The introduction should contain (1) General academic or background anxiety. (2) Previous literature review (state of the art) as a basis for scientific novelty statements of the article to justify the novelty (there must be references to a journals published in the last 10 years. No "library review" is allowed as in research reports (thesis, thesis and dissertation), but it can be manifested in the form of a review of the previous literature. (3) Gap analysis, a statement of the gap or novelty statement or the unique difference of this research compared to previous studies, or in terms of the importance of the research or comparison of uniqueness with previous research. (4) Hypothesis (if any), (5) The approach to solve the problem or the method used in solving research problems (including analytical methods

(if any), (6) At the end of the introduction, the expected results or objectives of the article/research should be written.

RESEARCH METHOD

The method is optional for original research articles. This method is written in descriptive and should provide a statement regarding the methodology of the research. This method is as much as possible give an idea to the reader.

RESULT AND DISCUSSION

This section is the most important section of your article. The analysis or results of the research should clear and concise. The results should summarize (scientific) findings rather than providing data in great detail. Please highlight differences between your results or findings and the previous publications by other researchers.

For direct citation when it is more than four lines you need to write it in 10 pt with single space:

“The right to life, the right to not to be tortured, the right to freedom of the individual, to freedom of thought and conscience, the right not to be enslaved, the right to be acknowledged as an individual before the law, and the right not to be prosecuted retroactively under the law are human rights that cannot be diminished under any circumstances whatsoever.”

CONCLUSION

Conclusion contains a description that should answer the problem(s) raised and answer the objectives of research. Provide a clear and concise conclusion. Do not repeat the Abstract or simply describe the results of the research. Give a clear explanation regarding the possible application and/or suggestions related to the research findings.

REFERENCES

References at the end of the manuscript should be written in APA (American Psychological Association) Citation Style. All works that cited in the text should be stated on the References and vice versa.
