Subject: Personal Recent Sighting??? (fwd)

Well.. I have never been in this particular area before, but it was suggested that perhaps I should place a post here.

Friday am, at 0045, 27 Jan, 1995 I was flying my aircraft from Orlando, FL to Sarasota, FL. I had one passenger in the back asleep, and on riding the right seat awake. I was approx 30 nauticle miles out of Sarasota, inbound on the 220 radial.. I was at 3000' the night was clear, no clouds, unlimited visability. My ADF (low Freq) radio began "pulsing" the squelch circuit.. instead of the ordinary "rushing" sound, it began a pulsing "quieting" routine. I didn;t pay too much attention to it. Shortly after that, my aircraft experienced a buffeting. I immediately looked down at the engine gauges on the instrument panel. As soon as I looked down, the cockpit was brilliantly lit up with a greenish/white light. I looked up, and out of my 11 o'clock I saw an orangish/red object, roundish, but longer than it was wide, maybe 1/4 mile away, and appeared about the size of a semi trailer. Appx. 50' in length. This object had twin trails, merging into one distinct trail extending about 1/2 mile behind the object at all times. The object crossed my flight path, descending rapidly. My 1st impression was the flaiming fuselage of an airplane crashing into Sarasota.... This object leveled out perfectly without an arc... Iust went from a rapid descent to straight and level!!! It leveled off before reaching the city limits, proceeded across Sarasota, out over Sarasota Bay and then just was gone! Like it just shut itself off!! I immediately radioed Tampa Approach Control and reported what I had seen.. I tracked the object for about 5 seconds or so. Tampa Approach had NOTHING on Radar.. NOTHING! Something THAT big and they didn't even see it.. I was a bit shaken, even did a circle out over the bay wondering if I would spot anything.. My awake passenger saw the flash as it went by us.. a few expletives were stated at the time.. it was close!! Anyhow.. I telephone Tampa Approach via telephone later that day, got the Supervisor.. he helped me place the time at 12:45am.. I am currently attempting to secure a copy of the Air Traffic Control tapes from that morning. I was asked by the Supervisor to contact MUFON, which I did.. have received telephone calls from the State Director, and was interviewed this afternoon. That's basically where I got the idea to bring it to the Internet.. and to check out this Newsgroup. Also am hoping maybe someone else may have seen or talked to someone who saw something Early Friday morning..

I am NOT saying I saw a spacecraft, or anything like that.. I am saying, after being in the Military, and having an extensive background with weapons and the like, I have NEVER, EVER seen anything even close to that! And it was not "Falling" as it instantly changed attitude from descent to straight and level.. this object was on a due East to West corse... It was NOT an aircraft, rocket, meteor, etc.. It "flew" like nothing I have seen, and defied the natural rules of flight and aerodynamics that I, or any other pilot know of! Think what you will.. I know I have never seen anything remotely close to this.. I will continue to say "I have no idea what that was!" I do know that it affected my aircraft BEFORE it passed in front of me.. and when it did pass in front of my aircraft, it produced NO WAKE TURBULENCE??!!! That bothered me even more, after I thought about it..

Well.. so you know.. that's about it for me.. If anyone in the area honestly saw, or knows of someone else who saw something that morning, I would greatly appreciate a response here..

Thanks..

The person who made this sighting report, and also the person to whom any responses should go, is:

Last night I saw an unusual but explainable bright light in the sky. About 10:45 PM, I was returning to my home from walking my dog when I noticed a noctilucent cloud (one which is illuminated by sunlight after dark because of its extreme altitude). The cloud was not unusual but was interesting to look at. After a few minutes, a pin point of yellow light in the middle of the cloud became brighter and brighter until it was about half as bright as our street lights which are the same yellow color. I watched the light for 30 sec. to 60 sec. until it dimmed the same as it had brightened. Then I watched the cloud until the sun finally set on it.

I would have dismissed this light as just the head light of an airplane which turned toward me for 30-60 sec. and then away. Even the unusual yellow color could have been from the atmosphere which causes our colored sunsets, setting moon, planets and stars.

However, tonight, I learned from the Honolulu news that yellow/ orange lights had been observed in the skys over windward (east) Oahu for the last week. Many lights together were observed by many different people at different times and different locations. All descriptions were of yellow lights. Those who live on windward Oahu are accustomed to seeing the many aircraft (airliners and military) and I believe they would not have reported this unless it was very unusual.

The news report included an official statment by agents of Mufon that this was a hoax employing (bag & candle) hot air baloons. I can honestly tell you that what I saw was no hot air balloon. It looked more like the head light of a jumbo jet. It would seem to be quite a coincidence that anomalous yellow lights are being seen to the east of Oahu and to the west of Hawaii (200 miles apart) at the same time and are not caused by the same phenomenon. It would also seem unlikely that the Oahu sightings were all airplanes flying directly at the observers simultaneously.

If Mufon is serious about their explanation, then I would seriously question their objectivity. Maybe Mufon has an agenda for spreading mis/dis-information? Maybe they just jumped to a hasty and incorrect conclusion.

If anybody in the islands has had similar sightings, please post your story or e-mail me about it. I am really anxious to hear an explanation which fits ALL the sightings.

The U.K.magazine Flying Saucer Review usually contains some strange articles and the editor does have some crazy ideas about worldwide conspiracies , angels etc. etc. Occasionally though an interesting article appears and this was the case in the winter '94 issue. Although this is not a personal sighting I believe this post is justified here as it could be (if true) a very significant report. The writer, Barry Chamish is, allegedly, a distinguished writer, having contributed to The Boston Globe, Sunday Telegraph and New Statesman amongst others. In the FSR article he states that 1993 saw a UFO flap in Israel and goes on to give details of several sightings. A craft is said to have landed near Kadima on March 30th 1993. The next day it returned and metal shards were retrieved. Chamish says these were analysed by Tel Aviv University and found to be of unknown origin. A Dr. Fuhner, director of the biochemical department of the State of Israel Institute For Geology analysed a shard.

He reported "On Thursday 27/5/93 we received a sample weighing 2.7 grams and submitted it for analysis. After putting it through two separate tests we have found the material to be composed of elemental silicon, a substance not found on this planet". Apparently a number of people descended on Kadima and retrieved samples of this before the authorities could react. Thus, the article claims, there are people in Israel who have in their possession samples of material which "were not manufactured by any process known."

This region of Israel has, for some reason, received a large number of UFO visitors according to Chamish. So there it is, make of it what you will!

The following report is from a new UFONet file and as I can't recall it having appeared on ParaNet, it is appended for your enjoyment. :)

FIVE WITNESSES OBSERVE STRANGE OBJECT

The following is my report of an investigation conducted by Norma J. Croda of Indianapolis.

Friday, September 9, 1994, 8:30pm. Racoon Lake, Parke County, IN (to the left of Indianapolis). Five witnesses observed a strange "parent object" approximately 8 miles west of Rt.231 on Rt.36.

Eyelyn Easson received a call from Steve Buchanan telling her that beach-ball sized lime green balls of light had come out of the woods over near his employer's house (Dave) at about 8:30 PM.

Mrs. Easson: "Steve and Linda had seen the same lights on February 4th. My husband and I went to pick up Steve to go to Dave's and, just as I pulled into Buchanan's lane (about 9:20 PM) I noticed a strange light in the sky. Steve, Bill and I watched for about five minutes and Linda came out and watched with us. The object moved in a zig-zagged way a short distance. When we had been watching 15 minutes, Steve called Dave (who had been watching from his home and had made the initial sighting) and he came over and watched with us. Suddenly a white speck of light zoomed over us to our right going east to west and hovered over the object. A light came up and (it) took it in. Then a second speck of light flew east to west over us, but to the left of us and went into the rounded edge of the object. About a half hour later the object spun around, green light now at top, red light at bottom. A speck of light came out of the right side as the object had spun around, and another from the bottom, It then zig-zagged to the right a short distance and the specks each flew back west. The object flared when we shined a spotlight at it. Other times (it) flared as well. Back light blinked a couple of times."

Bill Easson reported that his vision was not sharp enough to see the detail his wife had reported and drawn. He just saw a bright light several times brighter than any star, which exhibited several colors. The object had hovered for over two hours, but distinctly moved twice, once to the right, then once to the left.

The object did not "leave", but the Earth's rotation took it below the horizon. In sight approximately two and a half hours. Venus was in the southwest, nowhere in the vicinity of the strange object. During the next few nights the witnesses looked in the same area but never saw the strange object.

O / \ / \ / \ O / \ / \ / \ / \ (_____) ^ ^ ^ ^ ^ ^ ^ ^ (Sept, 9, 1994, 8:30 PM, Racoon Lake, IN. Parke County), Robert Taylor We hesitate labeling objects beyond the close encounter range, not necessarily because of the distance, but due to the usual lack of detail for identification purposes. However, in this case we don't have to worry about a witness with poor vision or a witness who stretched the facts or one who simply couldn't figure out what he/she was seeing due to ignorance. There were five adult witnesses, and the FI feels that these people simply reported what they saw. The main object, possibly a "parent craft", and smaller objects, possible other craft or "probes", was observed for two and one-half hours. The main object moved a couple of times, but mostly hovered. The main object report passes the Natural Source Test. This was not a star, nor a planet, Venus was visible at the same time in the SW. This report also passes the Man-made Source Test for the same reasons mentioned above. Blimps can hover, but the description and length of time observed rules this out. Everything has to move to stay in the air or, in the case of balloons, don't hover that long, nor do they have lights of this type. Man-made fixed structures were ruled out. Hoax by witnesses was ruled out. This report has been given the preliminary identification of UNKNOWN, Significant, because it was some kind of craft with other objects coming and going from it, main object observed over a long period of time. Berliner Strangeness scale: 02 (Night Object), Berliner Credibility Scale of 02 (Multiple Average Witnesses). Speiser Probability Scale P4 (Credible and sound). Ten days later, on the 19th of September, there were two more sightings, both on the same day. A security guard near Evansville reported a strange object, distant, but that stopped and reversed direction. This occurred at 2:58 AM and lasted about ninety seconds. Then at Indianapolis the investigating FI who checked out the Racoon Lake sightings, along with her daughter, observed a strange object in the same general direction. The object appeared to be only about a mile away. The event started at 9:00 PM. Norma Croda had gone outside to talk with some neighbors and noticed a bright light above a house, which was a half-block to the west. She saw a very bright red and green lights flashing, went inside to get binoculars and watched through the upstairs window. When focused in, the colored lights, red, green, and yellow, appeared in a band around the centre of the white light. The colored lights seemed to be rotating. Her daughter, who saw the object for only about ten minutes, took the binoculars and after 3-5 minutes said it was turning and moving. The light slowly moved to the NW. they tried to follow it in their car but lost it. Observation time: 45 minutes. The next evening and subsequent evenings there was no similar object observed therefore this was not an astronomical object. The length of time observed by a trained observer also eliminates aircraft. The case is still under investigation. Then, FIT Roger Sugden filed this preliminary report on Sept 20th: Approximately September 11th or 18th, near Fort Wayne, 9-10pm, four or more witnesses (one a state trooper) saw a strange object. Also reported was an extremely low F-16, little detail at press time. Under investigation. Mr.Sugden, a trainee, was advised to contact FI's Engstrom and Taylor. -end- UFO Intelligence Newsletter, UFO FILTER CENTRE 618 Davis Drive, Mt.Vernon, IN 47620 (one year subscription 15.00/ monthly issues) ... Almere sighting. 2 Woman are walking with their dogs in the evening at 19.40 hours. It is the 21th of November 1994. One of the ladies said, "it was a sphere and it just looked like a sunset". Dozens of people also from Amsterdam and Zeewolde witnessed the same object. Most people thought it being the moon and payed no attention to it. The OPUS (Onderzoek (= investigati- on) Parapsychology, Ufos, Spiritual) foundation collected all data and concluded this week that it was no blimp, constructi- on work light or a ball lightning but a real ufo. That sphere was seen above waters, trees and residential areas. It showed remarkable behaviour. Initially it hovered, moved from left to right, and one family saw it spinning around before it shot off into the air at high speed. The KNMI (Dutch meteorological intitution) could not explain this sighting. Nor could a foundation (De Koepel) in Utrecht which is also specialized in ufo sightings. According specialists so many people watching the same ufo is very rare. Bleepings ..., Henk van Winkoop (hvw123@xs4all.nl) From alt.ufo.reports Wed Feb 15 08:56:09 1995 Path:

NNTP-Posting-Host: obc.is.net Originally posted by Doug Angel : Before I state what I saw I would like to clarify that I am using UFO in the very literal sense. I, and four of my friends saw something that we cannot explain. Here's the story. At about 11:00pm (pst) last night my friend called me over to his room. His room looks out on the Channel Islands and is on the 7th floor, giving it an excellent view. On the horizen I saw a line of lights. After summoning two more friends and getting a pair of binoculars was able to see it somewhat more clearly. The lights were arranged symmetrically around the axis perpindicular to us. I will describe the lights as I saw them from left to right. The first light was slightly above the others, after a small space there was a a group of four lights close together in a straight line, after another space was a single light, a larger space separated it from a pair lights in the center, another equally large space lead to another single light, a smaller space seperated this single light from a another straight line of four lights, at the end was another light above the rest at the same level as the first. Through the Binoculars it appeared that the object was actually curved. At this point we left the dorm and went down to the beach to get a better view. As we watched we noticed it moved from East to West (The Ocean in Santa Barbara is actually to the South so it was moving from our left to our right) at differing speeds. It would go very fast for a short time and then stop. At one point I saw it bob down and then resume moving. My friend saw it tilt along the perpindicular axis as well while looking through binoculars. We have no explanation for what it was. It dissappeared behind one of the islands and did not reappear. The Islands are about 26 miles away and the thing appeared to be about an inch long from our perspective, for the distance then it must have been very large. This would rule out aircraft since 747's on approach into LA appear to be about an 1/8 of an inch and would be at roughly the same distance, if not closer. It also covered an incredible amout of space in a very short time, fastr than we have seen other ships travel. Therefore we are at a loss. We have speculate dthat it might have something to do with PT. Magu which is a Navy Training area S of here. If anyone has any ideas please post them because we cannot think of anything. Thanks. We ended up about 10 miles outside of Beatty Nevada. unfortunately we had trouble with the guns and had to pack up early. we got done getting everything loaded into the truck for the trip back and were just doing some star gazing when we noticed 4 flashing lights in the sky right below Orions belt as they moved they stayed perfectly in line,the lights would blink one after the other,red,white,green,and blue. we had watched jets from the base do maneuvers over the desert all evening and these lights were traveling much faster then any jet we had seen in the sky that night or any night for that matter.(might I add that my neighbor had previously worked for the Air Force for many years working on all of thier top jets,F16,SR22 etc).he stated that he had not seen any of our planes move at the speed these lights were going, up, down, left, right, and just at a hover in the sky. we watched for what seemed to be 45 min or so and the lights went behind the mountain,as the rose above the mountain crest about 20 min later they flashed a bright array of thier colored lights and then faster than anything we had ever seen they shot off into the sky and disappeared so quickly if you weren't looking you would have never seen. we got the chills so we left. the next day my neighbor told me that the time we had thought we got back in to town and the actual time we arrived were hours apart, his watch which had just been fitted with a new 5 year battery was hours ahead of actual time, somewhere we had lost about 2 and a half hours, his watch was going and still is going ga ga. We have yet to go back to the sight and look for more speeding lights but since the incident he and i have had re-occurring dreams about lights and objects, some of our dreams have even been exactly the same or close to. if anyone would like to come out for our next road trip to the mountains you are welcome. some say this is hard to believe but when truth is kept from so many for so long the only thing relevant is disbelief....those that do accept the almost unacceptable are the awoken ones those that refuse to believe are the blind. watch out for the truth for sometimes its bite is venomous. Night was clear, sky not very dark because Lebanon is a small city. It was difficult to see, due to glaring lights. We drove to a semi-dark parking lot to get a better view. It was flying very slowly, I'd say about 15 MPH, and wasn't a shape of a plane. It was possibly boomerang shaped. Many lights on it (more so than your average commuter plane), of a variety of colors. It was low-flying, less than 3,000 feet up, I'd say, and it didn't make a sound. I wanted to follow it, but my passenger was spooked (his first UFO, and he's a born skeptic), so we didn't. An interesting note is that the flight pattern brought it very close to our little regional airport. I did not follow up on this sighting (did not call the airport tower, did not check the local paper the next morning for confirmation of the sighting). -Kim From alt.ufo.reports Thu Feb 23 10:13:41 1995 Path:

