

MSC Microeconomics I
University of Haifa
Department of Economics

Lecturer: Todd Kaplan

todd@econ.haifa.ac.il

TA: Dan Lederman

dan.lederman@gmail.com

Lectures and tutorials

7065 Rabin Building

Location TBA

824-9589

Fall 2021

See Moodle page

Syllabus

Goals:

1. To build a solid foundation of microeconomics.
2. To understand where microeconomic analysis could be useful.

Structure:

- There will be three hours of lecture.
- Following this will be one hour of tutorial.

Rules and Expectations:

- You are expected to attend the lectures and tutorials. If these are by zoom, you are expected to do so with your cameras on. Failure to do so will result in a lowering of your grade (via the homeworks).
- You are expected to review your lecture notes at the end of each week.
- You are expected to turn in a homework assignment from each previous week
- Homework can be worked on together, but must be written up separately.
- Each one will be worth 2 points. The TA will take the 10 best.
- You will not be allowed to sit for the exam if you have not turned in at least 8 assignments on time scoring at least 1 point on each one. Late homework will be awarded at most 1 point.
- There will be a final exam worth the remaining 80% of the final mark.

Grade:

20% homework and 80% final exam (of which 10% of the exam is magen).

Books:

The main text for the course is Jehle and Reny, Advanced Microeconomic Theory, Second Edition, Addison Wesley Longman (2001), known as JR. Also, I will be borrowing heavily from Andreu Mas-Colell, Michael D. Whinston and Jerry R. Green, Microeconomic Theory (Oxford University Press, 1995), also known as MWG. An alternative text that is worth looking at is Hal Varian, Microeconomic Analysis. For Game Theory, see Maschler, Solan, Zamir, Cambridge U. Press, 2013 or Open University (for Hebrew).

Topics:

Consumer Theory JR1, MWG1,2,3

Individual Decisions under Uncertainty; JR2.4, MWG6

Introduction to Game Theory: Noncooperative and Cooperative. JR7, MWG7,8

Auctions: JR9, MWG23

Theory of the Firm JR3, MWG5 (Time permitting)

Webpage and Contact:

- I will put up materials on Moodle.
- I also have office hours on Sunday 11-12. Please email me to let me know if you will be there or if you want to arrange a meeting by zoom.
- You can also email me questions: I'll try my best to answer most emails, but sometimes I may miss one. If I don't respond in a couple of days, try again.