

GoonicornS

The complete body of informations

Creation and Owning Rules

1. You may not create your own EXCEPT

...Except with permission, a MYO slot, or under certain circumstances.

How can you get the permission or possibility to make your own goonicorn?
Permission can be given by me or authorized persons, can be earned under certain circumstances, or is given automatically if you meet certain requirements, have received, won or purchased a MYO slot.

MYO slots will be sold by me, sometimes there also will be the chance to win some.

2. Under ANY circumstances: If you create a new goonicorn you must inform me and show it to me for approval and so that it gets a number.

Also any Goonicorn will be added to the Masterlist

3. A goonicorn without number isn't valid

It may also not be used for official merging or special events. Don't buy or trade for GoonicornS without a official number given by me or GoonicornS that aren't added to the Masterlists, they are not valid!

4. You may own as many GoonicornS as you want

Whether you actively use it or not and for what doesn't matter, as soon as you own one and don't break any rules, you can keep it as long as you want.

5. If you give away, sell or trade your Goonicorn you have to inform me about who will be the new owner

I keep a list of every Goonicorn that is made and who owns it to keep track of traits, breeding cooldowns etc.

6. You can use your MYO-Slots etc. with other artists, except stated otherwise

7. You don't have to use the official base but the official refsheets of your goonicorn needs a hand-drawn number from me or entitled staff

It may not be deleted!

Species and General Rules

1. Don't claim the species as your own

2. Don't use goonicorns to spread hateful messages, racism, sexism, etc.

3. Don't add non-canon traits by yourself

4. Keep in mind Hybrids aren't fertile and can't be used for merging

5. Follow creation and owning rules

6. Keep in mind that your goonicorn can be taken away or can get declared for not valid, if you break the rules, whether or not you paid for them or that you may get excluded from further buying/adopting

Of course, none of your Goonicorns will be taken away from you without very good reason, if you haven't done anything wrong we will usually try to find a better solution, but if you just make Goonicorns without permission, or you use them for illegal stuff etc. we might have to take them away from you

By buying/adopting/owning a goonicorn you automatically agree to our terms of service!

General Species Informations

Goonicornns

What are Goonicorns?

In short: Goonicorns are unicorn-like creatures that have some parts made of goo. Some parts are always made of goo, like the mane and the inner flesh, some can be made of goo, but don't have to be.

They have Charms that swim in the goonicorn's slime. They are mostly peace-loving and can use magic related to their horn.

Can have different kinds of horns

or any color

inner flesh is goo

Goonicorns come in many different forms. They can be born of any gender, tall or short, fat or thin, muscular or delicate. Like different breeds of horses, they can have different snouts, from cute and nudge-like ones like Arabs have, to round, roman noses. They come with many different traits, like different ears and horns, some normal and classic, some more imaginative. Some traits are rarer than others, and some Goonicorns have very special parts that others don't have, like fins or wings. Every Goonicorn is a bit different, but they all have one thing in common:

They're kind of gooey.

Other parts, like hooves can be made of goo too.

Tail and mane are always made of goo and can have many different forms and styles. It can regrow when cut off.

They are born with solid charms inside their goo.

One characteristic that connects all Goonicorns is the goo.

It comes in all shapes, from very transparent to almost solid, can be wetter like slime or thicker like tar, and it comes in all colors, though mostly in one color.

It can also have other characteristics such as temperature fluctuations. Their flesh is also made of goo, but not parts like bones and organs.

What all pureblood Goonicorns have in common is that their mane and tail are always made of goo. When Goonicorns are born or emerge (read more about emerging in another topic) they usually still have little goo, correspondingly shorter hair and tails.

The older a Goonicorn gets, the more goo it usually has, but it is possible to cut off goo for use, style or functional reasons.

Depending on the mass, it usually grows back over weeks to months.

What are Goonicorns? In short: Goonicorns are unicorn-like, anthropomorphic creatures that have some parts made of goo.

Some parts are always made of goo, like the mane and the inner flesh, some can be made of goo, but don't have to be. They have Charms that swim in the goonicorn's slime. They are mostly peace-loving and can use magic related to their horns.