(Thanks Charlie) UFOs seen hovering near Hinckley railway station. Late night shoppers at Hinckley's Food Giant supermarket have sparked an investigation after reporting sightings of unidentified flying objects hovering around the adjacent railway station on Thursday night. Several people were reported seeing a glowing ball of light just a few feet from the ground over the nearby railway lines. The object was said to be making buzzing sounds and throwing smaller luminous balls of light into the sky for at least five minutes. However, investigators from the Leicestershire UFO study project who are probing the claims, have so far drawn a blank. Their spokesman said "We have no idea what this phenomenon may have been. It disappeared suddenly and left no traces. The guess is that it may have been some form of rare electrical manifestation." He added "We believe that other people must have seen the glow, who have not yet reported their sighting. We would very much like to hear from them." Anybody who spotted Hinckley's suspected space visitor should call the project supervisor on Hinckley 614013, after 4pm. All information will be treated as confidential. #end quote# ----- Dave.... Date: 22 Feb 1995 16:20:23 GMT Message-ID: Organization: DayStorm Inc. Lines: 78 About a few days ago, I exited my lovely home through the backyard and this was around 7pm or so. It was a normal day, I had just finished school a few hours earlier and phad planned to enjoy a relaxed evening in the company of friends. As I walked out towards my car, I noticed a somewhat bright white light just above a few houses out in the distance. At first I thought it was an airplane and waited for it to fly by or perhaps over my house. I am a very big fan of aircraft, and therefore watching aircraft fly-by was something I always enjoy doing. Anyways as this "UFO" became closer and closer, and let me just give you an idea of where it was comming from. My backyard is facing south (exactly), towards Lake Ontario. The craft was heading in a north/north/west direction. As it came closer to my house, I just stood there and observed this strange white light. As we all know aircraft have beacon lights and this strange craft did not. I still had no idea what this strange craft was. It seemed like a regular airplane, but there were no distinct beacon lights and as it got closer, no sounds were heard. As it continued its north/north/west flight path, it suddenly changed course and it was now flying in a north/west direction, straight towards my house. I thought that this was great, a chance to see an airplane fly over my house. Its nothing special but its always something nice to see. As the craft got closer and closer, I noticed that it was flying much too slow to be an aircraft. And it was really REALLY low. If I'm not mistaken according to Air Regulations, and aircraft must maintain an altitude of 1000 feet above the tallest structure in the area, or something of that sort. Well this strange craft must of been at at least 500 feet, perhaps even lower. It seemed so close when it flew DIRECTLY over me. The strange thing that I find it difficult to explain is the way its shape appear to be in the dark sky and the way the lights suddendly became brighter and then returned to their normal brightness. Allow me to explain. The craft appeared to be somewhat triangular in shape. The reason I say this is because there were other smaller lights in the outer regions of the craft giving it the shape mentioned. And right when the craft "hovered" very slowly above me, its two large ligths became really bright and two columns of light brightned up my whole backyard including myself... I found this very strange... I'm somewhat confused, even today as to the true origin of this craft. Was it really a UFO? I myself beleive it to be such, because how low it was, how slow it was flying and the light configuration. No aircraft I have EVER seen has a light configuration such as that one. Let me try to show you what the craft looked like from the bottom. I must warn you that I am not much of an artist... o o o o o O O o o oo oo o The smaller o's represent the smaller lights that I mentioned covered the outer region of the craft. The two large O's represent the two large lights I spoke of. Those two large lights were at first turned off, but when the craft was directly over my house, they were turned on and they were quite bright. Much like the type of lights you would find at a baseball stadium but they were round. So these two lights were turned on for about a few seconds or so, and I could see these two columns of light shining down on my neighbours houses as it flew over me. The lights were then turned off and the craft continued its north/west heading. To this day I still donot know what this craft was. I know what I saw and I would like to perhaps undergo hypnosis. I fear that I might have been abducted, but it did not appear to me at the time that I had lost any time. From what I've read about Abduction cases, victims recall time lapses when an abduction takes place. I did not noticed this or even suspect it. Is there anyone out there who could perhaps explain to me what it was that I saw and if there is a slight possibility of an abduction? This message is not a fabrication of my imagination. I know what I saw and I am telling the truth. If there is anyone out there, perhaps a UFO expert in the toronto area that would be willing to speak to me about this incident, I would deeply appreciate his/her remarks and perhaps a number where he/she can be reached. If you plan on replying to this message, please do so privately. I am not yet familiar with the internet and searching for a message directed to me in public mail, might be somewhat of a disaster. Thank you for your time in reading my message, if in fact you did and I hope that someone out there knows what I'm talking about and clears up some of the doubts that I have. Thank-you... My location - proceeding easterly on Smyth Road in Ottawa, Ontario at Vincent Massey Public School. The time was between 0120 and 0125 EST. The "object" appeared approximately 30 degrees to my left. It was descending to my left at approx. a 40 degree angle. It appeared to be getting closer. It was very bright and very white compared to other shooting stars I have seen. It appeared to be burning very vigorously with lots of "sparks" flying off. It seemed to fizzle out just before it would have disappeared from view. Have some difficulty describing the size; possibly the center portion and the area of dense sparks surrounded it might have been close to the size of a dime at arms length. It trailed sparks slightly possible 3 diameters. It was moving at a high velocity. The distance and speed being difficult to estimate; it left the impression of being very close, such that it may have landed in Gatineau. This would suggest that the speed would exceed that of aircraft. I would estimate I followed its path for 2-3 seconds. The dominant impression was of its whiteness and brightness. Hope this might be of some interest and acceptable to post here. Following reports in January of an unidentified flying object, officials at Travis Air Force Base declared it a case of mistaken identity, saying the object was actually a blimp advertising tax services. (That sounds logical...?!) But not everyone is convinced. All of the people contacted for this article were adamant that what they saw on two January nights was definitely not a blimp, and not easily explained. "I'm not a believer in UFOs. I never had been. But what I saw made me think twice," said one Fairfield woman who swears she and her two teenage daughters experienced a close encounter. "I was driving home from Benicia on Jan. 20 around 7:30 p.m. after dropping off a friend, and as I headed east on Interstate 680 I noticed something all lit up," she said. "I took the Rio Vista turnoff and noticed it again near the Budweiser plant. At that point I got a little freaked out." Driving home through Suisun City, she saw the object again near Railroad Avenue and Sunset Boulevard. And when she pulled into the driveway of her home off Travis Street, the object, brilliantly lit, was floating above the neighborhood. "At this point I'm talking to myself. I said 'This is something the girls need to see' and I went inside to get my daughters," she said. The woman's two daughters, 15 and 17, were inside the home. The 15-year-old had thought she heard a shot around the time her mother pulled into the driveway. The teen called 911. "I had heard a boom and thought it was a gunshot. But my sister had her earphones on and thought it was something else. When my mother came in, I went outside with her and there it was with two bright lights, like headlights on a car," she said. Mother and daughter followed the object back over to a clearing near Railroad Avenue. It didn't make a sound. We rolled down the windows and we didn't hear anything like a plane or a helicopter. And it moved too swiftly for it to be a blimp," the younger daughter said. When the two returned to the house, the 17-year-old daughter noticed the object following them back. "I screamed. It looked like it was coming right at us. It was so low and it turned sharply. It was really scary to me," she said. Two 19-year-old ROTC students had a similar encounter just a few days earlier on Jan. 16. "We were coming back from Lucky's on East Wigeon Way and we spotted it out near Lawler Ranch and Grizzly Island. We both got a little scared. It seemed like it was following us. "What convinced me it wasn't a blimp is that it moved too agile, too swiftly," one student said. The teens were significantly impressed and made a drawing of the object and told their ROTC instructor, Col. Daryl Nelson. Nelson, however, was skeptical and remains so. (Surprise!) "I wouldn't put any credence in what they're saying," he said. "I'm sure they ^^^ believe what they're saying. But kids at this age get excited by these sort of things. And there was no physical evidence to support their claim." Still all of the observers insist they know what they saw. "I'm going to keep a camera in my car and keep an eye out when I pass by Grizzly Island, especially at night," the woman added. (Hopefully many people in this area will start carrying a camera in their car, loaded with ISO 1600 film! The paper has a drawing of a long teardrop-shaped object with a bright light on the top and what appears to be a beam shining at an angle below the object.) (I know someone else who was followed home by a brightly lit UFO a year earlier. She was extremely frightened. I have also seen several UFOs in this area, one of which I described earlier in an interview entitled "Travis AFB UFO Sighting. The UFOs definitely exist and they are not blimps! More likely, IMO, at least some of the UFOs were built for the Air Force and are being stored and tested near Travis AFB. Perhaps others UFOs are observing these new anti-gravity craft piloted by humans. The fact that the UFOs are not particularly stealthy suggests to me that the government is preparing us for the existence of this exciting, revolutionary technology! -- David) -----

During break on 2nd shift at the factory where she works, Kim was outside with another employee having a cigarette. The two were facing opposite directions looking at the stars. As Kim turned to face the same direction as her friend, both noticed a light in the sky to the north (the direction her friend was facing). Light (white) was described as the brightest object in the sky (described as a bright star, but much closer), although neither saw it appear even though the other employee was facing that direction. . Distance was estimated at between 5-20 miles. Light was 30 (approx) degrees above horizon and fell in a straight line, at a 60 (approx) degree angle, to the ground. Light disappeared before crossing below tree line. Total duration of sighting was approx. 4 seconds. Direction and duration confirmed by both witnesses. Flight traffic is routed to the south of the building (witnesses observe flights every night during their breaks in the same area, south of the building). Confirmed through ATC, final and short are to the south, Inbound traffic from the north is routed over the city. Sighting was outside of city limits in direction opposite from flight patterns. No trail or debris was observed, nor was sound. Note: I drew a parabolic arc for her thinking it may have been a firework shot off. The following event happened flying into Salt Lake City on Delta Airlines flight 1485 on Feb. 20 1995. I had meant to post this sooner, but I didn't get around to it. I want to premise my story by stating that what I saw was a UFO in the strictest sense (An Unidentified Flying Object). In other words, I have no fricking clue what it was that I saw. I am hoping that someone can shed some light on this for me, or that I may perhaps get a verification of this by others who were in the right place at the right time in Salt Lake City. I was flying from Omaha, NE to San Francisco, CA. Flight 1485 was the first leg of this flight, with a layover in Salt Lake City, UT. Flight 1485 arrives in Salt Lake at 8:45 p.m. So the time of this sighting was approximately 8:45 PM, Feb. 20. 1995. The location was within 2-7 miles of Salt Lake City airport (I don't know from which direction we made our final descent, although I suspect it was either from the North or East). Here is what happened: I was sitting in a window seat on the right side of the plane, towards the front (Looking out West or North upon descent?), so I had an unobstructed view of the ground during our final descent. As we descended, I was looking out the window at the city. We were flying over a mostly residential area. The view was very clear, and it was dark. I am uncertain of our altitude at this time, but I could clearly make out houses, streets, cars, etc.. What appeared to be a low flying plane caught my attention and I followed it's movements. I noticed that this craft was extremely low, and decided it must be a helicopter because I could not see an airport in the direction it was heading (opposite the heading of the 727 I was in) and small planes do not fly several hundred feet above residential neighborhoods (an estimate) unless they are landing. The craft had a series of white lights in front, not blinking. So far, so good - nothing odd at all, a helicopter or small plane with lights in front flying low over residential areas. NOTE: most of this is in hindsight; At the time, I simply considered the thing a helicopter and followed it with my eyes. As I continued to watch, I noticed several VERY strange things. FIRST: This thing was probably more like 20-50 feet above the treeline of the residential area(S) that it was flying over - I thought it was higher because of it's parallax motion (difference in motion between something nearer to you and something farther) and my guessed speed of the 'helicopter', which brings me to SECOND: This thing was flying fast! - not unreasonably so, but probably in the 150-300 mph range (remember, this thing was flying low). But the most disturbing thing was THIRD: It passed over a lighted street intersection (I could see no cars on the streets in this area) and I had my first glimpse of it's silhouette - it was perfectly round. I had perhaps a second (or a close fraction, thereof) of a view of the craft flying over this lighted intersection, but it was ample time for the shape of the craft to register without doubt in my mind. At this point, I felt slightly panicky (up until I saw it's shape, I was simply assuming that this thing was a helicopter). I probably looked a bit odd, as I snapped my head at the window and exclaimed (perhaps a bit loudly) "What the fuck?" I continued to watch the craft (now almost obsessed with it, with my face pushed against the window), but the plane I was on was getting lower and the craft was getting farther away (continuing in a linear direction, very low and rather rapidly). Eventually, my view became obstructed by the wing of the 727 and my sighting ended. If I hadn't seen this thing's shape, I would have never given it a second thought. As it stands, I know beyond a reasonable doubt that this thing had a circular silhouette. In retrospect, I find it interesting that it was flying so low - definitely too low for it to be picked up on radar. ___ Crop Circles Reach Romania by C. James =====

Two crop circles appeared in Arad, a regional town near the Romanian/Hungarian border on June 20th. Both circles measured 6 metres in diameter, with an outer ring measured 4 metres in width. All the corn within the circle was firmly pressed down in an anticlockwise direction, and the crop was interwoven, or plaited. What makes the crop circles different, is that they were witnessed being made - and not by hoaxers. There were several witnesses, who described a strange light over the field, and a whistling noise, although there was no wind. The corn started rippling and then bent over double. One witness, Traian Crisan, a 48 year old sheep farmer was checking his sheep at approximately 4.am, when he saw a large light approaching - which he described as "like the moon, but much larger". When the light came within 5 metres, a sudden powerful blast of wind blew away his hat and cape and knocked him to the ground, where he lay clinging to a bush. Traian described the object as completely round, which emitted a whistling noise. The object remained motionless above the wheat for two minutes before taking off straight upwards. E.M.U.F.O.R.A - C. T. Ruffin, 1 Boundary Crescent, Beeston, Nottingham, NG9 2QY

February 19th I was visiting relatives in Manitowac county, Wisconsin when by brother pointed out a series of articles in the Herald Times Reporter about early morning sightings of balloons over Lake Michigan. This seemed odd to me because no balloonist in their right mind would put up a balloon on the west side of Lake Michigan with February's easterly winds. The paper reported the Coast Guard as saying the objects were "balloons of unknown origin as balloonist are not required to report..." These had been sighted repeatedly over the course of a couple of weeks. I was wondering if late january/early feb. had many reportings in the lake michigan area. -- Mark Anderson - MLA Consulting - Minneapolis MN -

Just a brief report... Actually this is the first time I saw something I can't quite explain.
Where: State Hwy 9 in Iowa traveling west, about 5 miles east of Rt63 My position. I was driving in my car with the window completely down. Time: about 1:30pm WX: abt 63degrees. Light breeze out of west. Mostly Sunny, a few cumulus clouds but not many. Date 3/16/95 Other Aircraft: 3 or 4 high flying jets. 12 to 15 jet trails in sky.
What I saw: Looking at a jet, just before entering a cloud bank, flying west to east, I noticed a bright (reflective) object about 2 degrees ahead of the jet. It seemed elongated and rotating. The reflection varied with a cycle of about .75 seconds. Its length seemed to be about twice that of the jet. Using the jet and the nearby cloud as references, it seemed to be ahead and below the jet. It was traveling almost due south, much faster than the jet. The object left no exhaust trail. I saw it for about 5 seconds before it went into the cloud. checked my glasses to be sure it wasn't a reflection. It wasn't. There were no trees in the area and the only birds around were pheasants feeding on the ground. I would appreciate e-mail speculation. I am most certainly not a crack-pot, actually I am a UFO skeptic (not unbeliever). Thanks Ken L. KA9RVK

Mar 1995 19:07:43 +0000 Message-ID: Sender: usenet@demon.co.uk Hi everyone,

This is first time I am posting to this group, so forgive me if I'm doing anything wrong. I've just seen a news report about a UFO report in Ballymena, made by a farming family. This is the first sighting I have ever heard of here in the North, only previously hearing about USA/UK sightings on mainstream TV documentary shows. As the reporter pointed out, the area is a level-headed farming community which makes the report all the more interesting. The woman said that her son came into the living room and called them outside to see the UFO. After some effort the son managed to get his father and mother to come outside to the back yard. A floating object about 40foot wide emitting light, and with what the woman described as arms with extra lights which as she put it 'appeared to breath' and spin around was hovering above their yard. The object then zoomed away at high speed. Since the story was run in the local paper 'The Ballymena News' 16 more people have contacted the reporter with sightings. No sound was given off by the hovering object. I have to say, the whole story however incredible does appear to come from a 'normal' country family. I do feel that 'something' must have occurred.... but what was it....? Any more info. on this sighting on the 'net? Any thoughts/ideas for a scientific reason to explain what the family saw. Thanks for your time, Roger -- is a short transcript of a UK Radio 1 Nicky Campbell show, transmitted on Monday 21st March 1995. I unfortunately missed most of the interview so I would ask anyone who may have listened in to upload any information they remember to this group.

[Key] NC = Nicky Campbell (Radio show host) GS = Graham Shepard (Former British Airways pilot) NC "Back now to British Airways pilots & UFOs. Graham Shepard former British Airways pilot talking to me this afternoon. Its been really interesting hearing about these encounters with UFOs. There have been others, you've been involved in another, briefly what happened." GS "Yes we were returning from Gibraltar in the evening March 1967, and right ahead of us we sighted a brilliant light which was double the - triple the magnitude of Sirius at its best, and we tried to identify it on the star chart. While we were doing so the light started moving across the sky ahead of us and was changing colour, blues & greens & reds, very iridescent colours & then started airobatting in the sky at phenomenal speeds." NC "Airobatting?" GS "Figures of eight, it was just zipping around in the sky. It was flying figures of eight & loops. Accelerations that were quite beyond humans." NC "It came from the planet show-off." GS "It was putting on a show, it really was & then from nowhere another one joined it. There were two of them. They went on doing this for about five minutes, drifting away out over the bay of Biscay & it was a brilliantly clear night so there was no mistaking." NC "Confirmed by radar?" GS "We asked Bordeaux radar, military radar at that time if they had any traffic and they confirmed they had traffic ten miles to the west of us which by that time is exactly where they were." NC "And of course you have to make application to be able to do that don't you, official application to notify the aviation authorities that we are going to be ten miles to the west of this British European airways aircraft. It all has to be done through official channels." GS "Of course." NC "There was one in Manchester recently wasn't there. There was another incident, you weren't involved but you know all about it. Very quickly what happened there." GS "Yes this was a very close approach by a UFO and January 6th it was a 737 returning to Manchester and the crew reported it, they actually went into official print. So this now is in the public domain, not only the investigation but the conclusions of that investigation by the Joint Amiss Working group will have to be made public. My main concern is the safety aspect & quite honestly I think it should be a public concern at the safety aspect of these close approaches has never ever been addressed. Its the instinctive reactions of the pilots who have no briefing, no background, no information. I have collected a number of reports now totalling ten very good reports of evasive action being taken by pilots with injuries being caused to passengers and to cabin crew & aeroplanes having to land at midpoint because they have taken evasive action with a close approach of a UFO." NC "So maybe the cover up or the semi cover up by the airlines is not helpful at all." GS "Its not helpful and I think there should be a mature and informed discussion about the whole thing and the safety implications of pilot reaction to a close approach of these things. I apologise for any misspelt words, locations, organisation names. If any are recognised by any of you out there perhaps you will upload an amendment to this group. ----- Dave....

