

Participants' Instruction Manual (Station 4)-

Mariam's Story

You will receive a short incomplete story about a person.

Your task:

- Read the story carefully
- Fill in the blanks based on what you think is going on
- Be honest, as there is no “correct” answer at this stage.
- After everyone is done:
 - We will briefly discuss what each person wrote
 - Then the full ending of the story will be revealed
- Important:
 - Do not discuss your answers until you are told to.
 - Write what you genuinely think, not what you think is “right”
- Story:
 - Mariam doesn't talk much in social settings. When others are joking or having conversations, she mostly listens and rarely jumps in. If someone asks her a question, she responds briefly and then goes quiet again. Some people have tried to include her, but after a while, they stopped trying because it felt one-sided. Some people describe her as _____.

You will reflect on your response after the real ending is shared.