Goonicorn come in many different forms. They can be born of any gender, tall or short, chubby or thin, muscular or delicate. Like different breeds of horses, they can have different snouts, from cute and nudge-like ones like Arabs have, to round, roman noses. They come with many different traits, like different ears and horns, some normal and classic, some more imaginative. Some traits are rarer than others, and some Goonicorns have very special parts that others don't have, like fins or wings. Every Goonicorn is a bit different, but they all have one thing in common: They're kind of gooey.

The Goo and about goo parts:

What connects every goonicorn is their goo.

The goo can regrow when cut off. Depending on the amount it usually does in a time span of weeks to months. It grows a lot quicker than hair though.

The goo comes in all shapes, from very transparent to almost solid, can be wet like slime or thicker like tar, and it comes in all colors, though mostly it has one color everywhere.

Since the inner flesh is made of goo the blood usually has the same color as the goo.

It can also have other characteristics such as temperature fluctuations and can be very cold to boiling hot, depending on the magic of the goonicorn.

Even though the inner flesh is made of goo, bones and organs are not, except with goo fairies.

Bones are made of the same material as the charms.

Just as only goonicorns with a horn made from goo can control their goo, only they can feel touch on it and in it. The sensitivity depends entirely on the Goonicorn itself and has something to do with the strength of the magic.

What all pureblood Goonicorns have in common is that their mane and tail are always made of goo. When Goonicorns are born or emerge they usually still have little goo, correspondingly shorter hair and tails and other traits that are made of goo (for example winged goonicorns or goonicorn-mermaids have smaller wings and tails when born).

The older a Goonicorn gets, the more goo it usually has, but it is possible to cut off goo for use, style or functional reasons. Depending on the mass, it usually grows back over weeks to months.

In most cases, the strength of the magic is related to the amount of goo.

The more goo a Goonicorn can usually produce, the stronger it is, but shortening the mane or tail does not change the amount of magic. It just depends on the potential of being able to have so much goo, not how much you ultimately show.

Other parts than the mane can also be made of goo, among other things:

Nails, Hooves, ear inners, horns, tongues, patches or whole body parts but It's not limited to that.

The horn:

A thing that also every goonicorn, except for a few unfortunate individuals, has, is a horn.

A Goonicorn needs Its horn to work magic and/or to control its goo.

Even if a Goonicorn needs its horn to be able to work magic in general, this magic does not have to come from the tip of the horn. It can also be conjured with the hands, eyes, or out of nowhere, although it is easier for beginners or children to channel it through a specific point such as the horn or finger.

Goonicorns can either have a horn made from goo or one made from a keratin-like substance.

If it is made of goo, Goonicorns can only control and produce goo with it.

If it is made of keratin, they can cast normal magic, but they can no longer control or feel their goo and it can be destroyed more easily.

Oftentimes, the magic of Goonicorns using slime-magic takes the form of an element or thing that matches their character ... like flames of slime for a passionate Goonicorn, or plants, for a peace-loving Goonicorn.

Some talented Goonicorns are also able to create whole figures from slime for a certain time, such as animals, these figures aren't living though and don't have a mind of their own.

The charms:

Another thing that all Goonicorns share is that everyone has charms which float inside their goo. Goonicorns are born with this and it consists of a keratin-like substance like the horn of some Goonicorns or their bones.

How many different ones a Goonicorn has is individually, a Goonicorn can have very many or just one or two in its slime, both related to different shapes of charms as well as to the amount.

The charms can have different shapes. How many different shaped charms a goonicorn has is linked to a certain rarity, how often a charm occurs in the goo not.

It is normal for a Goonicorn to have one to three different shapes, such as a moon and a star.

Having more shapes, ergo, a moon, a star, a sun, a shooting star and a pearl, for example, is much rarer.

Whether a Goonicorn has twenty stars and moons, or only two, is not linked to any rarity, as it still are two shapes that trait would be common.

A goonicorn could have a million small strawberries, as long as it only has strawberry-shaped charms that still would be uncommon.

Stuff like half of a lemon or lemon-slices count as a different shape than a whole lemon.