Lines: 37 A few days ago a UK Police Officer told me of an incident which occurred to him and a colleague of his in 1988. At this time he was working in Gloucester. It was 3 a.m. and they had just finished their refreshment break when the call came in. A woman living in the countryside had got out of bed to feed her baby. It was quite normal for her to sit in the bay window of the house looking out while the baby fed. She saw a light come down from the sky and skim across the tops of some trees before disappearing in a flash of light. She called the Police and subsequently the Officer and his colleague attended. They were skeptical but as they drove along the country road towards the house they saw that the road was littered with branches, twigs and leaves. It was as if something had knocked the tops off the trees. They searched the area as best as they could but found nothing. A report was made to a local RAF base who said that there had been no aircraft flying in that vicinity and nothing on radar at that time. They would send a helicopter during daylight hours to investigate. The Officers were not informed of the result by the RAF. A meteorite was suggested by others but there was one thing that turned this upside down. The object had travelled horizontally for some distance skimming the tops of trees thereby causing the debris on the road before disappearing.

Reply-To: an212918@anon.penet.fi Date: Thu, 30 Mar 1995 09:30:05 UTC Subject: UK UFO Hinckley, Leicester. Lines: 76 UK sighting/abductions. I post this article as I remember seeing a report posted here a few weeks ago of a seperate incident but in the same area of Hinckley, Leicester. The initial report consisted of shoppers seeing a small but brightly lit light hovering over some railway tracks. Notes posted here suggested that it could have been some sort of electrical ball lightning. Report Two: Taken from the March/April 95 issue of UFO Magazine. On a clear moonlit night last October, a family of four were travelling on the M69 motorway between Coventry and Leicester in the East Midlands, to join up with the M1 motorway to visit relatives further North in Nottingham. As his wife and two children were dozing `Steve` suddenly noticed an odd illuminated ball of mist-like qualities, the size of a transit van, suddenly "shoot over" the top of his car from right to left. It then flew back in the opposite direction, and was seen shortly afterwards to hover over a nearby electricity pylon. With his wife now awake Steve`s curiosity was such, that he pulled the vehicle onto the hard shoulder and switched on his hazard warning lights - just in time to see that the `mist` had now turned into a hazy blue cloud. As he got out of the car to get a better view, the `cloud` appeared to frequently brighten and dim, moving up and down close to the pylon as it did so. Steve began to think that the cloud was somehow intelligently controlled because as it moved towards the pylon, it would manouvre to avoid actual contact with it. His conviction was suddenly reinforced when a bright white light came on at the edge of the object, and other lights flickered into life, forming a 100ft circle effect which amazingly began to spin. Within the glowing mist, other lights came on, and these formed a smaller 40ft wide ring. As all the lights became much brighter, a saucer shape could clearly be seen. Steve said "It was beautiful and quite silent." The only noise heard was when the object "whooshed" over his vehicle, just 50ft above him, travelling at a phenominal speed. Steve`s wife witnessed the entire incident, but by now, one of their children had woken up and was crying. "Make it go away daddy, I`m frightened, I`m frightened." Because of this Steve reluctantly got back into his car and drove off, but was unnerved to see that the object appeaeared to be pacing his vehicle. He increased speed to 80 mph, but it made no difference. He pulled off the motorway at the Hinckley roundabout, and steered onto some waste ground, but the object was still there, and like them, stationary. Finally, and with his family panic-stricken, he drove back onto the motorway, and this time, the skies were empty and clear of the mystery object. Later, both Steve and his wife agreed to recount their experiences under hypnotic regression, and both recalled an abduction experience.

NNTP-Posting-Host: 137.158.134.20 Just thought I'd share the news that 3 ships were sighted last night here in South Africa in a province called the Orange Free State. This is a conservative mainly right-wing part of the land where people are traditionally very fundamental Christian! Apparently the ships were noticed due to there being the presence of a very strong white light which lit up the area around, followed by the the ships changing colours, red to green to purple said one witness; red to yellow to crimson said another. Coincidentally (!) we have a French UFOlogist here at the same time who reported sighting similar ships to these earlier in the same day about 700 kms away! Anyone got any ideas as to who/what these were. Where they might come from etc.? THIS is one time I am VERY glad to have access to the i-net. Please comment direct to my p-mail rather than posting because my access is very limited.

Wytheville, Va. "UFO" aerial ballet: In which we watch the next "UFO sighting" report being born. By Dick Farley Two days ago along Interstate 81 near Wytheville, Virginia, motorists reportedly were lined up along the highway watching two large silver balls perform aerial maneuvers in the sky. Honest! One witness reported that when the spheres would dive down toward the highway, the many onlookers would scatter and run. Several of the witnesses had video cameras and were taping the aerial display, which reportedly occurred in daylight. (?) But one witness... (who is a friend of one of "our" guys) ...noted that two of the video taping set-ups were mounted on tripods. What a coincidence. How prepared those lucky "eyewitnesses" were! The obvious suggestion was of a staged "UFO" sighting, to create the next news hook for evolving UFO hoaxes, some of which are demonstrably "covers" for exotic reconnaissance aircraft of U.S. and perhaps other governments and military branches. Others allegedly are more sinister kinds of events, staged by powerful international cults intent on destabilizing cultural and religious underpinnings of American society, so as to seize Post-Cold War high ground in the global political power game. The decades-long UFO quest has been fronted by various so-called flying saucer investigation organizations, most of which appeared with full complements of governmental or military related personnel claiming some "previous access to secret documents and photos." These groups typically have spun out various UFO stories, which other similarly well-orchestrated folks' "debunking efforts" then deflate, amid ridicule and derision for innocent believers who get caught up in the game. Then it all cycles again. And again. And again. Many of the so-called UFO investigation organizations, and leading- light personalities in the self-styled pseudo-science called "UFOlogy," in recent years have been claiming the UFOs carry alien visitors to Earth, bringing a new planetary agenda. Many of these terrestrial advocates for our visiting "ETs", including a Harvard psychiatric faculty member who reportedly is now under fire from a faculty committee at that venerable establishment university, hail the invading "aliens" as friends come to "transform Earth to a new, higher plane of being." More cynical interpreters read the same signs as, "They are here to kill a lot of us, then possess the bodies of those who survive!" Obviously the happier assessment picks up the most followers. Others claiming scholarship in the field suggest that most so-called UFO proponents are suffering a kind of collective psychosis, which some neuroscientists (including one who held a senior post in the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency) fear is a subtle pandemic sweeping across the planet, raising up cults and cultists to new fever pitches of apocalyptic millennialism. The most interesting and internally consistent of approaches according to serious students of the field in all of its seeming manifestations, is one which describes the source phenomena termed UFOs as more akin to long-standing reports of psi infestations of human minds by non-human intelligences (NHI). These hypothesized NHIs have operated throughout human history in a variety of semantic camouflages, depending on the cultural contexts and scientific philosophies by which various host cultures defined themselves, with respect to their physical and psychological landscapes. Our own materialist, Newtonian-clockwork historical view of our physical and mental environments has apparently left Western society vulnerable to this type of infestation, as if to a new pathogen for which there are neither identifiable acknowledgments nor antibiotics. A lot of us are getting sick. Faeries, leprechauns, angels, demons, ghosts and alien visitors all may inhabit similar interstitial spaces in human perceptual gaps, perhaps engendered by physical limitations of our anthropocentric sensate foci. Many cultures had folkloric contexts and "cures." Ours, which doesn't see them, does not. Formerly called demonic possession, and still described as such in the Roman Catholic Church and in many other cultures worldwide today, this paradigm has drawn modern descriptors for the phenomenon from its American researchers. These include clinical depossession, as it is termed by practitioners such as Dr. Edith Fiore, psychiatrist Dr. Raymond Moody and other pioneers of this research, and Spirit Release Therapy, as trademarked by Florida-based therapist Dr. William Baldwin. Dr. Baldwin, a retired dentist who is becoming noteworthy as a psychological counselor and hypnotherapist, said he also has encountered "ET" presences in some of his clients. And some of these clients, Dr. Baldwin reports, have attained varying degrees of "relief" from a range of subtle apparent perceptual manipulations by these purported non-human intelligences, which the therapist hypnotically employing regression therapy found nested in his clients' spiritual bodies, seemingly causing their hosts to suffer from psychological or spiritual dysfunctions and physical ailments. In other words, these "things" live where we can't see them, and quantum physicists have recently joined theologians and aboriginal shamans in telling us scientific materialists how arrogant we are to believe that: because we can't see them, this means they aren't there. They are, and always were. Whatever they actually may turn out to be. Electricity, bacteria, viruses and even x-rays and ionizing radioactive emissions come to mind as "things that weren't there," but which had measurable effects on human existence. Heck, less than 150 years ago a physician was expelled from his own medical community for having the gall to suggest that, if physicians would wash their hands before moving from pregnant woman to pregnant woman during pelvic examinations, then the high rate of fatal infections of mothers and fetuses might be lowered. "Germs...bah, humbug." The "establishment doctors" didn't buy into the theories of Pasteur and Lister. Women died. Understandable it is then, why psychiatrists and many, many psychologists are all rushing to find some paradigm in which these mental infestations or infections can be treated by their respective approaches. What with health care managers demanding definitive diagnoses and pre-adopted reimbursement levels, if psychoses of alien abductions turned out to be some kind of a "bug," then the counselors would lose a major market share to the drug pushers (read that neuro- pharmacologists), while the market for incense and imported idols of the Buddha and the Hindu pantheon of old gods would dry up, leaving aging hippies again without employment. Who will buy all their drums and rattles? Scoundrels among the psychological journalism community, and not a few historians, have pointed out that our coming Millenium is exclusively an artifact of our dominance by a European-American Gregorian calendar, imposed in 1582 A.D. by a long-dead Roman Catholic pope. The Chinese, Japanese, Hebrew, Maori and Lakota, Hopi, Apache and nearly every other human tribal culture have all been collectively head-scratching and wondering (when they are not laughing politely behind their own hands) what on Earth is wrong with the faith of these folks who measure time from the birth, death and resurrection of Jesus (Yeshua), whom they claim as their Saviour? Proclaimed by these same Euro-Christian folks as the Son of God come to Earth...who ran afoul of the local Judaic elite, was crucified by their Roman governors and died on their cross, this Jesus is said to have transcended his fatal end in order to liberate his followers from just these kinds of cults and magical mystery manipulations of the old shamanistic traditions which are now rising again into social prominence. Increasingly with fatal consequences for believers and society. While many of the contemporary followers of Jesus and his teachings apparently are in almost complete panic from their onrushing awareness that perhaps what he predicted long ago is really coming true, the rest of our predominantly materialistic and despotic consumerized society is swilling psychotropic drugs like Prozac, while still others create and worship new gods, dig up old gods and sink into computerized realities of their own creation. The really confused go shopping, and commit pizza-cholesterol suicides. Globally, most of the world's peoples believe Americans and their Euro-Allies need to "relax," now that their Cold War has been replaced by a less organized chaos stemming from wanton nuclear and oil profiteering: despotic barbarism by a handfull of multinational corporations and their powerful bankers. Not a new phenomenon in the aftermath of war and lengthy warlike footings, but it's the first time those living today have seen it. Simply changing the U.S. calendric system would take care of the rapidly approaching Millenium...just as changing clocks an hour forward or backward in Spring and Fall handles inconvenient asynchronous behaviors of our Sun...which we here on the Third Rock Out can not change. But there already is such an industry of publishers and panic-television programming, as well as solid upswings in rates of religious payments via bank credit cards and "900" numbers to psychic hot-lines, that American economists and telephone company stockholders are loathe to kill the goose that is laying these golden eggs, feathering their bottom lines. The most prominent UFO aliens, who seemingly have been doing brisk business abducting sleeping humans (mostly females) and performing gynecological experiments on them, typically implant "planet cleansing" philosophies in the heads of their subjects before turning them loose to deconstruct our society. Other experiencers, as the "UFOlogically impaired" are euphemistically called by Harvard's eminent "close encounter" psychotherapist Dr.

John Mack, claim to have been implanted in their heads and bodies with devices of varying types and purposes. And New York modern artist Budd Hopkins, an escaped West Virginia Presbyterian who allegedly met God and our "alien" visitors in his travels from Greenwich Village beatnik haunts to the Park Avenue parlors of Gurdjieff cultists among his art patrons, has now claimed that a former senior United Nations official saw one of Hopkins' female "UFO clients" snatched from a 12th-floor Manhattan apartment building into a "craft" hovering in full view of the Brooklyn Bridge. (It's not for sale!) Detractors have called Hopkins' big story "The Manhattan Transfer case," much to the artist-hypnotist's chagrin, and he has repeatedly delayed publication of his much announced book about the case. Wags have also wondered if Hopkins is waging yet another publishing "drag race" with that mid-1980s "alien visitor experienter" Whitley Strieber, whose purportedly non-fictional Communion triggered the UFO/alien abduction fever in 1987, just as Hopkins' second book on the phenomenon, Intruders, came off the presses. Strieber's new Breakthrough is eagerly awaited, in hopes he will tell readers of his latest revelations about Earth's ornery time-space brethren. If the Wytheville, Virginia siting earlier this week is to be the next focal point of the newest UFO wave which will bring out psychics raving to the tabloids and talk shows, you can say that you read it here first. It may all be real. It also may not be what you think it may be. So: discernment, not debunking! "ET, phone 'A Current Affair.' And while you're at it, drop down at Rockefeller Center to pay a visit to your banker."

The object purportedly made a ground landing near the vicinity of Tylertown in a small wooded community referred to as Bedwell Manor. The calls originated from this area as residents complained of strange lights and most unusual humming coming from inside the woods. A heavy rainfall precluded the further investigation of phenomenon. The residents state that the occurrence began at 3:45 p.m., but the calls were not placed until 6:45 p.m. The testimony of the observers states the calls were placed immediately after the sightings, but a time difference of three hours exist before any agencies were notified. Widespread electrical disturbances were reported throughout the tri-county area. The three hours lost to the observers remains unaccounted for, but the full investigation is still pending. Doug Gatlin -- Chris Rutkowski - him, according to a Coligny farmer. "I know people will dismiss it as rubbish and will think I'm crazy, but I definitely did see it. I _had_ to report it to the police", Mr Jan Pienaar (45) said to our Bloemfontein office. Several people from Bloemfontein alleged that they also saw a UFO yesterday - one even captured it on videotape. Mr Pienaar was travelling at 7.30am on the road between Coligny and Brakspruit when he encountered the flying saucer. "It suddenly stood right in front of me in the middle of the road. My truck stalled and when I got out something like a magnetic field prevented me from moving. The UFO was about 90 m from me. It stood on three legs and hummed softly, like an electric motor. "It was beautiful - metallic like stainless steel, but also in a strange way transparent. It also had red, green and purple lights.

The shape was like an upside-down bowl with two ridges on top. "After about three minutes the legs on which it stood slowly lifted from the ground and folded away. I could see a row of small windows on the top ridge, before it rose as fast as a lightning bolt" A police spokesman said the Bloemfontein flying squad was notified about 2.20am yesterday of the UFO. Members of the service saw a bright light and a member of the public captured it onn videotape. According to Mr Matie Hoffmann, physicist and amateur astronomer, it could be a weather balloon, kite or anything with

