

Protocol 1

We have combined sampling from tuned AF3 like architecture on subset of most relevant to the train SARS and MERS data, together with sampling using template-based docking ClusPro LigTBM, using multiple substructure matches of the target ligands and known templates following by physics based sampling and minimization and as alternative torsional diffusion. All generated poses were filtered by density based filter and confidence score