Color does not count as a different shape, a goonicorn can have an apple-formed shape and the apples can be red, green, yellow etc. It still would be one charm.

Only Goo-Fairies can have living charms, such as moving animals, flowers or real fruits/food.

Some say that the charm tells something about the character of a Goonicorn, some say it tells something about the fate, destiny or talents of a Goonicorn and some say that it has something to do with where the Goonicorn comes from, but which or whether a theory of it is true is not known, only that the charms do not necessarily have to be inherited.

Culture/Living

Not much is known about the culture of Goonicorns. Most of them lived in exclusive communities and small villages in nature, far away from larger cities or other societies. They had a good bond with plants and animals and were self-sufficient, who, with their many talents and individuals, lived in harmony with their surroundings. Most were peaceful and happy where they were, but not every Goonicorn aspires to a life in one of the villages. Nowadays there are more and more goonies who are drawn to other groups or cities, or who move out in search of adventure. Many villages are getting smaller and not every Goonicorn is looking for a life in harmony with nature.

If you own a goonicorn you can freely use it in all kind of settings or universes.

Goo-Fairies

A special kind of goonicorns are the goo-fairies.

They are the direct ancestors of all Goonicorns, very rare and have the greatest potential for magic.

Pure goo fairies always have fairy ears, a curled horn and goo-fairywings.

They very often have very long hair that grows back quickly. They have the power to form new, independent creatures with their slime, with which they live together, but this permanently consumes part of their slime.

Their insides are made entirely of slime.

In some places they are worshiped like Deities and they are also very fertile and can also help other Goonicorns to have children successfully. Only the hybrids between pure goo-fairies and other beings are capable of reproduction. Mighty Goo fairies have the power to change things about other goonicorns.

All Traits List and Rarity

Complete List of Traits and their rarity

Raritys

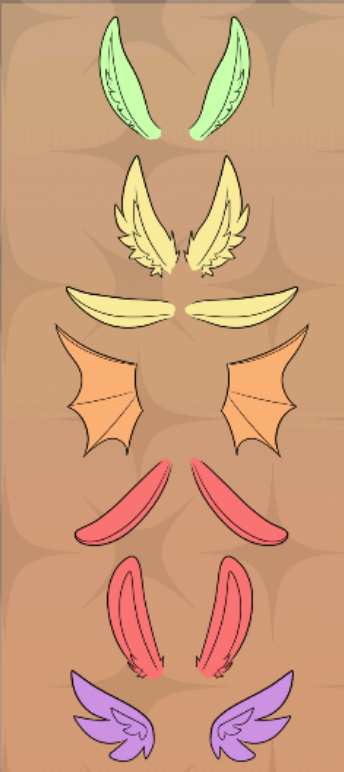

Common

Uncommon

Rare

Very Rare

Legendary

They can have normal fingernails or 'hoove'-like nails

Goo

Goo can have any transparency, from almost transparent to opaque

One solid color

Color Fade

Two colors

Charms

Usually any Pony has charms in their goo. They can have any form, color and size. There is no limits on how many charms a pony has, only how many different charms a pony has is limited.

1

2

+3

+5

None

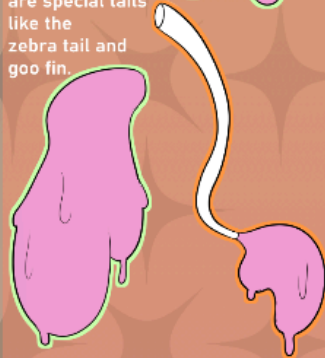

Special:
Living Charms

Every Pony has goo-hair and a goo-tail.

Hair and Tail can have any form and size. When cut of they regrow after some time.

The only exceptions are special tails like the zebra tail and goo fin.