BS> Bryan Baquet said that from a distance the image looked like a BS> saucer but through binoculars it looked "more round above the lights." BS> His mother described the magnified appearance of the image "like a BS> brain ... with veins running over the top of it." BS> "With the reflection from the lights we couldn't see the BS> bottom but could see a round dome, just like an outline, above the BS> lights," Bryan Baquet said. Both Baquets said the image moved from BS> point to point at lightning speed, including at right angles. They also BS> said there was no motor noise associated with the lights. BS> "It would come forward, then back off real fast," she BS> described. According to separate accounts from both witnesses, BS> the image darted over a knob on the west side of the Imnaha River BS> referred to locally as "Crazyman's Point," where it seemed to hover for BS> another five minutes or so before all signs of light disappeared. BS> At 11 p.m., the image was gone and Bryan decided to leave for BS> his house, located about three miles down river at the Corral Creek BS> Ranch. Mrs. Baquet said she worried that what they had just witnessed BS> may have been an alien spacecraft and that it might follow Bryan's BS> headlights. Bryan reported that as he was leaving his mother BS> said, "If they come back and chase you, shut off your lights and crawl BS> under the pickup." "It's an eerie feeling," she later described BS> the incident, "'cause it's like something you have no control over ... BS> you know what you see but your mind doesn't want to accept it." BS> At one point, Mrs. Baquet said, she considered going back into BS> the house and turning off the kerosene lamps but decided that if the BS> object was an alien craft its occupants were already aware of her BS> family's presence. She estimated the object was about the size BS> of a helicopter, and in fact a helicopter crew under contract with the BS> Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife has been working in the area BS> this week, conducting surveys of salmon spawning areas, or redds, in BS> the Imnaha River. Vic Coggins, ODFW area biologist, said his BS> crew had gone out in the chopper on Monday morning but had not flown BS> after dark on Monday. If the object witnessed by the Baquets BS> was indeed some type of air- craft it is unlikely it would have been BS> detected by any of the radar systems which cover the region, according BS> to Andy Plamondon, an air traffic controller at Felts Field in Spokane, BS> Wash. He said that most control towers have a radar umbrella of BS> less than 40 miles, so the only place where such an event might show up BS> is on the radar screens of aircraft who were flying in the area at that BS> time. The Imnaha area, like much of the Pacific Northwest, has BS> had its share of alleged encounters with unidentified flying objects BS> (UFOs) over the years and is not all that unusual, according to various BS> sources interviewed. "It's a common experience at lookouts, and BS> I would not be surprised that a couple living out in the sticks would BS> have that experience," said Tom Bates, a reporter for The Oregonian who BS> has written about UFOs. "It doesn't surprise me ... it doesn't surprise BS> me a bit." Bates once worked for the Forest Service at one of its BS> lookout towers and logged his own eyewitness account of a UFO sighting BS> on his official logbook. Bates as a reporter for The Oregonian, BS> subsequently attended a convention of former lookout station guards and BS> was amazed by the "number of people who testified that they had seen a BS> number of spectacular obser- vations around the Northwest." +0000 Message-ID: Sender: usenet@demon.co.uk I wonder if someone can help me to identify something that me and another family member saw at 11:43pm on Thursday 13th april over southern England, in Guildford, Surrey. We live quite high up and have quite a good view of the town and the surrounding couple of miles. It was a clear night, visibility was good and we could see quite a long distance. Out of the window, two of us saw what appeared to be a bright light in the distance which hovered quite a while and then appeared to get brighter and came closer. I grabbed a pair of binoculars and switched off the inside lights and another one of us watched the light from another room without the aid of binoculars. Both of us watched and saw what appeared to be a bright triangular light which became bright and quite difficult to watch. After approximately one minute the light suddenly, and completely, vanished. We do not think that what we saw was an aircraft or helicopter as we could not identify any aircraft marker lights, and since we live close to an aircraft flight path we are pretty good at identifying these type of things. Did anyone else see this? Can anyone shed any light as to what this could have been? Are you meant to report these kinds of things? (or am I just seeing things? :-) If anyone has any ideas, could they reply by E-mail, as I do not monitor this newsgroup often. Many thanks. -- John Trumpet for Windows [Version 1.0 Rev B final beta #4] Did any one else see the 7 or so UFO's flying in a tight V shape pattern, flying from the SE to the NW, around 9:30pm. They glowed an amber to red glow as if the bottom of the objects were made of reflective metal. There was no noise, no blinking lights, and no other usual characteristics of conventional aircraft flying at night. Me, my two children and a friend of our witnessed this from the Winnetka Drive-in in the Chatsworth area. My son heard a few cars honk as if they saw it also. And my daughter heard other people commenting "What is that?!!" Just wondering if any one else saw this or can explain it. After watching it for a few minutes we realized it was behaving in a manner that no aircraft or helicopter is capable of. It followed a series of left & right-angle turns and complete stops, and repeated the same series of movements all night long. Somehow , we actually managed to fall asleep with this light doing its thing. On our way out of the park we mentioned this episode to the park rangers, and their response was very interesting to us; They said that there have been other reports of lights in the crater at night. No-one has ever been able to explain it, although one of the rumors is of secret government aircraft being tested at night. Another explanation was that what we were seeing was car headlights from lower on the volcano were reflecting of some kind of atmospheric inversion. (whatever) One ranger said she had heard that ufos just happen to like Haleakela. I am posting this message to ask if anyone else has ever seen lights in Haleakela, or heard about it before? Maybe someone out there can... I was outside in the back yard having my last smoke of the evening (my wife doesn't allow me to smoke in the house) around 10:40 - 10:45 (Guelph, Ontario, Canada, close to Toronto). It was very clear and the stars were magnificent. A few jumbo jets flew over on their approach to Toronto International Airport then there was a lull in the activity. I glanced up toward the West-South-West and noticed a motion of one of the stars. I got pretty excited about this because I thought I was about to be treated to a meteor trail. But the typical streak did not develop, so I figured it was a satellite still catching some of the sun's rays, it was moving pretty quickly and as it approached overhead, I saw that there were actually three equally spaced points of light moving in a slanted line. They moved overhead and towards the North-North-East very rapidly, it took approx. 4 seconds from first sighting in the south-west horizon to disappearing in the northeast horizon. So my questions to you are... 1.Can satellites move that quickly? 2.Are there groups of satellites in formation orbiting the earth? 3.Would the satellites be in sunlight at 10:45 pm or in shadow? 4.Is it possible that maybe a meteor broke up or chunks of ice can skirt very close to the earth, not enter the atmosphere(i.e.not produce trails) and still be seen reflecting sunlight back? (so far this is my best explanation) 5.Did anyone else see this? Organization: Stairway to Heaven BBS - +44-181-769-1740 - Host of UFONet Distribution: world Lines: 103 I have during recent weeks been attempting to document three entirely separate accounts of an encounter with a UFO. My sole purpose in attempting to document these accounts is to hopefully extract as much detail as possible and place each account in the public domain. The first summary account is appended herewith and I hope to finalise the remaining accounts shortly.

This reported encounter occurred just over 20 years ago now and whilst it is an historical account, it is no less relevant. Indeed, it serves an important purpose in providing a reference to a craft which at that time reportedly exhibited characteristics similar to those attributed to triangular shaped craft in more recent times. I have summarised this account using only the verbatim testimony of the witness and have their confirmation that this summary it is an accurate record of events. This is for the public record: [START] I had a UFO sighting at approximately 9:30 p.m., in September of 1974. I was riding in a car with two other people going down I 5, south from San Francisco. At about 250 miles north of LA, I saw two huge floodlights on the side of the car. When we passed by the object we could see it very clearly. It was about as wide as three cars and it was much longer. It had a stingray shape (it was shaped like a stingray fish). It was round in front, it had protrusions on each side (like small wings) and came to a rounded point in the back. I did see the size of the craft. I think it was about 40 feet long and 30 feet deep, about as high as a two story building.
It was dark and the color was hard to see but I think the color was a metallic grey or black. It had a blue light on one side and a green light on the other side. It was a long time ago, so I could be wrong, but I think the green light was on the right and the blue light was on the left. The lights were on each side at the farthest point on each side.
They were at the end of the "wings" on the sides of the craft. The floodlights were right on front of the craft, similar to headlights but brighter than daylight and brighter than any light I've ever seen. They were brighter than high intensity mercury vapour lights which are used to light up football fields at night. They were approximately one fourth to one eighth the size of the front of the craft, similar to the size of headlights on a car. They were on all the time. It was hovering above the ground at about three feet. We immediately pulled the car over and got out. There was no wind and absolutely no sound. Then, it slowly rose up and floated over the two lane freeway and paused very still on the other side before taking off. I saw the underside of the craft but it was dark so I didn't see details. I do know that I did not see any wheels or landing gear. I was looking specifically for that because I couldn't figure out how the craft was suspended without any moving parts. When I looked to see what was holding it up, I was astonished to find that nothing was holding it up and it was not touching the ground. There were no lights visible underneath the craft. When the vehicle went over the freeway, it had been in a stationary position. It paused about 5 seconds and took off at an accelerated rate, which was instantaneous. I mean, it was like going hundreds of miles an hour in one second, with no acceleration time. It travelled straight at about 30 or 40 feet off the ground and then it went up into the sky and disappeared. The craft made no discernable noise at all, even when it took off. It had two red lights on the back, they were smaller in comparison to the other lights. When it took off, it did so at lightning speed and was gone in 3 seconds. I've never known anyone else who has seen anything like this. Kathy. [END] Cheers, James.

"CYLINDRICAL MASS" UFO REPORTED BY MICHIGAN STATE POLICE

Reported by Hildebrand Communications, Inc. for United Press International

December 22, 1994 Kingsley, Michigan, December 21, 1994 (UPI) - A Michigan State Trooper responding to a woman's UFO report Wednesday confirmed seeing "a cylindrical mass, with a large amount of individual lights." A 5-minute videotape shot by the woman and broadcast on local television provided additional evidence that something was indeed out there, police said. "This one is apparently a valid report," said one of the trooper's superiors, State Police Sgt. Bill Sholten. "He is credible. I saw the tape and there was definitely something out there," Sholten said. The trooper, who asked not to be identified because he doesn't want publicity, reported seeing three military jets in the area while the UFO was near. His report also noted that after the siting, a request for information was turned down by the U. S. Air Force for unknown reasons. A Regional Air Traffic Control Center in Minnesota reported spotting something on radar screens to support the report. A woman who lives on a farm near Kingsley said she saw the object hovering above her barn at 6:30 am EST, December 21st. She called police about an hour later and the trooper arrived at about 7:45 a.m. The trooper watched the UFO through binoculars until it disappeared about 20 minutes later. The woman, who got a closer look at the UFO, described the object as about three times larger than her barn, or some 60 feet in diameter. She also said it had white and blue lights and what appeared to be a haze surrounding it. Sholten said the woman told police she saw a similar UFO on Thanksgiving, but didn't tell anyone "because she was afraid everyone would think she was nuts." [Thanks to Sheldon Wernikoff for these additional details] WJBK-TV, Detroit's Fox affiliate, reported the incident on the 7:00am news broadcast of December 23, 1994. The following is based on WJBK's story. Eyewitnesses said they saw "pulsating, hovering lights in the sky" and a "cylindrical mass with a large number of individual lights that appeared to be connected by softer light running between them." The lights remained visible for 90 minutes. The object was seen early in the morning of Dec. 21 by Tracy Shayda, who said it was hovering over her house. She called her neighbor, who shot a video of the object. Michigan state trooper Glenn Guldner watched the object for about 20 minutes. He stated, "I really don't know, for sure, what it was. I've been on several 'lights in the skies' complaints, usually ends up being an airplane, Northern lights or something like that, but this is the first time I've actually seen an object in the daylight." Of Shayda's report, the trooper went on to say, "She thought for sure everyone would think she was nuts. Prior to my getting there, the object was a lot closer. It came to within treetop height of her house." In October, about fifteen miles northwest of the Kingsley area, two other people saw an object in the sky which they reported to police. Their description was similar to the object sighted in Kingsley.

MICHIGAN UFO MIGHT BE JUPITER -- OR MIGHT NOT BE Based on a story from the Traverse City (Michigan) Record-Eagle of Dec 23, 1994. CNI News thanks Sheldon Wernikoff for this story. The mysterious object seen in the sky on Wednesday morning, December 21 over Kingsley, Michigan (reported previously in CNI News) could have been a planet, a Northwestern Michigan College astronomy instructor said Thursday. "If I were forced to bet, I'd bet it was Jupiter," said Dick Cookman, after viewing a videotape of the object. "But it would be a cautious bet." Kingsley resident Tracey Cejda reported seeing an object Wednesday when she let her dogs out at 6:30 am. A neighbor, Michael Stelter, caught the image on video. State police Trooper Glenn Guldner arrived at Cejda's house sometime after 7:30 am and observed the image, assisted by binoculars, for 20 minutes. Cookman, after studying Stelter's video, said there are some aspects to the case that support the Jupiter theory and some aspects that don't. On Wednesday morning at 6:30 am, Jupiter would have been three degrees above the horizon in the southeastern sky. By 7:30 am, it would have risen to 11-1/2 degrees above the horizon. That could explain why the object appeared to be at treetop level when Dejda first saw it and why it appeared higher in the sky by the time Guldner arrived. Also, when planets appear low on the horizon they can appear to change color, to twinkle, and to move, he said. Those effects are caused by light refraction, especially when there is a lot of humidity in the air. In fact, for the last several decades, reports of UFO sightings rise whenever a planet is low on the horizon, Cookman said. However, Cookman was surprised at how large the object appeared on the videotape. With an image that large, he would have expected to see some detail that did not appear, such as the bands of the planet and the four of its moons that are visible to the naked eye. "But that could just be because of a blurred image," Cookman said. Cedja and Guldner remained convinced Thursday that they had not watched a planet. When Cedja first saw the object, it appeared to be three times as large as her barn. She said a range of emotions ran through her, including both fright and excitement. Guldner also said Thursday he was sure it wasn't a planet he saw. Stelter was out of town Thursday and could not be reached for comment. Guldner noted in his police report that three military-type jets flew past the object and that the lights on the object went out as the jets passed by. He said Thursday afternoon he had not yet tried to identify the jets. They were not military jets from anywhere in Michigan or from a base in Toledo, Ohio, said Major Jerold Foehl, public affairs officer at Camp Grayling. Foehl checked with those bases Thursday and learned they had no jets in the air Wednesday morning.

There has been a recent rash of sightings in Western and Northwestern Michigan in the past four months. It seems as if something major is transpiring. I called the parties involved in the sightings myself, and I spoke with the Michigan State trooper who also witnessed one of the events. I can honestly say that these people are very credible, and very sure that what they saw was nothing they had ever seen before in their lives. I asked all of them if the sighting could have been planet Venus, or maybe a helicopter or airplane, and their reaction was definitely very clear - that they witnessed some type of manufactured craft (either made by US government or extraterrestrial beings) that could not possibly be mistaken for a planet or natural phenomena. But you can read the police reports yourself and make your own decision. Eric I WILL NOT GIVE THE NAMES, ADDRESSES, and PHONE NUMBERS OF THE COMPLAINANTS. I WISH TO RESPECT THEIR PRIVACY. ORIGINAL INCIDENT REPORT October 12, 1994 Time Received 7:00PM Work Unit - Traverse City Post County - Grand Traverse Incident No. 71-3183-94 File Class 9800-7 Incident Status - (5) Closed Nature of Incident: Reports a suspicious situation, spotted a U.F.O. INFORMATION: Complainant called to report that on Monday, Oct. 10, at 8:15pm he and two friends were on their way into Traverse City from Lake Ann area when they spotted a tri-angle shaped object in the sky to the South of them. He said they were on N. Long Lake Rd. in the vicinity of Straight Rd. and the object was off to the Southeast. The driver, (name withheld), age 22 stopped the pickup truck and all three got out to get a closer look. As they got out and watched the object, it sped off from it's hovering position in a lift off angle similar to a helicopter. Complainant checked with the Traverse City FAA Tower to see if any such plane or balloon was in the area at that time of night, but the man at FAA said he was too busy to talk about such a thing and hung up. INTERVIEW DRIVER OF VEHICLE: Undersigned officer talked to (name withheld), who was the driver of the pickup truck that evening, and she related that she wasn't able to get a good look at the object as she was watching the road. She did stop and within moments of them getting out to see it hovering over the corn field it sped off. The other passenger (name withheld), age 16 wasn't available to comment. OBJECT IN THE SKY (U.F.O): The object was described as tri-angle shaped object with the lower or bottom having blue lights emitting from it and shining downward. At the peak of the object it had a red beacon light. The strangest thing that (names withheld) both said about the object was that it lifted off without any roar or sound of any kind. STATUS: CLOSED

ORIGINAL INCIDENT REPORT December 21, 1994 Time Received 7:30AM Work Unit - Traverse City Post County - Grand Traverse Incident No. 071-4044-94 File Class 9900-9 Incident Status - (5) Closed NATURE OF INCIDENT: Suspicious situation - UFO LOCATION/TIME: location is above address located in sec. 28 of Paradise Twp., Grand Traverse Co., object was first observed at aprox. 6:30am date. CONTACT COMPLAINANT: undersigned met with comp. at the above location and was informed that the object was still visible. Officer went with comp. to her back porch and was pointed out a bright light in the sky, time was approx. 7:45am, clear skies. Upon looking at the light with binoculars, a cylindrical mass, possible gray in color was observed. On the underside of the object a large amount of individual lights

were seen that appeared to be connected by a softer light running between them. At this time the officer asked comp. if she had a video camera. It was learned that she had just purchased one, however did not know how to work it, she advised that she called her neighbor, (name and address withheld) and he had been video taping the event. Undersigned watched the object for approx. 20 minutes before it appeared to get further and further away. Object could still be seen when officer left the area. During this time it was noted that the object did not just stay level it could be observed rotating back and forth and at several times tipped vertically and then back down. Another smaller bright object could be seen just to the east of the larger object, however no shape or color could be seen just a bright light. INTERVIEW COMP: it was learned that at approx. 6:30am comp. opened the door to let her dogs out when she first observed something in the sky, as she watched it it appeared to fall straight down to a height of just over the tree tops near her storage barn. When asked about the size she advised that it was approx. 3 times the size of her barn (approx 60 ft. in diameter). She stated that she observed the white and blue lights at this time and there appeared to be a haze around it. Comp. stated that she stuck her head outside and was surprised that she heard no sound coming from the object. At approx. 7:00am she called her neighbor listed above and requested that he video tape the events. Comp. stated that around Thanksgiving time she observed another event from her home. She stated that the object was further away and higher up than this time, however, she could still make out the lights, she stated that she did not call that time as she was afraid everyone would think she was nuts. CONTACT (NAME WITHHELD): Undersigned contacted (name withheld) and learned that he had video taped the events. He stated that (name withheld) had called at approx. 7:00am and told him about the object and requested that he tape it. He got up and got dressed, went out on the porch and started taping it. (name withheld) stated that it was well up in the air when he first saw it and started taping. (name withheld) gave undersigned the tape to make copies of, the original to be returned to him. ADDITIONAL OBSERVATIONS: It should be noted that at approx. 7:50am three military type aircraft flew through the area, as each aircraft approached the object the lights went off and then back on as the plane passed. CONTACT MINN. AIR TRAFFIC CONTROL CENTER: a check was made and learned that during peace time they do not have a man watching the consol at all times. It was learned that the three aircraft described above were picked up on the radar, however, they were transponding signals which helps the radar pick it up. It was learned that on object in the air that was not sending out signals would be hard to be noted. ADDITIONAL COMP: 71-3183-94 taken 10-12-94 attached STATUS: closed SUPPLEMENTAL INCIDENT REPORT: Incident Number: 071-4044-94 Supplemental Date: 1-10-95 Original Date: 12-21-1994 File Class: 9900-0 INFORMATION: this comp. is re-opened to clear up confusion on the ownership of the video tape. DISPOSITION of the VIDEO TAPE: on 12-21-94 undersigned brought the original tape to the post to make a copy for the National UFO Reporting Center. While at the post TV9&10 took pictures of the tape as it was playing on the VCR. The original tape was taken back to the comp. as per prior arrangements with the owner of the tape. The copy is being sent to the National UFO Reporting Center in Seattle, Wash. ----- End included text ----- From alt.ufo.reports Sun Apr 30 11:59:18 1995 Newsgroups: alt.ufo.reports From: David@holodeck.demon.co.uk (David Somen) Path: canopus.cc.umanitoba.ca!tribune.usask.ca!news.sasknet.sk.ca!rover.ucs.ualberta.ca!news.bc.net!vanbc.wimsey.com!news.mindlink.net!agate!sunsite.doc.ic.ac.uk!doc.news.pipex.net!pipex!demon!news.demon.co.uk!holodeck.demon.co.uk!David Subject:

----- The Following Article appeared in; The Brisbane Sunday Mail, April 30, 1995, page 10.

