A reputable dealer almost always has a surplus of every product in stock. As a contractor, you are able to purchase product at a competitive price for every unique installation. Architects know that each project is by nature different from the last one. Some manufacturers do not even require a minimum order to be placed to guarantee fulfillment.

Finally, a good turf manufacturer offers training for proper installation and maintenance of the turf application. A reputable dealer makes sure that there is an eight to twelve year warranty on the product. Installing a green with certification for LEED credit and fire safety is key to a successful contract.

Whenever you look for an artificial turf company to use for your next contracting job, be sure to do plenty of research to make sure you are getting the best deal for your money.

Contractors should buy products that come directly from the factory where they are manufactured. Factory direct products are better for a number of reasons. These products often have much more research and development built in, as factories are able to take the time to create the best product possible. Because the factory has actually created the product, you know that nobody before you had purchased the product at an extremely discounted rate and resold it to you at an inflated cost. Buying from the factory directly gives you the opportunity to receive the most competitive price possible so that you can do the best contract possible for your client.
