

Dr. James L. Friedlander, M.D.

Dr. Friedlander is a board-certified allergist and immunologist and has been practicing in Omaha and surrounding communities since 2012. He attended medical school at Ross University School of Medicine and completed his Pediatric residency at Children's Mercy Hospital in Kansas City. Following his residency, Dr. Friedlander completed his fellowship in Allergy and Immunology at Boston Children's Hospital and Brigham and Women's Hospital, Harvard Medical School.

Dr. Friedlander is a member of the American Academy of Allergy, Asthma & Immunology, the American College of Allergy, Asthma & Immunology, and other national organizations. He serves on the executive board for the Consortium of Independent Immunology Clinics.

Dr. Friedlander lives in Omaha, Nebraska, with his wife Sophie and their two children.

In April of 2021, Dr. Friedlander began seeing patients in Sioux City, Iowa. It is an honor for Allergy, Asthma & Immunology Associates, P.C. to expand our Iowa clinic reach, and provide healthcare services to residents of Sioux City and surrounding communities.
