

Rajoy calls for coalition

The idea proposed by Mariano Rajoy to form a government that is stable to reassure foreign investors and the other EU countries, it is quite plausible. The formula that has idealized to create what is not. It intends to form a coalition between the PP, PSOE and C's. -253 Escaños-, putting himself as a helper of the Prime Minister. I do not say that this may not work, in fact, works great in Germany, where the two major parties-the conservative bloc antagonists and social democratic govern together for some time. But the algorithm created by Rajoy lacks balance. The tripartite posed would consist of two right-wing parties and one-PP and C's- -PSOE- left. And, if so, the only way to achieve symmetry that Rajoy would cede the presidency to the secretary general of the Socialist Party: Pedro Sánchez. Otherwise this symbiosis not think it could be viable.