Special Goo-Parts (that usually aren't goo)

Some parts can be made of goo, that usually aren't, usually this are special traits. Among other things this includes:

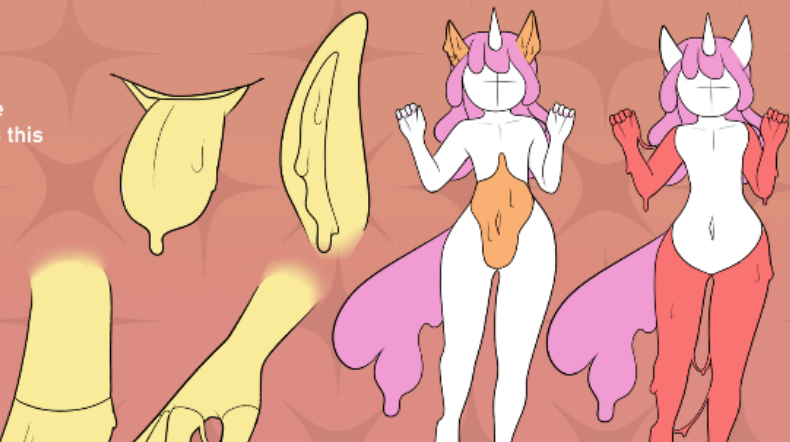

Goo Tongue

Goo Inner ears

Goo hooves and nails

Patches or small parts of body made of goo

Goo limbs, large bodyparts being goo

Number of Existing Goonicorns: 19
 Number of Existing Hybrids: 1

REMINDER FOR MYSELF: Add Traits for 19 + 20

Ears
Type	Rarity	Existing
Regular	common	5
Donkey	uncommon	3
Down	uncommon	2
Fin	rare
Floppy	very Rare	1
Zebra	very Rare	1
Fairy	legendary	1

Horns
Type	Rarity	Existing
Regular	common	3

Straight	common	2
Nub	uncommon	2
Thick	uncommon	2
Long	uncommon	2
Caterpillar	rare
Crescent	rare
no horn	very rare
Double horns	very rare
Curled	legendary	1
Small curved	legendary	1

Number of different Charms
Type	Rarity	Existing
1	uncommon	1
2	common	7
3-4	uncommon	4
+5	rare
No charm	very Rare
Living Charms	legendary	1

Goo
Type	Rarity	Existing
1 Color	common	6
Color Fade	uncommon	6
Two Colors	rare	1

Special Goo Parts and Special Parts
Type	Rarity	Existing
Zebra Tail	rare	1
Goo Tongue	uncommon	2
Goo Inner Ears	uncommon	1
Goo Hooves	uncommon	2
Goo Nails	uncommon	1
Sharp Canines	uncommon	1
Goo Patches	rare	2
Goo Limbs	very rare
Large Goo Patches	very rare
Goo Mermaid-Tail	rare
Goo webbed skin	rare
Goo angel/feathered wings	rare	1
extra goo limbs	very rare
goo tentacles	very rare
goo bat/dragon wings	very rare	1
goo fairy wings	legendary	1

--	--	--

Custom Goo Parts Except Horns and Ears
Type	Rarity	Existing
goo chibi wings	legendary	1

Breeding/Emerging Information

SecondGen Goonicorns - Breeding, or "Emerging"

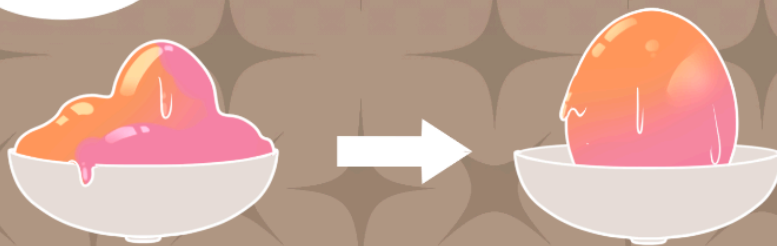

Of course, or less of course, some people ask themselves: Where do new Goonicorns come from and how do you get your hands on SecondGen Goonicorns, because after all it would be great to have another Goonicorn that has the super cool coat colors of one and the super rare traits from the other one, right?

In theory there are two ways in which a new Goonicorn can emerge and in principle both are very similar, but let's start with the more complicated one ... which is not that complicated at all.

