Presenter

Kristin Henness

Kristin Henness is a learning and development leader with 26 years of experience in education, shaped by her work as a district administrator, building principal, and classroom teacher. She specializes in turning complex organizational needs into clear, practical learning strategies that strengthen performance and build long-term capability. Known for her strategic facilitation and evidence-based approach, Kristin has led large-scale professional learning for 500+ educators, redesigned coaching systems that cut new-teacher turnover by 50%, and built scalable learning infrastructures across diverse teams. Organizations trust Kristin for her clarity, collaboration, and ability to deliver high-impact learning experiences that drive measurable improvement.