UFO SIGHTED OVER BRISBANE A MYSTERIOUS egg-shaped, bright orange light has been seen in the sky over Brisbane and Canberra only days after similar sightings over Adelaide and Melbourne. UFO hotline operator Ross Dowe last night said up to 12 people called the UFO Hotline, which monitors reports of unidentified flying objects, to report the new sightings. He said three callers reported seeing an egg-shaped object with a gold and orange-yellow hue in the area of Karana Downs, west of Brisbane, just after 9pm on Friday. "This was similar to the ones reported in Adelaide, it was high up and moving across the sky," Mr Dowe said. Warren Wex, a private investigator who saw the object, said even though it was near Amberley RAAF Base, the object made no noise. "I've seen a lot of things, but I've never seen anything like this before," Mr Wex said. "There were no flashing navigational lights, nothing like that, it was just producing that strange orange glow." He said the egg-shaped light came from the north, travelled across the sky, then disappeared suddenly and became a series of dots. About an hour later the Hotline received seven calls from people saying they had seen a similar bright orange light hovering over Canberra. UFO Hotline operator Ross Dowe said sightings so close together in time but far apart in distance could not easily be a hoax. ----- end of article This

 Strange Ghostly Balloon Thought to be UFO Rptr: Ferguson C MacCleod ~Date: 28/04/95 Denny has recently become one of the world's 'hot spots' for UFO and paranormal activity, which has brought several inter- nationally known UFO researchers and two television crews to the small Central Region town. However, even a cursory glance into the earlier and more rec- ent history of the country town will show an amazing story of UFO sightings, crop circles, and ghost sightings. The current story centres around a local forester and farmer, James X, who apparently encountered a 'large metallic balloon with lights' in a small clearing in the woods to the north of the town. 'It was rotating and seemed out of focus, as if I was seeing a mirage. But it was no mirage: My face and upper body still show the burns it gave me'
 And indeed, on being found face down by local children, and subsequently examined by a police surgeon, the burns on Mr Xs body were 'consistent with a very bad sunburn, or exposure to high intensity UV light'. The sun in this part of Scotland is not sufficient to have caused this. A few observers have pointed out that he may have been seeing the virtual image of a far-off sun or planet, focussed by some strange arrangement of gravity lenses, but this is not held to to a probably description. So, silent, rotating ballons in rural Scotland? UFOs? END issue of the "MUFON UFO JOURNAL" entitled "Vista, California Flap" by Marie Jones and Laura Miller (pp7-8) there has been a wave of UFO sightings in Vista, California, USA beginning in October of 1994 and continuing until, at least, last month. A summary of the sightings related in the article include: a sighting by a housewife of "a triangular shaped configuration of red and bright yellow lights" on 11/22/94; Multiple sightings of "a metallic disk-shaped craft.....reported to have a number of white lights that appeared to cover the underside"; a videotaped sighting of "a slowly moving, soundless....bright yellow-gold ball of light that appeared to dim and pulsate"; Sighting of "a trapezoid-shaped series of six red lights; and a four hour sighting of "a huge, helmet-shaped object, about the size of a house, that ejected approximately sixty 'shooting star-like objects". Apparently the sightings have continued through March of 1995 and have often coincided with "skyquakes" (a recent Southern California phenomena, similar to small earthquakes, that have baffled local weathermen, scientists, and military officials). These, and more recent sightings, are all under investigation. 40's) and have no reason to doubt that the events took place as described to me.

Although not shown on this CIRVIS report (and I don't think this was reported to the authorities), the pilot had two sightings on consecutive nights, and on one night saw two separate objects ... the one which dived to the ground, and another at an altitude of approx 30,000 feet. The objects had lights which appeared to be pulsating in response to each other. He lost sight of the one on the ground and the object at 30,000 feet shot across the sky at high speed and disappeared. In addition, during one of the sightings the pilot experienced "time distortion" (as he put it) for a period he feels lasted about 15 minutes.

Subject: UFO over Luke Air Force Base in AZ
Date: Wed, 17 May 1995 05:22:42 MST

Tuesday May 9th 2 unidentified objects were seen by 4 people heading south on Highway 85 in Arizona. They were, during the whole event about 20 miles, at the beginning, to 16 miles, at the end, away from Gila Bend and the northern border of Luke Air Force Boming and Gunnery Range. A restricted area.

The two lights were seen between 8 and 9, the Video Tape clearly shows that it was dusk. The horizon and other features are clearly seen. The original footage was shot on Hi-8 video. But always from inside a moving car. They appeared like this

It is impossible at this time to judge the distance of these object that are described as very bright and quite large.

The Video clearly shows that these objects are in the distance and not some windshield reflection. This is due to the fact that these 2 objects appear behind signs on the road, trees, and telephone posts. Using these signs we can determine the place that these objects were seen at.

The witness describe these objects 'fading out' and were gone for a short time. During the interval, UFO discussion can be heard on the audio portion of the tape. A short while later (still working out exact timing) they fade back in.

None of the fades in or out were recorded on video.

This 2nd part show a darker sky, though still dusk like. They appear just a little to the right of the road, much in the same position as the first part of the video shows.

May 9th 1995 2 UFOs were reported over Gila Bend and Luke Air Force Base in Airizona. These 2 objects were video taped from a moving car, wich is both unfortunate and fortunate at the same time.

The video clearly shows these 2 objects to be well away from the people observing them, as described in the previous post.

I believe that the video, which is in the process of being analyzed will show that there were no towers holding these lights up in the air. One witness felt, stated on the tape during the first encouter, that the lights were only towers. (no fades were recorded on video, the person with the camers was only in town for 10 days, and being a film editor, meaning not used to productions and on set work, of which I make fun of him about, he forgot his battery recharger, so he was trying to use 1 battery for 10 days, thus the reason why he pauses the camera before any fades are recorded)

So when the lights fade back in is when the car really came a buzz with thought of what these could be.

The 2 objects were, by the video, nearly motionless. One witness during the taping says that an object moved. At this time we can not tell if that is true.

The object on the right seemed to be a little higher than the one on the left during the first part of the tape. During the second part of the tape they seem to be more even altitude wise. This may be due to the fact that they moved closer to the objects.

The lights by one witness account, 'could of been very big',. Because to them in the car they seemed not to gain od ground on them. This is not to say they were moving. The objects recorded during part one are quite bright, as bright as distant headlights, but these objects were not headlights. They were too far off the ground. (we are hoping to get the needed distances and altitude from people who are more capable of finding this info)

More speculation is following later.

Needless to say, the person taping this event, has been transformed, so to speak. He is very excited about this event. We are releasing this tape to all local media, and hopefully will appear soon on a local public access channel dedicated to UFOs.

I am having trouble sending to alt.visitors.aliens and Alt paranet.ufo and other interested newsgroups. I am writing this report of the new crop circle season (1995) for my friend Stuart Dike. He has visited several formations so far.

- 1/ A crescent design formation appeared last week at West Overton, near Avebury, Wiltshire, UK. In oil seed rape. It was 50 feet in length. The map is Ordnance survey 185, reference 131667.
- 2/ A double ringed circle appeared at New Haven, Sussex, UK. In oil seed rape. More details will follow....
- 3/ A 1990 style pictogram (keys boxes etc) appeared at Overton, Near Basingstoke, UK in oil seed rape. More details will follow:
- 4/ Another crescent design appeared at Danebury ring (South of Andover), UK. in oil seed rape. More details will follow later.

Last week Portland's KATU-Channel 2 (ABC affiliate) aired Town Hall, a local TV talk show.

Their topic: UFO Sightings in Imnaha, Oregon

 They split the audience (difficult) into skeptics and believers.

 The witnesses testimony was so convincing that the skeptics wilted. The only skeptic that spoke was a befuddled professor of anthropology who made very little sense to anybody.

 Across the state at Imnaha, the remote TV crew connected with the studio in Portland and there of course developed a friendly reparte between the rural folks and the city slickers.

 After all was said and done, the TV program was very well put together. The Portland audience and a large part of Oregon was treated to face-to-face eye witness testimony by several of the rural cousins. The following report takes up half of the front page of this week's Wallowa County Chieftain, a usually conservative Eastern Oregon newspaper, and gives credence to the sincere stories of their community members.

 Please send some comments that I can forward to the writers, editors, and witnesses. They would appreciate knowing where their stories may have reached.

Alleged Imnaha UFO sightings corroborated
by other witnesses in television program

By Rick Swart
and Barbara Kriley
of the Wallowa County Chieftain Enterprise, Oregon

 An alleged sighting of an unidentified flying object (UFO) reported in March by Diane and Bryan Baquet, was corroborated by eight other witnesses 1 week during a telecast broadcast from the town of Imnaha.

 The testimony of these witnesses was captured on video Tuesday by television KATU, the ABC affiliate in Portland, which sent a five-person crew to Imnaha to investigate the Baquets' claim.

About 50 people crammed into the Imnaha Store and Tavern to participate in KATU's "Town Hall" program, which also involved a studio audience in Portland. The T.V. station also conducted separate interviews for a series of news reports broadcast this week.

In addition to the Baquets, alleged UFO sightings and/or evidence of possible UFOs were reported by D.J. Januzzi, Don Swart, Jr., Trudy Jett, Norman and Arlene Lovell, Heather Tanzey, and Amanda and Jackie Hagan.

The Baquets claim to have watched a spectacular light show above their house along the lower Imnaha River for about an hour on March 26. Trudy Jett, a United Parcel Service (UPS) driver from Joseph, says she witnessed a similar event about a week before Baquets reported their experience.

Jett told reporters that she was returning to Joseph from Imnaha in her new UPS truck when she noticed a bright red light in the rear view mirror. She said at first she thought it may have been the reflection of a tail light but upon closer inspection found that there were no red lights on the side of the truck that could be causing such a reflection.

"Then I realized it was, like, following me," she said, adding, "Then it turned from bright red into the most brilliant orange that I've ever seen." Jett said the light then streaked away with lightning speed. "I am certain it was a UFO," Jett said. "No one on this earth can make something move as fast as a UFO."

Swart reported that he, too, saw strange lights above Little Sheep Creek Canyon on the way to Imnaha at approximately 4:30 a.m. on March 31. Swart, who was headed to Cow Creek to go fishing, said at first he thought he was seeing the morning star, but as the light grew brighter he stopped at the top of Sheep Creek hill and looked at the image through his binoculars.

"It looked like a helicopter, only with two tails and no rotors," said Swart, who estimated that the image was about a mile away. He said he did not hear any sounds coming from the object.

"Whatever it was, it was something I couldn't explain," Swart said. The following Wednesday Swart said he was driving north on Hwy. 3 between 8:30 and 9 p.m. when he noticed two dim lights behind him. He said when he was about a mile out of Enterprise he slowed down to 20 m.p.h. and turned around in his seat to take a better look, and could see the lights maintaining a constant distance behind him. Even when he sped up, the lights maintained their distance. Swart said he thought someone was "messaging" with him, so he doubled back at the intersection of Hwy. 3 and Leep Road to see who it was. On the way back to town he never met a vehicle. By the time he reached the state gravel pit the lights were behind him again and followed him almost to the Enterprise city limits, then disappeared.

Amanda and Jackie Hagan said that about a month ago they were walking home -- about a block north of Imnaha's Main Street -- at dusk when they saw a big, bright pink light streaking toward them from Joseph. The girls said there was no sound associated with the light, which turned from pink to purple to blue as it streaked over the canyon walls toward Hells Canyon.

Heather Tanzey reported that last fall she was staying with her grandparents, Ken and Pat Stein, at their place about six miles downstream from Imnaha when she saw "a saucer like thing, with blue, red, yellow and green lights going around on it."

The Lovells reported that three years ago they were on a flat above the Imnaha on their property at Indian Creek when they found two perfect circles, 2 1/2 feet wide and 25 feet in diameter. Norman Lovell the grass in the circles looked like it had been eaten to the ground, although there were no livestock in the area at the time, and the grass eventually grew back.

"It looked round to me, so I measured it," Lovell said. "It was a perfect circle, and there were no cattle in there."

Januzzi said he saw what he believes was a UFO in broad daylight on his uncle's Imnaha ranch about 15 years ago. He said he was riding around on his motor scooter when he stopped at what the family referred to as Big Canyon, a few miles upriver from Imnaha. Near the bottom of the canyon he spotted a silvery craft hovering above the trees. A split second later, he said, the craft shot up over the canyon wall and disappeared. He said he was terrified by the experience and reported reported what he had seen to his relatives and other people at Imnaha but nobody believed him.

Fred Casady, a phone company technician from Enterprise, said he was working as a civilian at an American Air Defense Command installation near Coos Bay, Ore., during the '60s when UFOs were spotted frequently on the government's Sage radar system.

"A blip came on the screen, and as soon as our jets' radar hit them they took off at a right angle and went off the screen at about mock three," said Casady.

"There was a lot of excitement and heavy security ...and they told us to keep quiet about it," he said.

Others who participated in the "Town Hall" segment included Peter Davenport, director of the National UFO Reporting Center in Seattle, who said his organization often receives up to 50 alleged UFO sightings a day, Tom Hanna, NASA's Pacific Northwest representative, Dr. Eva Starmack, a Portland area psychologist who believes in UFOs, and Jim Doerter of Ashland, who claims to have witnessed a dramatic encounter with a UFO when he was working on a Forest Service lookout tower.

Hi there. With regards to your reports, after examining 1) the crescent thing at West Overton. It's actually two circles, one with a crescent in it and the other with a sort of four pronged spiral effect radiating out from the middle. It looks better from the air from the ground. On the ground it's terrible - broken stems everywhere. My verdict is a hoax.

I didn't know about the one at New Haven, Sussex. Thanks for the info.

The one at Overton near Basingstoke is reported to be the best one so far this year - although I haven't visited it. A couple of friends of mine went to it last Friday and reported it to be all messed up and terrible. The previous week, it was said to be very good, so perhaps someone vandalised it during the week.

The one south of Andover, I think is also a hoax. Again, it's not very good quality.

Another formation appeared last week in the field between East Field and Woodborough Hill (in Alton Barnes). It appears to be a circle with a ring round it - again not very good - possible a hoax by the same person who did the one at West Overton. We think we know who made it, but I can't say on here (libel etc etc), so we're now watching the suspect.

Last Sunday (21st May) we also spotted a white G reg Ford Escort van parked alongside East Field in Alton Barnes. It was there for at least two hours and contained two males (approx early 20s). After two hours or so, curiosity got the better of us so we decided to go and check them out. When we got down to where they were parked, they drove off at speed (after we had caught them on video, I hasten to add). Driving a reasonably nippy car myself, I decided to follow them (as they only had a van). I followed them as far as Lockeridge and then decided to give up. At some points I was touching 70mph - anyone who knows the road from Alton Barnes to West Overton will know that this is quite a speed. They obviously didn't want us to follow them.

Possibly a wild goose chase, but still rather suspicious. We've now given the details to observers based in Alton Barnes, so we'll know if the van re-appears.

Green UFOS over Toronto Airport?

Here's a sound byte I picked up from Toronto Canada radio station 680 June 10 at 5:00 pm.

~Date: June 09 1995
Time: Evening (time not given) Place: Pearson International Airport

Description:

Multiple UFOs (green colored lights) were reported at Pearson International Airport. The lights were seen to move vertically as well as traversing the sky. Multiple witnesses observed lights performing unusual maneuvers, non-conventional near an airport. Radio report said this material was to appear in the Toronto Sun daily newspaper.

Followup:

Called the SUN and editorial department said the item was on page 16 in the SUN Flashes column. Purchased said paper, did not find it. (Perhaps the wrong edition?)

Called Pearson International Airport. They would neither confirm or deny the report. I was given a number in Ottawa that turned out to be Department of National Defence. I called that number and was told that no reports of the incident had been reported to them.

Will report back if I can find out more.

Yup, thats right, a sighting in TO. I just heard this briefly on the radio this morning (about 7:10 am, CFRB), so all of my details are going to be kind of iffy.

Apparently, at about 9:45 pm, Friday June 9, 1995 a UFO was sighted over Toronto Canada. The object was an orange/red light that appeared for a few seconds, streaked erratically through the sky, and seemed to disappear skyward. This object was apparently sighted by a number of people who then reported this to a local radio station (I think, and BTW, CFRB is Canada's largest station). Apparently a witness called Glen Crauter (spelled right) and told their story, and shortly afterwards, a few more callers phoned in to confirm this.

The object has been explained by the scientific community as probably being a meteorite about 1 foot in diameter. This would account for it's speed and colour, however NOT it's erratic side to side movement.

