

Graduating this year? Want to get involved in research?

Dr. Casey Fowler is looking for students to join his lab for graduate studies starting in September 2026 (or Jan 2027). We are hoping to add ~3 new graduate students to the group next year...maybe you could be one of them!

What we study:

- How bacterial pathogens cause disease
- How bacterial pathogens evolve
- See fowlerlab.com for more details...website is a bit out of date

Who I'm looking for:

- Bright and eager students who want to learn, and to excel in research!
- I care less about research experience and which courses you've taken, and more about finding positive people who are motivated to succeed!
- GPA requirement (for the grad program) of 3.3.

Potentially interested? Please email me at cfowler@ualberta.ca. You don't need to commit to anything right now...but please reach out soon!
