using the power of social media and the right content, you can advertise your portfolio and your professionalism in the interior design field of social media to get more clients into your business.

I would be happy to discuss the details of getting your business as many clients as possible.

-Ermal Lushi

Old One:

SL: Maximize Client Base

Hey (name),

Your recent reel where you shared your client's experience with your work is exciting, I believe you could use your portfolio to a better advantage!

Have you heard about Benjamin Johnston, a successful interior designer in Houston, Texas? He gets his clients through social media only by advertising two things: past projects and his rich field experience, which you have both of these elements!

If you use your portfolio to attract new people to your page, you can get new people interested in buying your service and you would make more money through social media than your competitors make by networking and partnerships.

If you are interested in getting more clients, email me back to discuss things further!

-Ermal Lushi

