

Thursday's Thoughts
Thursday, November 5, 2020

Good evening Highland High School families, this is Mr. Zack and here are your Thursday's Thoughts for November 5, 2020. There are 4 items of interest to follow. If you miss any part of the message, visit the Highland High School webpage on our Live Feed where there is a link to view in its entirety as well as a link emailed to your primary email account.

Special Additional item: Calumet College of Saint Joseph in Whiting will be hosting an open Admissions and Information Zoom Session on Tuesday, November 10th at 3:30 pm.

In lieu of a college visit, feel free to join in this virtual conversation designed to cover information about CCSJ, their academic programs, admissions requirements, and scholarship opportunities!

Students and parents are welcome to join and ask questions. CCSJ is close to home and has helped many Highland High School graduates reach their goals! Our admissions representative is friendly and ready to help anyone who would like to see if CCSJ is a good fit for your student after graduation!

Mark your calendar for November 10 at 3:30 pm and follow this link to join the Zoom meeting!

2. This week, select seniors will be practicing and participating in the ISTEP+ graduation qualifying exam. Only those who have not already passed both sections of the ISTEP+ or achieved a passing score on the ASVAB will be invited to take this assessment. Practice test dates were today or Friday, November 6th for our virtual learners. Senior students should check their email to find out which day and time they will need to participate with the practice test.

The ISTEP+ test window opens on Monday, November 9th and we will begin testing on that day. Students have been notified individually what day, time, and location for the test(s) they have to take.

Remember, this is a state mandated test and one of the requirements for graduation, it is imperative that students make their best effort to take and pass the test at each available opportunity.
