

(Please make a copy of this document and link it in your sheet under the Developments and Patch Notes section!)

Your copy is to be updated between rounds to reflect any changes that have occurred to your character the previous round. These changes are divided into two sections:

Developments: This section is for narrative changes that your character has gone through. Include whatever you think is relevant for judges and other players to know (this is especially helpful for judges when doing writeups).

What happened to them the previous round? Did anything happen to them during any major or mini-events? Were there any notable developments during RPs? Include them here!

There are two important things to note when it comes to developments:

- 1) Because this is a Google doc you have the space to be creative. If you want this to be a journal, a blog, or anything like that, go ahead! Just keep in mind that it would help judges to also have a tl;dr organized by round. Don't feel any pressure to go wild either, a bullet list is fine. It's up to you!
- 2) However, just because you have included information on this sheet does not mean it will be canon within the Reddit writeups. Events will generally be considered canon and may be integrated into writeups when deemed appropriate, but mini-events and roleplays are not canon by default. If you want developments from roleplays to make it into writeups, please take initiative and ask us! Judges will work with you, but we reserve the final decision on what is and is not in our writeups.
