Challenge: Learn from Other Students

For this challenge, use the Quotes from Students in the Padlet to explore and think about growth mindset in new ways: [Growth Mindset Padlet]. You will also see this in the sidebar of the Canvas course, where it says Growth/Feedback.

As you browse through the Padlet, look for quotes that show you something new, something that surprises you, some perspective on growth mindset that is not already part of your own approach. Find at least two quotes (or more!) and then use those as prompts to write a blog post where you think about how you can apply the insights of these other students to your own growth — in school, at work, in life in general.

Then, find an image or make a meme to go with your post, something that expresses the insight you gained from your exploration of other students' thoughts about growth mindset.

Your blog post: Make sure to include the quotes you found in your blog post, along with your own thoughts as inspired by those quotes from other students, plus the image.

(And yes, Padlets are cool! You can learn more about Padlets with this [Tech Tip].)