On 95-01-29 at approximately 7 p.m. I was heading east on my grid near my farm. As we were driving home I noticed a flying object just to the south of the grid. It was travelling in a north by northeast direction. It was travelling very slowly for a flying object. The object then proceeded in the direction at approximately 50 mph. This is very slow for a plane to be travelling and it was only about 300 to 400 feet above the ground. The object was flying over my uncle's cattle. The object was followed by us and then it made a quick northwest direction turn. The object continued to fly in that direction, but the turn was similar to a 45 degree angle. This object flew off in this direction. I figure we got to within about one mile away from it before it took off in the opposite direction. I've never seen a plane do that sort of turn before and I don't believe it could unless it flared up and this object didn't flare up and turn. It is possible it could be a gyrocopter or a helicopter, but the turn it made was too sharp for a copter, I feel.

Q. When/where exactly did you see this object?

A. One mile southeast of my farm on 95-01-29 at 7 p.m. We followed it east on my grid one mile and we stopped and watched it. The object would have crossed the grid I was on, right where I was sitting when I decided to watch the object. The object then continued northeast for about one mile and then it made its sharp turn and continued northwest.

Q. How long did you see this object?

A. About five minutes.

Q. Can you give me a description of the object?

A. No, not really. It had red lights, blue lights and white lights.

Q. How many lights would it have had?

A. Six for sure, two of each. The blue lights were flashing irregularly.

Q. How bright was the light?

A. Just like regular aircraft lights.

Q. Any shape of the object?

A. No, that's the bad part.

Q. How many objects?

A. One.

Q. Altitude of the object was?

A. About 200 metres.

Q. What color was the object?

A. I couldn't make it out.

Q. Did it make any sound?

A. I never opened a window and it was too windy.

Q. What was the condition of the sky?

A. It was clear, but it was at dusk so we couldn't see stars yet.

Q. Who all saw the object?

A. My wife #####, my children. Also of course myself.

Q. Anything else that stuck out about this object?

A. We don't get many planes that low at that time of day in this area.

Also, the unusual turn that this object made. It was like a 45 degree angle from northeast to northwest.

Subject: Toronto UFO update

Date: 16 Jun 1995 01:35:16 -0400

Ok, here' the Toronto UFO update so far as I can piece it together...

First the TO SUN clipping (not edited except for my spelling mistakes)

- SKY SHOW - Streaker has folks freaking -
by; Wendy Levant and Andrea Schaffeler

The X-files was still beaming out of TV screens across Metro on Friday night when a flash in the sky startled Deyberth Rivera, 14, and Kristen Little, 12.

But they weren't the only ones who caught sight of an unidentified flying object about 9:45 p.m.

Sun reporter Joe Warmington was on the 401 headed for Kingston when he saw a green streak hurtling across the sky.

"It moved extremely fast and looked like something with a tail," Warmington said.

"I have never seen anything like it, " said Barb Rushworth, who was staying at Lake Loughborough, near Kingston. "It was so big and looked like it was going to land in the lake."

- "Spectacular Flash" -

Norm Crawford, 33, a TTC Driver, also saw "a pretty spectacular flash" in the sky.

"It's definitely something I've never seen before," he said, describing the bright white flash he saw about the same time at Victoria Park and Laurance.

Rivera, who saw the strange object from his balcony at Laurance and Orton Rd., said: "All of a sudden I saw an orange light coming out of the sky at an angle going down. Suddenly it took a sharp turn, went straight up, swung back and fizzled out of the sky."

But the Canadian Forces Base in Trenton didn't seem too alarmed. Capt. Yvon LaRose said it was likely just a meteorite.

Robert Garrison, a professor of astronomy at University of Toronto, agreed with LaRose's assessment. "The described observations are consistent with that of a meteorite, " Garrison said, although he didn't know what to make of the gyrations.

"A piece of rock the size of my fist could have created a fireball, and it would have appeared greenish or orangish."

He described the occurrence as very common.

Sorry about the article, but I don't think the Sun will ever win a prize for literary achievement :)

Anyhow, it would seem that the ball was either green, orange or both (changing colour?), and seemed to move around up and down while traversing the sky from one point to another before either a) fizzling out, or b) leaving the atmosphere.

Also, there seems to be quite an amount of witnesses for this one.

So, untill the objects verticle movements are explained this one remains in the UFO category.

I think the TO chapter of MUFON should be informed so they can get an investigator looking into it.

Also, there seems to have been a similar sighting in California a little while back, as there seems to be some talk of that here too.

Crop Circle Update 16th June 1995

Location : Westbury White Horse
Date Formed : 10-11th June 1995
Crop : Barley

This report is by Stuart Dike
The formation is located below Bratton Castle passed the Westbury White Horse running parallel with the road.
The formation consists of a small centre circle (clockwise) with eight concentric rings surrounding it. At certain points on each ring a small circle was placed. The lay on each ring is running clockwise with overlapping stalks. The crop was flowing out to the edges. Unfortunately the crop is now starting to recover and a number of people have already been in to see it. The small circles placed on the rings were also running clockwise.
It was very difficult to tell whether there were many broken stems when it was formed, but I would guess that the lay was very neat. Some of the circles on the rings didn't have defined centres to them, they has a splayed appearance fanning out to the edges.

DANBURY RING, NR ANDOVER, HAMPSHIRE.
CROP. YOUNG BARLEY. 3FT HIGH.

A large formation has appeared below the ancient hillfort Danbury Ring.

It,s based on the Scorpion designs of last year incorporating a petal shape with decreasing circles around a large ring. According to our sources it's extremely large and very impressive from the air. The formation is atleast a week old, which means that the crop is probably recovering, but it,s only 3ft high which is really short for this time of year.

Please note that this report is very rough, and will be updated as soon as we have visited the formation ourselves. Photographs will be available in the near future.

Further to my report of the orange light over Sydney, Australia on the 6th, I contacted the local Airport

Control Tower at Mascot Airport, They were unable (or unwilling?) to give me any further information pertaining to whatever it was that I sighted. The object was following a southerly course on what appeared to be from magnetic north to magnetic south, was bright ornage in colour, appeared to be at not too high an altitude though it is very hard to tell. As it passed overhead, no sound could be heard, and except for the very bright light, it had no decernable physical characteristics other than being an orange globe moving slightly faster than the average aircraft.

A Wolvey woman believes she may have seen an unidentified flying object as she was on her way home from work. Driving through Nuneaton towards Wolvey, the woman began to realise that the object she first saw as being the moon, was actually moving closer towards her.

She explained: "As the object came closer I could see that it was bright, bright orange with a black line through the middle of it."

"It was oval shaped and, from what I could see, was about as big as a house. It was moving over the fields. It was there the whole time."

"I was being brave and thought I'd investigate but as I got closer I lost my bottle. I was really frightened actually, it was so weird."

The woman wanted to report the incident to a UFO society but was unable to. However, she is interested to find out whether anyone else sighted it.

Narrative: While backpacking between Miller Peak and Montazuma Pass, my family (wife and two daughters) observed two delta shaped objects flying 360's above Miller Peak. Miller Peak is at 9466 feet. We estimate that the objects were at 15 - 17000 feet. We heard no noise that would be associated with any air-breather propulsion system.

The objects appeared to be working in tandem, about 800 - 1000 feet apart from each other, at about the same altitude. We observed them doing 360's for about 20 minutes. The first one faded from view into some clouds. The second one was observed departing north at the same altitude. We watched the second one flying north for about 3 minutes before it disappeared. (It did not disappear in the sense of gone, it just was not observable with the naked eye.)

UAV's are produced by TRW in the city of Sierra Vista, which is at the base of the Huachuca Mountains. None of the UAV's that I know of, Pioneer, Hunter or Predator have "delta shaped" wings.

Friends, A sighting report!
EVENT: Unidentified Flying Object sighting
DATE: June 19, 1995
TIME: 21:45 hrs. (9:45pm) PST
LOCATION OF VIEWER: San Rafael, (Terra Linda area), Marin County CA.
DIRECTION OF VIEWING: Directly South at about 30 degrees azimuth.
DESCRIPTION: I was outside enjoying the beautiful clear (& cool) night sky when my gaze came upon Jupiter. Mars was also visible below Jupiter, about 2/3 of the way down towards the horizon. Now draw a line between Jupiter and Mars, and go down the line 1/3 of the way to Mars from Jupiter. At that point, was another object, just slightly larger than Jupiter and about twice as bright. The object was stationary, as if hovering. I am fairly familiar with the night sky and immediately knew that the additional object between Jupiter and Mars was not normally there. My guesstimate of the proximity of the object would place it over the city (S.F), no nearer than the Golden Gate Bridge or further South than the S.F. Airport, relative to my viewpoint. After a 4 or 5 sec hover, the object began to slowly move upward towards Jupiter. At this point, I called to a nearby associate to join me outside, NOW! He came out in about 3 seconds, due to the tone of my voice, and continued to witness the rest of the phenomenon with me.

In the 3 seconds while I was waiting for my friend to arrive outside, the bright light/object continued to rise and accelerate at a 45 degree angle towards the South, which appeared as going directly away and up. By the time my friend had arrived the light had shrunk from slightly larger than Jupiter, to a RED DOT, about the size of Mars. Friends, this thing got small REAL quick! When it stopped climbing, it turned, without stopping, and I mean on a dime, to the East and continued to accelerate. At this point, the light/object was travelling perhaps 4 or 5 times faster than any satellite I have ever watched (sats. take about 5 minutes to go from horizon to horizon). The object continued East for about 4 or 5 seconds and then, again without stopping and on a dime, turned directly North and put the pedal to the metal. I was watching the whole event with and without the binoculars. Total time elapsed for the sighting was about 30 seconds. It left no vapor trail. It just quickly went way up, over and away. Once it turned North, it took about 10 seconds to disappear in the Northern sky.

Did anyone else see this?

I was out late one night at a local state park when I spotted a red light in the air. It was about two degrees off the horizon, which is tree covered. I figured it being after the fourth, someone was shooting off fireworks. But this was no firework. I've shot off many and well know what they look like. It took a full 30 seconds for the object to fall below the tree line. My next thought was it must of been some kind of flare. I know flares descend slowly, but this also moved a full 5 degrees or so across the horizon. I know the object was a mile away or farther, and given that there was little wind, I don't see how a flare could drift that far. The light was much too big for a plane's navigation lights. It was probably about 1/2" in diameter at arms length. Its brightness produce a very noticeable small translucent glow around it. This occurred in South West Ohio north of Cincinnati. I was at the Ceaser Creek spillway and it was around 10:45pm.

I'm just throwing this out to see if I can get a better explanation than a flare. That's my inclination, but the movement just doesn't quite match up what I would expect a flare to move like.

I don't know who reported this sighting, but i was involved in chasing it up today.(I work on an base which operates C130's.)

The request from a lady who was connected with BUFOS (Might be missing a few letters there) contacted the station reference the following report that she had received earlier today. (14 Jul 95)

" The person reporting lives in the Bristol area of the Uk.
At 2350 z on the 17 Jul 95, she was awoken from her bed by a formation of three c130's. She watched them flying low level (250' agl) in trailing formation heading SW towards the Bristol Channel. Whilst still in sight in the distance, a numberof lights appeared in the sky behind them. The objects appeared to be parachute shaped, but were illuminated at top and bottom. They also appeared to be hovering, and not moving in any direction. After a few minutes of being stationary,
the lights grew brighter, and the 'parachutes' climbed vertically out of sight. By this time, the formation of C130's were completely out of sight. She then returned to bed before reporting the incident in the morning. "

I can confirm the existance of the C130's in the area at the time, and the type of exercise they were conducting falls into the description of what the witness saw. (Obmitted from the above)

If anyone out there can help further with this sighting can they contact me directly, as well as posting it on alt.ufo.reports. Or if you have anything to do with the organisation who contacted me (BUFOS?) , i would like to be able to speak with you again (with

I do not subscribe to this group. If someone could tell me what we saw was, I'd appreciate it...

Tonight I went to a going away party for a co-worker at a local outdoor Restaurant/Bar. At about nine O'clock, Greg (another co-worker) looked up and asked, "What's that?" A few of us looked over and saw a series of red lights (about eight of them) unblinking moving very slowly across the sky. There was a white light (also unblinking) trailing behind. VERY weird. the formation was something like this:

    *
  *
*
*
  *
    *

The red lights curved something like a boomerang. There was absolutely no sound, There was a plane farther away and higher in the sky with the usual bright flashing light going in the opposite direction at a MUCH higher rate of speed. We were able to watch the series of lights move across the sky for about 2 minutes before they got too far away. It's hard to believe that it was a formation of aircraft -- if it was, we should have heard something... If it was a single aircraft it was HUGE! It was a strange sight...

First of all, I'm not on any drugs and don't drink alcohol. I only take aspirin and my vitamins. I saw something that may or may not be a UFO. I'm open to any suggestions.

This happened about a week ago. I was watching the stars about 12:30[et] and I noticed a rather big star. I was looking at it when I noticed two flashing objects right by it. Then I noticed they were, ever so slightly, moving up and down. At first they were satellites but then I noticed the one on the left. The once white light looked like light shining through a prism and then vanished. The one on the right then stood still. Then, after about a minute, it too vanished. At first I thought I was just staring at it too long and my eyes were playing tricks on me. But then the weirdest thing happened. I turned to my right for about five secs. and I turned back to my left. I looked at the big "star" that the two objects were surrounding and it was smaller my about 40 to 50%. My chin fell to the ground. Then it dissapeared.

Then it reapeared for 1 sec. about as small as a period(.) then it vanished completely.

If you have any other ideas, comments, or the over whelimg idea to throw me in a mental institution, please post a reply. Thanx in advance.

How about this one? Earlier this week, the flight crew for Aerolineas Argentinas and aviation officals on the ground observed a luminous object that approached the aircraft as it was about to land at Bariloche airport about 870 miles from Buenos Aires. Flight captain Jorge Polanco told reporters that all of the lights in and around the airport went out just as the object departed and he was about to land. Control tower personnel reported that all of their instruments started behaving strangely at about the same time. Ground observers said the UFO appeared to have shinning lights on its belly.

Subject: Diffuse disc: what was it?

On the night of 29 July 1995 (date and times local) my wife and I were walking on the ocean promenade beside the Melia hotel in Alicante (38.343N , 0.480W by my Garmin 40 GPS set). At 21:24 I noticed a small, bright, diffuse disc in the sky over the ocean seaward of a point of land up the coast from us. I estimated its elevation with my hand, finding that the disc was just over the tip of my middle finger when my outstretched hand was held vertically at arm's length with the heel of the palm placed on the sealevel horizon: roughly 18 cm at 60 cm distance, or ~.3 radian or ~17-18 degrees.

The disc was circular, quite bright and pearly white, with no trace of color that we could see. I'd estimate its total brightness as equal to Venus at it's brightest; the sky was still fairly light, and no stars were visible. The object was definitely extended rather than point-like. At a guess, it was three resolution-units across: perhaps 6 arc minutes, or a small but significant fraction of the width of the full moon. No internal detail was noticeable, but there seemed to be some limb darkening.

Thinking that the object might be a balloon (many years ago I saw a Skyhook balloon just before sunset, and the appearance was somewhat similar), I stood against a light pole and observed its position relative to another pole. No movement was perceptible over a period of a few minutes. We then approached a Spanish family sitting on a bench on the promenade and asked if they knew what the object was. They didn't, but said that they had been watching it for a while and it hadn't seemed to move. (Nobody around seemed to be more than mildly curious about the object)

We watched for a few more minutes until approximately 21:35, during which time the object didn't move or change appearance, and then returned to our room in the Melia. I got my compass from the suitcase, went onto the balcony, and tried to locate the object. By that time, 21:42, at the approximate location of the object (as estimated from its azimuth relative to the point of land mentioned above and elevation measured by the hand-at-arms-length method) there was a bright star-like object redder, fainter, and more point-like than the object we had been watching. The magnetic bearing read off the compass (which was likely affected to some extent by the steel structure of the hotel) was due east to within a couple of degrees. My wife, who was helping me make this measurement, was doubtful that the object I was sighting on was the one seen earlier, due to its considerably different appearance.

So, any suggestions as to what this thing might have been?

Possibilities that have come to mind are:

- A bright star or planet focused through a marine inversion layer (although SKYMAP doesn't indicate anything particularly promising at that time and position)
- A high-altitude balloon which was apparently stationary due to some circumstance of geometry and winds
- A cloud released by some object in space such as a barium experiment or the venting/exhaust clouds associated with Centaur upper stages of Titan IVs
- "Them" :-)

Sighting Of Unidentified Flying Object

Time: 02:56 a.m. BST. (01:56 GMT).
Location: Whitefield. North Manchester. Near Junc. 17 M62.
Conditions: Virtually no wind. Clear with 'Surface Haze'.
Brighter Magnitude stars visible and moon in approx ESE location.

Description of Object.

2 distinctly bright 'lights' apparently joined or moving in unison.

Altitude unknown.

Lighting characteristics unlike the usual aircraft in this vicinity, (Manchester International Airport).
Absolutely no sound.

(No sonic characteristics that one would associate with an aircraft travelling at a similar speed, in the same conditions).

Direction of Travel:

First noticed in the South East, travelling North West.
Approximation of course: Following a 'straight course' from the direction of Failsworth, (South Oldham), towards Bolton, Winter Hill.
Speed of travel appeared constant.
Object(s) faded in the distance, (smaller angle of vision through surface haze).
Duration of sighting; approx 90 secs to 2 mins.

Has anyone seen similar recently, or have a 'reasonable' explanation for this 'object'?

No, It was much too prolonged and consistent in it's travel, to be either a meteor, (shooting star), or meteorite. Former Amateur astronomer myself also. Remember, I described a pair of lights. Thanks.

Subject: something weird last friday night?

Hi,

I was in Zeeland, a province of the Netherlands, last week. On Friday night, close to midnight (23:50 CET, august 18th, 1995) we looked up to the sky, to look for 'falling stars'. The day before we had seen a couple, and maybe this time again. We didn't. But we did see something strange. It moved really fast, like the speed of a falling star. The shape was somewhat similar to a boomerang. It first moved in a straight line but then suddenly started to move rapidly from right to left (not much, only as far as the width of the 'boomerang' itself). It illuminated white light, but it was a bit hazed, fuzzy, as if some clouds were between us and that boomerang.