It doesn't really take much to create a new Goonicorn. Only two goonicorns have to cut off a considerable part of their goos and put it together and sooner or later and under the influence of warmth both together result in a goo-egg, from which a new goonicorn emerges at some point.

This can be done any number of times once that large amount of goo has grown back, all it takes is two Goonicorns ... and the best part is that gender doesn't matter!

So if you want a SecondGen Goonicorn yourself, you only need two Goonicorns (or one and someone who makes theirs available), a breeding permit and an artist who designs the new Goonicorn for you based on the parents!

Also keep in mind that the Goonicorns that are used for this have a one-month cooldown before they can give goo for a new egg

The other variant is very similar, just a little more natural, because also if two Goonicorns sleep together, one of them can get pregnant.

Here, too, gender does not matter, because in principle the same thing happens as with the emerging, the only difference is that the goo egg forms in the belly of one of the Goonicorns and the chances of success are not that high, but this doesn't stop most couples of goonicorns from trying it that way.

If you are further interested in merging and getting a SecondGen Goonicorn, please read the rules and detailed requirements linked below!

Hybrids

Goonicorn can reproduce with any other breed and children can be born from intercross relationships as well.

Often these children have aspects from both parents, such as paws and goo, or regular hair, but like most hybrids they are never fertile themselves and can't be used for further emerging

Like any other species, Goonicorns reproduce.

This can happen naturally, or through merging.

Merging works very simply by two Goonicorns cutting off part of their goos (mostly from the mane or tail) and merging it with someone else's. When exposed to heat, it then forms an egg.

Even if the egg looks like completely made of goo to the outside, it is not transparent and has a thin layer of keratin under the top goo layer that hides the goonicorn inside.

As soon as the egg has formed, it theoretically does not need any further heat, even if it is said that this is better for the baby and that the incubation time is shortened as a result.

On average, Goonicorns stay in their eggs for between one and three months.

Goonicorns second generation are called SecondGen Goonicorns.

Hybrids can only be born. They can have traits from both Goonicorns and their parents species, including normal hair or paws and so on, but they are not reproductive.

Breeding/Merging Rules

1. You may not create your own EXCEPT

...Except with permission, a MYO slot, or under certain circumstances.

You probably already read this before. Same rules as for creating new goonicorns

2. You need to own both parents or need the Parents' owners permission to create an egg

3. A Goonicorn can only function as a parent once a month

4. Usually Eggs or pregnancies only contain one SecondGen Goonicorn

5. You can use your Merging- or MYO-slots with other artists

6. If you have a Merging- or MYO-slot for breeding and use it with another artist, you still have to let me know about who the parents are

7. The SecondGen Goonicorn has to be shown to me for confirmation and a number

8. A SecondGen design must be based on the parents' designs.

The designs always should be Wing-Its Colors, Markings and other heritable features have to somewhat be based upon the parents design.

It can usually only inherit traits from parents.

Mutations (i.e. new custom parts) count as legendary as well as the custom parts themselves.

Quick Merging Guide

What do you need?

1. A merging permission/MYO-Slot/etc + 2 Goonicorns that either belong to you or that you have the permission to use

2. An designer/artist

This can either be me or any designer/artist you choose, keep in mind the rules for that though!

3. Patience

After giving the designer/artist all informations all you have to do is waiting for the designer/artist to finish your SecondGen and, in case the designer is not me, for me to confirm It and give It a number!

Fast and easy!

There are also diverse Items/boosts you can get so don't miss that out c:

Quick Shop overview

FA Shop Page

Prices may vary in the future!

A new friend - 25$

Custom Slot with traits from common to rare

Loved companion - 35$

Custom Slot with traits from common to very rare

Special Encounter - 50$

Custom Slot with at least 1 Custom trait

Homemade - 13$

MYO Slot with traits from common to rare

Own specialty - 23$

MYO Slot with traits from common to very rare

Glow Up - 5$

Let's you change one trait to any other trait (except legendary)

Gender Magic - 5$

Let's you change the gender of your goonicorn

Heating lamp -35$

1 Merging Slot

Incubator - 20$

1 Merging permission

Fairy Blessing - 15$

Double the fun, makes sure your egg contains two goonicorns