

Action Planning for Success. How do the Evidence of Equity questions impact your actions?

By the end of the section you will have:

- ☐ Identified the actions your school will engage in to address the needs of your root cause and support in meeting the identified goals.
- ☐ Identified how each action is inclusive and anti racist, as well as the intended outcome of the action.
- ☐ Outlined how each action will be monitored, who will be leading the implementation of the action and what about the school's operations will shift because of the action.

Review the steps below for developing an action plan. Have questions? Watch this brief QUICK GUIDE MODULE before you begin!

1. Review your root cause(s) and how racism shows up to determine how you will address the problem(s) you identified. See the following sample summary.
2. Synthesize your root cause analysis to identify how you will systemically address the problem(s).
3. Create a plan to address the problem that lists specific actions the school will be accountable for. Be sure to include how families will be involved throughout the process.

Systemic Response: Addressing the Problem Of Our Root Cause(s):

How will you address the problem(s) you defined in your RCA process:

- 57% of our Hispanic & 61% of our African American/Black students are not meeting standard in reading Our curriculum study process has relied heavily on a curriculum that does not actively engage our students. Teachers are having difficulty making changes to the curriculum to create opportunities for engagement for our students, while still teaching the grade level standards.
- The number of students who have an assigned score of 3 or better is decreasing. Our Kids making the connections we want them to make that will help them retain the info they need. Teachers need time to plan for the standard, differentiation, scaffolding up, identifying lessons to utilize to address concerns of time. (Structure to address how we utilize planning.
- Students need multiple and varied engaging opportunities for learning so that they enjoy coming to school. Currently 26% of our 2-5 students disagree with enjoying coming to school. The expectation for grade completion and alignment overshadows discussion around student learning.
- Data shows that there is a disconnect in perceived relationships and belonging between students and staff. Staff are not yet providing adequate structures and tools for students to engage with each other, with the staff, and with challenging curricula.