We don't know what this was. Maybe a weather balloon. Maybe a rocket or something. Maybe even a magnetic phenomenon. We don't know.
Maybe other people have seen this as well (I doubt it). Maybe some official knows of a special flight of something? We hadn't a phone out there, otherwise I would have called the authoroties. Maybe I'll call one of these days.

On saturday 26th august this year at approx 11.30 -12.00 my sister and her friend were driving home to my house and they saw from the car several strange apparently slightly transparent objects moving extremely fast through the sky. they emitted a blue - white glow and were low in the sky .. as cloud base was circa 1000 feet
. there was no noise from them and they could not be civilian aircraft because of the speed , turning rate and absence of noise .. definately weren't military craft as were in Ireland and we couldn't afford a F-16 let alone do research into any aircraft so soifticated.

My sister and her friend tried to follow these "lights " and when they got as close as they could got out of the car and watched the show which appeared to be over the graveyard and was illuminated from a ground source . suddenly there was a bright white light behind them and they jumped into the car and speed away .

that light turned out to be another car but gave them a scare . the next day my sister and her friend returned to the area (at daylight) and looked around but saw nothing unusual except one of the headstones had AUG 26 on it (coincidence as there were about 50 or so graves there) .

later the night of the 26th i passed by the area at 12.45 +- 5 mins and saw nothing

Any ideas...

ps i got hours of enjoyment teasing my sister and her friend about this event but they were visabally shaken the night in question . And I believe they saw something but what I'm not sure.

KUSA, the Denver, Colorado ABC TV affiliate, reported Monday August 28, that a UFO had been sighted and videotaped over Salida, Colorado. Salida is a small town located 2.5 hours southwest of Denver. The report stated that the sighting was made on Sunday morning, 8/27/95, at 10:30AM MDT. The report included home video recorded by a local resident.

The object appeared to be either disc-shaped viewed from the edge or "cigar" shaped with a row of lights along the long axis. The lights were narrowly rectangular and moved along the axis of the object. If the object was disc-shaped then the lights would have been rotating around the circumference. The object appeared to be a light color like white or light grey. The object seemed to move slowly, but not in a manner consistent with an aircraft or hot-air baloon. Sorry if you see this posting twice- the first time, my posting software would appear to have eaten it, as it never appeared on any of the local news servers.

This morning, Wednesday August 30, at approximately 5:45AM PDT, my wife and I unexpectedly saw the boost phase of some launch. We were out for an early run on the bike paths near our home in Foster City, and we were facing southwest at the time, watching the air traffic that comes in on its approach to SFO. What we saw was almost certainly 40-50 seconds of a solid rocket stage burn, followed by burnout and staging, and possibly the ignition of a liquid upper stage. The altitude was very high, and the exhaust plume was magnificent coning out into the near-vacuum. The nozzle flame from the solid stage was very bright, a brilliant bluish-white pinprick at the head of the persistent plume. I'd guesstimate the slant range at perhaps 75 miles or so- I'd like to know for sure.

Conditions were excellent. There was no fog, and the seeing was very good in the crisp predawn air. The sight was dramatic enough that it stopped us both in our tracks. Unfortunately, I was pretty winded, so my powers of observation (unspectacular in the best of conditions) were not exactly at their peak...

We were able to follow the trajectory across nearly 90deg of sky. The plume just before burnout was quite large- the object was up at about 30deg elevation above the coastal hills to our southwest, and I'd say that the plume was about 20gdeg long and roughly the same width at the trailing edge as it dissipated. It was interesting to see it "neck down", and then cut off entirely, at burnout.

The apparent trajectory was south-to-north, which is somewhat unusual. I'm not aware of any normal Vandenberg launches that come our way, as I gather that most are made to the south over the open ocean. So I'm inclined to think that it might have been a Pegasus launch. Whatever it was, it was spectacular, and it almost made up for the fact that we have to be insane to be out running at that hour.

The question is: what vehicle was it? Does anybody have any concrete info on this launch? If so, please mail me. I realize that this is old hat to most Floridians and folks in the Southeast, but it's not common at all to have these sorts of fun toys to look at here in the Bay Area... I might have to write a letter to the folks responsible, thanking them for the show!

On august 9th, at about 10:45 PM, I was watching TV when I heard a big strange sound outside. I ran over to the window to look and I saw a quite big red object, about 350 meters from me, going down diagonally. It keep going down for about 5 seconds and finally went at the back of an house. The sound stopped a few seconds later. I don't know if it was an UFO or an helicopter, but the sound really wasn't the sound of an helicopter. I live near Montreal, in Canada. The next day, I heard on the TV that the army did some experiences with helicopters over a near town, at about 3:00 AM They didn't said that they were seeking for an UFO, they said that they were simulatng a rescue mission. :-) I don't really believe that. I think that they saw something on the radar, in the night, they took their helicopters to look around. The next day, they said that they are cancelling their experiences. Quite weird.

Talk about really cool! I had returned to Canada in August, and on the night of the 12th (Saturday), I was at my Aunt's cottage on Redstone LAke, near Haliburton and while lying on the dock, my (Korean) girlfriend and i were treated to the most amazing meteor shower I had ever seen! We actually saw on in flames, and I was certain it was going to crash somewhere nearby, but it vanished (burned up, whatever). We saw a great deal of satellite activity (moving stars overhead) but I don't remember anything out of the ordinary.

My mother (as gullible as they come) panicked when she saw a white light slowly moving over the horizon. It seemed to turn and disappear for a moment, then reappear showing normal aircraft lights.

We all assumed it was just an aircraft... Maybe our angle of sight was off and we couldn't see things as clearly as you did.

Terry,
I know it's been a while since I told you I would tell about my little sighting, so here goes (note: all numbers are best guesses)...
Here's
what happen on August 10, 1995 @ 4:00 pm EDT.

I was getting off from work, still on the base, in-between two buildings, and I looked up and noticed a small black dot (a little smaller than the size of a small dot ([o] at arms length)) moving slowly in a circle (size of circle: hold a basketball at arms length) in a counter-clockwise direction. It first came out of a cloud or from over top of it at the 9 o'clock position continuing to the 12 o'clock position until it went into/above another cloud. I waited for about 5 - 10 minutes expecting to see it again, but nothing ever came out of the cloud. I watched
the particular cloud during this time as it passed to the north, but nothing was ever seen again. The object appeared to be dark gray or black and moved in this circle at a constant rate.

I can only guess the relative speed and altitude of the object as I am not totally aircraft oriented. Altitude: approx. 3-5000 ft.; speed:
approx. 100-150 mph, it appeared to move slowly in what appeared to me to be a perfect circle when it first came out of the cloud.

I thought it may be a hawk looking for a meal or some other predator as such, but I really don't know. I did not see the object stray from its path at all, no wobbling or diving, none of the expected "Bird" characteristics. It made no sound that I could hear. The weather was extremely humid and hot, temps were in the lower 100's or high 90's, and the heat index was above 105. Partly (sparse) cloudy, with a wind of about 5 - 10 mph coming from the south.

I've been lurking around in this newsgroup long enough and since its

I really would welcome any and all to tell me what possibly this object could have been. I should have called the police I know but live in a rural area in Georgia and was afraid of getting labeled "crackpot"

Anyway it was approx 9:30pm week night last November, a clear night. I rounded the corner of my house (I am on a hill) and looked across my pasture and right at the top of the trees at the end of my pasture and the corner of another and the beginning of about 1000 acres of lumber company land (S.E.). I saw what I at first glance was the moon.
It took me a few seconds to realize it was not the moon(-wrong place) and that it was moving slowly horizontally right at the tops of the trees.

No flashing lights, no sound but that soft white glow just like the moon and it seemed to be oval although the trees obstructed my view of the bottom. It gave me the willies so bad I really didn't want to stay and watch it but as far as I could tell it went behind my trees and into the lumber company property. There are no houses but mine in the area where it was and no one but me that could have seen it in that particular area, it was maybe and eighth to a quarter mile away.

Anyone got any Ideas of what it could have been?

For years, I have looked to the sky while I drove, hoping to see something interesting other than just a plane. Well, last night, while on my way from Arlington, Texas driving north on a well traveled street, I saw something that I am still trying to figure out what it was.

It was last night, as I was heading towards my girlfriend's house, about 30 minutes away. As I came to an overpass (on Fielder, over Division for those who know the area) I saw a group of lights which looked to be a plane as it hovered in the distance and slowly maneuvered downward. Then as I hit the base of the overpass, I lost sight of the "craft".. As I drove up and over the bridge, I noticed the lights had moved eastward, over a huge retirement home. There it hovered some more. At first I thought it was a plane, so I looked for the common flashing lights (usually colored, red, blue, or white/clear) you see on planes at night. But nothing. The description of the craft is as follows: Four lights, three of which were in a triangle formation, the fourth was in the middle. All were your basic white lights, which didn't flash or blink but instead stayed solid. Around the middle light, three or four red lights came on and off in a counter-clockwise (I think) movement. Not a fast blinking which is common to warning lights on planes, but subtle second-long blinking, one after the other, counter-clockwise.

As a side note, later in my trip, I pass right by Dallas/Ft. Worth airport, and this night I saw around 15 airplanes taking off/landing. I tried to see if any of them looked anything like what I had seen, and none even came close. For one thing, most of the planes had blinking white lights, the ones on the UFO didn't blink. For another thing, most of the planes had in addition to a red light, a blue light. Both of which would blink at a quick rate. The UFO had three or four red only lights, which didn't blink in a quick flash, but rather each stayed on a second or two.

There were many cars on the road, though I'm not quite sure any of them noticed. I wish I would have stopped and got out to investigate further, but instead I kept driving. Anyways, thought I'd tell someone other than my g/f..anyone else would think I've been watching too much X-files ;). At least she allready knows I'm nuts.

Subject: SAT 9/9/95 3:15-3:30 AM LIGHT! Long Curved Band

Arriving home on Saturday September 9th, 1995 approx 3:15-3:30 a.m. I was getting out of my car and as I turned away from the car a Bright White Light in the sky caught my attention. It seemed to start in the east of the night sky and traveled westwardly with a slight curve. The BAND of white light stretched across the Las Vegas Nevada sky ending in the west end. It appeared it travel northeast to southwest with a curve. For those in the Las Vegas Area if you were at Tropicana & Mountain Vista Streets it would have come from Sam's Town Area and ending before the Luxor Pyramid light which is directed straight upward. Living in Las Vegas I have seen all kinds of man made lights and lighting effects....from lasers from hotels to the mountain sides and have witnesses shooting stars and some of the better comets. This light was unlike any ever seen before....It continued to glow with the same intensity and brightness from beginning to end. The only color to describe the whiteness and brightness is to look at a welders oxy/act. torch when it is burning. There was no large or larger head than the tail portion and unlike most laser lights much, much wider and beginning from a dark area in the sky also ending in a dark area of the sky. No pointed tips like a rocket or jet aircraft just this expanding WHITE BAND OF LIGHT! The speed was very, very fast. How fast or to calculate I am unable to do that but Airport traffic does fly close to this area and comparing a normal Jet Plane or small aircraft or even a Nellis Jet it was like a Corvette (The white band of light) to a Volkswagen (Commercial and Services Aircraft). To duplicate the way the light appeared and went simply put a paint graphics program on your computer and with a light pen start on one side of your screen, proceed across the screen with a gentle curve and lift the pen. Hit your clear control immediately after drawing the band. Thats what I saw....have been unable to find anyone who was up or looking up at the sky at that time and date. I notified a local television station that very morning but no reports were made (Tho the newscaster gets a lot of LIGHTS reports he realized I was very sincere about this unusal sighting. Could It have been the Shuttle? A test vehicle from the test site in Nevada.....am I the only one who saw this ????. Thanks in advance.....Just want to know....Serious replys only please to:

Subject: I had an Encounter while flying

I think I saw a UFO the other day.
It was almost sunset, and I was flying towards the setting sun from Livermore airport back to Oakland after practicing touch and goes. At about 3000 ft, I spotted a bright light about 15 degrees above the horizon around Mt. Tamalpias which by the way is to the west so it could not have been a reflection from the setting sun. My flight instructor saw it too, and we did a few clearing turns to make sure that the object was not the landing lights of another airplane heading straight at us. The object remained stationary and although almost as bright as the sun, seemed far away due to it's small size. After about 2 minutes of just hanging there, it shot straight up and directly away from us.

We could tell because it gained in altitude and climbed away getting dimmer until it just faded away. We guessed it to be about 15 miles away, and did not report it to anyone. This is as far as I know the first time that either of us has disclosed any of this info.

Please respond if you have had a similar experience.

MUFONET-BBS NETWORK - MUTUAL UFO NETWORK
Off-Line UFO and Related Sighting Report Form

Each question is important. Please take your time, and feel free to alter this form in anyway to assist in responding to the questions.

Date of Sighting day/month/year: 9/24/95

Sighting Time - In the form of - Am/Pm + Time zone: 8:00PM CDT

Duration - In the form of Seconds, Minutes or Hours: 15-20 Minutes

Place of sighting - State/County - City/Town - Country: Meaux, LA. USA

Describe briefly the physical appearance of the object(s):
Red light moving slowly and silently. Round shape, about 6 to 12 inches?
around.

Describe briefly the location of your sighting: Rural area, farm fields. Not many trees. About 5 or 6 miles from nearest town.

Where were you & what were you doing at the time: In the car driving on Hwy 343 south to sister's house.

What made you first notice the object: Red light moving slowly from the west going across the Hwy we were on.

What did you think the object was when you first saw it: UFO.

Describe your reaction/action during and after the sighting:
Excited,
scared, curious.

Describe the object and its actions: It was a red object like a radio tower light and was low in the sky. It's movement caught our attention.
It was moving to cross the road in front of us from the west. It suddenly disappeared, then reappeared on the other side of the road. We turned east and pulled in to my sister's house. We got out of the car and the object was hovering over a house at about treetop level on the right side of the road about 150 ft away. As we ran toward the object, it then moved toward the road very, very, slowly. It climbed in height to go over the power lines and hovered over the house across the street. It then moved toward a small patch of woods and went down behind the trees. By that time we were back in the car trying to follow it and could see its red glow in the woods. It appeared to be landing. We lost sight of the object
in the trees and never did see it again.

How did you lose sight of the Object: It went down in a small patch of woods and hid itself among the trees.

Subject: Salida, Colorada

Earlier this month a Denver station ran a news segment on a sighting in Salida, CO. A local person got good video footage. I've seen the tape -- it is odd, indeed. One sees a bright bar of light in a bright, cloudless sky. The bar is perhaps twenty times as long as it is thick. The definition is good enough so that at least some detail can be seen. Looking closely, you can see brighter points of light moving back and forth along the bar. It seems to bounce around in the sky a little. Witnesses said it would suddenly zip to a different location thirty degrees away "in just an instant."

I have just learned that additional sightings are happening today -- right now, in fact. Can anyone from that area tell us what is going on? Salida is a couple of hours SSW of Denver.

A large silent and low light circled around I.C. from the east and curved back toward my position heading east. I was on my bike delivering newspapers about 5:30 a.m. and had seen this phenomenon once before and was alert to it.

I had dismissed it as another early A.M. cargo plane heading into Cedar Rapids Airport 23 miles north. I also was familiar from my 1988 paper routes with early morning planes turning lights on many miles away and coming in over town low before dawn.

This morning was convincingly different. I was near the cemetery in the Northeast part of town and darkness prevails. The light I saw moving fast and circling suddenly appeared right overhead moving faster-maybe 200mph depending on the altitude which I could not discern because there was just a big globe of light ; no silhouette at all against the starlight. It moved rapidly away with no sound at all or perhaps the slightest "whoosh" in the silent morning air.

There is almost no one out at this hour. The object was under guidance and a camouflage component to its activities is almost certain. It had to pick up speed rapidly to cover the four or five miles from southwest of town to my position in the Northeast part of the city. It sped off into the countryside. I estimate it was about 150 feet off the ground maybe double that but low. FEBRUARY 1995 sighting, report 9-25-95

You can add this one to your list;

I live across the street from a power substation. The station is located behind the back yards of houses across the street. The substation is connected to the power grids by high tension wires on high towers.

I got up at 02:00 am on Saturday to go for a leak. Since it was supposed to rain on Saturday morning and I had to go somewhere, I took a look out the window to check on the weather.

Moving from left to right following the power lines was an oval shaped mutedly bright object with diffused yellow and blue lights on the underside. Looking it at from the second floor of the house, I could estimate that from where I was standing in relation to the object, the image of the object would fit into a 2" space between my thumb and forefinger, that's the only way I could estimate size.

The object move back and forth slowly, hovered stationary, then moved off towards the north. I don't know how long this took place exactly, but it couldn't have been any more than a minute and was probably only 30 seconds or so... BTW, my window is north facing, and the object did not make any noticable sound (at least not through my closed window).

Anyway, I don't want to see any investigators, but you can use this for general data if you want.

If you need some sort of background, I'm 42 years old, and work as a computer programmer. Since I saw that, I got intensely interested in the subject and have looked at newsgroups. I'm also writing a program to catalogue and track ufo info.

We where looking into the sky, hoping we would, for once, be able to take part in a sighting. Well, we did see something, belive it or not; Bright white lighted objekt, flying fairly low across the tops of the local mountains. No sound and moving with, as we could see, a treamendous speed in a north-east direction.

We are pretty sure it wasn't a military jet, the altitude was to low for us not to hear the engines. At least it wasn't a type of aircraft I've seen (heard) before.

I'll never know for sure, but as a believer I hope I was lucky. But it wasn't convinsing enough for me to be sure.

