

Forensics week 4

Week-4

First off, I hope you all understand that Mr. Crafton is working hard but this is all new to me and I am going to struggle a bit with all this. Saying that I hope that you can learn about Forensics and get some knowledge though this process. We are no longer in a soft start mode. Grades do matter at this point in time. For this week (4) we will be looking more at Fingerprinting. It looked like you all did really well with the lead prints but as we move into ink printing it is much more difficult so watch the video links that I sent you again when we get there and make sure you get your family involved in this process. It can be a lot of fun.

Directions

1. Login to Google Classroom.
2. View the fingerprinting worksheet and complete the assignments and any others that you have not completed at this time.
3. I have put on 2 different links to "How to make stamp pad ink" the things you will need are; Liquid starch (I am trying to figure out how to make liquid starch from dry starch) , food Dye, some cloth or napkins, and a plastic bowl of some type.
4. Have fun posting what you get finished.
5. Remember there are due dates listed.
