

Introduction

Order Up! is a Multi-Fandom Fast Food zine. This zine will be released in a free, digital, and all-accepted* format. Join us as we feature characters of various fandoms experiencing the joy of working in fast food (and other retail style jobs)!

Each Contributor will be able to explore the different franchises and characters in this realm of world renowned fast food restaurants.

This zine will only be SFW, and no NSFW content will be permitted.

What is a zine project?

A zine is an anthology of works by various creators based on a central theme or topic.

What is the focus of this zine?

Order Up! is a Multi-Fandom fast food fanzine project. It will feature characters across various fandoms experiencing the joys (and traumas) of working in fast food!

Do I need to have previous zine experience to apply?

Nope! Any and all fans of every skill level are highly encouraged to apply! This zine will be accepting all contributors who are interested in participating.

Will [Fandom Name] be present in the final product?

There is a good chance it may be! After pitches have been approved, all fandoms represented in the zine will be listed in this info doc and in the zine itself upon release!

Can I use franchises other than fast food?

Definitely! We are excited to see your creativity flourish in any customer service AU, which may include non-fast food jobs.

Will this be a for-profit or for-charity project?

Order Up! is a completely free and digital fanzine project.

What types of contributors will you be taking?

We will be featuring any type of creator interested in participating! This includes artists, writers, cosplayers, chefs, musicians, and more — and everyone is accepted.

Have any more questions not answered here? Please message us on our ask box!