Is it possible for a ufo to sound like a jet or loud whirring engine???

My wife videotaped an object with flashing lights that sounded like a loud jet that just hovered over our street about 200 to 300 feet up for about 10 minutes, then it moved about 200 yards or so, stayed there for about 5 minutes than left. She called me to tell me about it and when she looked out the window, it was back in the exact same area. This time for about 15 minutes, then it moved about 200 yards or so, stayed there a couple minutes then left due south. Any ideas or possibilities...do helicopters do this late night? Can they sound like jet engines and not the normal sound a helicopter makes??? We are curious. Any ideas are welcomed...Thanks!

Tonight, the 30th of September 1995 at 8:07 P.M. I had just gotten off of the Bay Bridge from Oakland to San Francisco and was heading towards SFO. In the sky flying north were three sets of three lights so that there were three triangles which together formed a triangle like this:

      * *
    *   *

The object was very low and large. I thought that maybe it was a huge C-5 or three planes in formation, but there was no noise, the lights weren't configured correctly to be a plane, and even the military doesn't usually fly formation at night. It is a UFO in that it is an unidentified flying object, but I will not go any farther than to say that. Did anyone else see this object.

UFOS BUZZ WESTERN STATES
by Paula Linville
American Reporter Correspondent

SALIDA, Colo. -- An unidentified flying object buzzed the rural community of Salida, Colo. recently -- it was caught on tape. Tim

Edwards was working in his backyard with his six year-old daughter

Brandy on a Sunday morning when the girl began pulling at his pant leg and pointing to the sky.

Edwards looked up and saw a bright, oblong object flying about 60,000 feet above him.

"Definitely not of this world," he said.

Distance and altitude can be hard to judge, but while Edwards watched a commercial airliner flew between him and the object. After watching for several minutes with his father and older daughter,

Laray, Edwards got his camcorder out and began taping.

The seven-minute tape has been turned over to Village Labs in Phoenix, Ariz. The preliminary report issued this week indicates that a "large ... solid three-dimensional cylindrical object [flying] at high altitude. It is demonstrating unusually rapid darting movements."

The report also confirms eyewitness accounts of small lights or bright objects coming from under the larger object.

Edwards and his family weren't alone in their sighting. Nine people called the astronomy department at Colorado University in Boulder to ask about the daylight sighting. The National UFO Hotline confirmed that a series of sightings had occurred in Idaho involving similar objects.

Since then Edwards has turned over an additional seven hours of

UFO footage to Village Labs for analysis. Even the local sheriff, Chester Price, has been a witness to these strange daytime lights.

Edwards said another lab has been called in to help with the analysis of the latest tape.

" A Lake in Maine "
by Joseph Miller < jammmers@aol.com >
Connecticut -- October 4, 1995

Greetings,

Incident: July 4th, 1995
Grand Lake Stream, BIG LAKE, Maine
Just past midnight... no fireworks!!
(This seems ambiguous... I think it is the night of July

4th)

Mike decided to take his father's boat out from camp, and do

little bass fishing. He went past the two large, center islands
and turned to set up a troll-path back to camp. A beautiful starry

night, the moon shining a path along the water's surface in front

him. The only sound was his lure trolling behind... the boat

pretty high-tech, and silent.

Up ahead, Mike saw something floating up ahead on the water. He felt that he actually snuck up on it, and 'he startled it!'

"It" was

machine, which moved into the darker areas away from the moon's reflection. Then there were three!

The three small machines came together, above the water, in line.

Then, the right-most moved to the left and up, the left-most moved to the right and up, and the center moved straight up.

All

left from sight in this way and very rapidly (a few seconds
leaving Mike alone again, but pumped up with excitement.
sketch
that Mike drew for me, of this departing maneuver, looks like
mandella, although I can't place it, or it's culture.
They were about the size of a duck. A duck is what Mike
first thought he was looking at, but he insists that they were machines.
He insists that they made no noise, either of their own, or against
the water's surface (ie: no splashing sounds, etc.).
Mike changed from trolling to casting, anchoring the boat
"right where I saw these things!" He stayed there for about twenty minutes,
then returned to camp. He said that the night was too quiet...
no
fish were biting (unusual), no sounds were to be heard, and
night felt oppressive... his thoughts were 'closing in on him.'
Mike felt strongly enough about this incident, that he wrote
impressions into a journal to help his memory of them. He is putting a more detailed package together... maps, photos of the camp and
the lake, etc. I, naturally, can think of several questions to ask
him, and I'll try to get some more details as we put
story
together.
I would invite anyone from this area in Maine, or who may have

vacationing there during this past summer, to drop me an e-note
with any relevant, or related experiences or observations
might shed some light on this story. I'm thinking along the lines
anecdotes and fun-descriptions of the area... and, of course,
if you've had a sighting... that too. Please, be serious or be fun,
and
yes we did discuss the idea that IT might have been a duck. :)

From the angle I could see it now it had more a triangular shape and you could see the plates joined together at some places. It was falling on its bottom or turning when I first saw it and then it levelled and slowly moved off east. Est. at 15,000 ft. and 200mph. Five to Eight miles away. Subject: UFO spotted flying over village

From the 'Hinkley Herald' UK newspaper. Dated: Thursday October 5th, 1995

A UFO has been sighted in Stoney Stanton, Coventry.

James Bedwell, 57, and his family, say that they spotted the incredible saucer shaped craft from their home in Alexander Avenue, Earl Shilton.

Mr Bedwell said: "We first caught a glimpse of it at 9.15pm on Wednesday. It was saucer shaped and had blue and red lights beaming down from it. It was quite beautiful. It seemed crystal like and strangely hollow. It was patterned rather like a snowflake. It was about five miles away, towards Stoney Stanton.

"We were all gobsmacked. We thought at first that it was a Police helicopter or a plane, but it moved much too fast. It raced off at terrific speed."

"We glimpsed it through binoculars but couldn't make any more details out."

"My son Kevin, 16, went to his room and shouted that it had returned. This time, the light it was beaming was white. It soon turned and went as before. In all, the encounter lasted about half an hour."

Mr Bedwell says that he has always believed that there might be other life forms in the galaxy.

He said: "It is such a huge expanse, it would be more peculiar if there was only us."

However, I hadn't bargained for seeing anything like this. I always thought there might be something up there in all that vastness."

PC Stuart Dickson of Hinckley Police confirmed that the police helicopter had not been in the area.

He said: "I was on duty until 10pm and there were no call outs in that region."

However, villagers in nearby Croft said that a police helicopter had been out their way that night and perhaps it was the object sighted.

Mr Bedwell now intends to speak to the UFO Society in Hinckley and ask them to investigate his case.

Subject: Milton Keynes sighting

9th October 1995
The following object was seen by multiple witnesses on the 9th Oct 95, and from what I have been told from the ones that I have spoken to, this is what happened..

I work in a large factory with approx 500 workers. We work shifts, and this week we are on lates, finishing at 22:15. I did not see anything myself (pity), as I travel home in the opposite direction in which the sightings occurred. The sightings were made in the villages surrounding Milton Keynes, England.

The first sighting was made at approximately 22:28, as near as we can tell. Witness A was driving to his home in the village of Sherington, and he first spotted the object from the top of Chichley Hill. From here he could see all of the village and most of the surrounding countryside. He is an avid plane spotter, and is familiar with the local flight paths and the usual air traffic.

What he saw is best described as two white globes of light flying at a height of no more than 300 feet. At first he thought that it may have been a Hercules Transport plane, but he decided that the object was too large. He stopped his car and wound down his window to listen for the engine noise but he heard nothing. As the object was roughly 1 mile away, he thought no more of it. The object was moving at about the speed of perhaps an airship, in the direction of Hanslope. There were no other lights visible, just the two white globes. He then proceeded down the hill and lost sight of the object as the horizon came up.

Witnesses B & C live in Hanslope, and they cycle to and from work together. The ride takes 20 to 25 minutes. It may be worth mentioning that there is a government installation near the village, called Hanslope Park. The road is quite bendy, but the last part of the journey is on high ground, a half mile straight to a 90deg bend (where the main gate to Hanslope park is) and then another long straight into Hanslope.

Anyway, from the start of the 1st straight, they saw the object slowly circle round Hanslope, and then 'hover' at a very low altitude above a field, keeping a small copse between itself and Hanslope park. A point of interest is that this is the only side of Hanslope Park with any 'cover'. The other sides are all open as the installation is surrounded by ariels or antenna. One witness said that it was if the object was trying to hide from the installation.

The witnesses started to cycle slower and slower amazed by what they saw. At the closest point they must have been no more than 300 metres away. The object had two bright white 'globes' at each end, and (a bit unclear here) smaller lights or perhaps a glow linking the two globes. It hovered for about 4 minutes, (possibly slowly moving from side to side) and then just took off in the direction of Wicken, near Deanshanger. It made no sound at all. The size is thought to be between 200 and 500 feet across.

The speed in which it departed was unbelievable, nothing like the slow pace at which it had arrived.

Witness D lives in Wicken, and basically saw two white globes, possibly with a couple of small lights inbetween coming from the Hanslope direction passing behind Wicken on a course that would eventually end up in Bicester.

It is interesting to note that B&C, who were behind the object, saw the same as D, who was in front of the object. The time here is estimated to be 22:35, which fits in nicely, but...

The same object (perhaps) was also seen at approx 22:35 hovering above

Junction 15a of the M1 motorway. The distance between Hanslope and Wicken as the crow flies is about 4 miles, and this was covered in a matter of seconds. It is perhaps then possible that once out of sight from D it may have perhaps covered the 8 miles (min) with the same speed.

The object was witnessed above J15a by 16 people who share a mini-bus home to Northampton. They saw it once they had come out of Roade, all the way until they crossed the Motorway at J15 (about 1 mile).

This is the first sighting around here that I am aware of, and it is nice that it was seen by so many people.

I would be interested to hear from anyone who also saw this object, or, anyone who saw it before or after this sighting.

I am posting this in several newsgroups, but if you have any comments or questions, please reply in alt.ufo.reports, or e-mail me.

At first I was sceptical myself, but it was yesterday morning that I saw one with my own eyes... It was incredible, a big white and very bright light. It's already a couple of weeks that these objects have appeared here...

Summary: Sighting North of Milton Keynes

Can anyone shed any light onto the sighting in North Bucks on 9th October 1995? The object was first seen North-East of Milton Keynes, then North of Milton Keynes, North-West of Milton Keynes and, finally, near junction 15a of the M1 motorway. All sightings took place between 22:15 and 22:50.

Reports indicate two bright lights, the ability to hover and no sound.

One curious fact of this night. Although Milton Keynes is directly under 2 major aircraft routes, no civil or military aircraft were seen during the time of the sightings. Does this indicate a new military aircraft?

Many people saw this phenomenon and I would like to hear of any other sighting around this time or during the previous and following days.

MYSTERIOUS LIGHTS THE TALK OF NATION

The Star [Malaysia] newspaper (Oct 19)

PETALING JAYA: The sighting of mysterious lights over Sepang skies yesterday morning and the claims by villagers that they have had several close encounters with aliens have become the talk nationwide.

The subject, which last surfaced in the country about 12 years ago, has become the subject of conversation among patrons in coffeeshops, restaurants, offices, and other places in the country.

Most of the debate centred around the validity of such sightings with various theories being put forward.

The popular morning talkshow over the national radio was also brightened up with the host devoting the morning chat on the subject of unidentified flying objects (UFOs).

Radio deejay Patrick Teoh -- in his morning talkshow on Radio 4 -- entertained about 30 callers on the topic, UFO and Aliens: What Would You Say to an Alien if You Meet One?

The majority of callers agreed that such a "superior intelligence existed".

The callers also offered several reasons for the aliens' choice of destination for their visit.

One caller attributed the choice of location -- the spacious area near Sepang which was cleared for the next international airport -- as an ideal place to land.

The more skeptical ones said the "light-emitting flying object" could have its origins in "meteorological factors", while one said that as the authorities such as the Royal Military Air Force (RMAF) did not deem the issue serious, the public should accept it as such.

However, one caller logically argued that the technology possessed by the aliens was more advanced than found on Earth which allowed them to avoid detection.

That is the precise reason which facilitated their foreign excursions in the first instance, he said.

On the lighter side, the callers' requests to the aliens ranged from the discreet wish to rid Malaysia of environmental problems to the more personal yearning to know the next jackpot number in the local lottery.

As for Teoh, he believes that the lights are "of earthly origins" but believes in forces from outer space.

As fans of hit TV sci-fi dramas would say, the truth is out there.

EXPERTS TURN UP TO CHECK OUT UFO SIGHTINGS

SEPANG: More people, including National Planetarium space science studies and research director-general Prof Dr Mazlan Othman, turned up at Kampung Tanjung Sepat Darat here yesterday but left disappointed as the lights did not reappear.

Some claimed they spotted "tiny spots" of light on various occasions between dusk and dawn but this was not substantiated by the others, including Dr Mazlan.

Prof Mazlan was at the village to investigate the reported sightings together with four experts.

Armed with high-powered telescopes, they staked out at the jungle fringes between 2am and 4am.

In order to draw any conclusion, Prof Mazlan said she would need to see the sightings for herself, get a clearer account of events from those who saw the lights and make a thorough study.

"We also need to find out if there are any buildings on the other side of the jungle," she said.

Prof Mazlan was surprised why the sightings were not reported earlier when they were said to have been going on for more than a month.

Later, several people said the mysterious lights had been appearing in the last few years.

Ngatani Dalimon, 31, a watchman of the oil palm plantation near the area, said he had seen the lights for the last two years.

"I thought they were from a factory beyond the plantation and jungle," said Ngatani, who first saw the lights between March and April 1993.

Since then he had seen them on various occasions during his 10pm-6am shifts.

Asked to describe it, he said it was the same cluster of lights that was photographed in The Star.

A farmer in his 50s said he had seen bright lights appearing out of nowhere in the thick jungle (which has now been cleared) about 10 years ago.

Chan Fook had gone there with his friend to hunt for wild boars when they saw a large pillar of beaming white light.

"It must be tokong punya barang (something belonging to deities)," he said. They fled and never set foot there again.

ASTRONOMER: REFRACTION NOT THE CAUSE

PETALING JAYA: The lights which have been appearing near Kampung Tanjung Sepat Darat in Sepang are not due to an astronomical phenomenon, said a senior astronomer.

Astronomical Society of Malaysia member Dr Ng Kim Chua said that going by witnesses' accounts that the lights were just above the forests, the lights could not have been due to atmospheric refraction.

He said that it was unlikely that it could be an optical illusion like that found in deserts.

He said whatever the source of the lights was, it must have had a power of its own, since any object coming within the gravitational pull of the earth would drop to the surface or burn out.

Meanwhile, Mutual UFO Network international director Walter Andrus said extra-terrestrial beings are not green.

He said the "green" alien was only a cartoonist's concept depicting "little green people from Mars."

Andrus, who heads the world's largest organisation studying UFOs, said there has never been any record of green aliens in sightings.

"Aliens recorded so far have all been between 122cm and 137cm tall and are white, chalk or grey," he said in a telephone interview from the United States on Tuesday.

Some villagers in Kampong Tanjung Sepat had claimed to have seen two waist-high green aliens.

The village has become the centre of attention because of sightings of "light-emitting flying objects" over the past month.

Andrus said the organisation had previously received reports of UFO sightings in Malaysia, but upon investigations these turned out to be fakes.

I was back in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia for a short holiday. Driving out of the house, with my friend, I saw a funny looking object flying just above the trees quite a distant away..perhaps about a kilometre away..or more...

It flew pretty fast, too fast for a plane and then it was whitish, greyish...I jokingly told my friend to look at that UFO and he stopped the car. By that time, it had flown behind the trees on the hills and missed it. I didn't think much about it..but I wasn't sure what it was I saw...

Next day, on the plane, I read in the papers that there was a UFO sighting in another town hereby and it almost jumped!!

Not a stern believer in UFOs but I do believe some intelligent life forms do exist somewhere, I know believe I saw the UFO because it was quite unlike anything I have seen before. I wish I had photographed it...but it wasn't expected and it just appeared , hovered and flew away pretty fast...

The report comes from Bampton, West Swindon, Wiltshire. The incident was reported at 052145z Oct 95, and was witnessed by herself and her elderly mother who was staying the night with her. Neither sounded drunk or under the influence of medication.

At 1945z, she was outside bringing in the washing off her clothes line, when she observed a single bright light hovering in the far distance. At first she thought it to be a bright star. However, whilst watching this "star" it suddenly moved quickly in a Westerly direction, and the opposite side to the direction appeared to have a red glow. At first she thought it was the local Police helicopter, which often transits along the M4, which is not too far away. Whilst trying to make out the shape of the object, it rapidly changed direction again, flying extremely fast to the East.

It was at this point she called for her mother to come outside and to witness what was happening.

When she returned outside, the object was still in the same location, on the Horizon to the NW of her home. With both people watching, it then sped to due West before flying to the South, passing above her home at approx 2nm range. Whilst at that location it appeared to split into two separate sources of white light. The two lights then slowly accelerated to the West before disappearing over the horizon. Again, red light was visible from the trailing side of the objects.

The weather on the night in question was relatively clear, with only 1 Oktas cloud cover. Nothing was apparant on the Radar screen at RAF Lyneham, and the base only had a single aircraft airborne, working to the South West (Night Vision Training Exercise, and would have been operating without lights)

The report was passed along official channels, as always, to the MOD reporting controller. (Number available to others on request)

Subject: Eyewitness (with a bunch of others) of a UFO

Ok, guys, this is a straightforward account of what I saw, no speculations as to what it is, no idea at all. However, I will reveal that about 25-30 other people saw it too.

I do not know if it was an "extra-terrestrial vehicle", a meteor, a falling piece of satellite, or a secret weapon, I have NOT a clue. I am truly reporting a UFO, which means, an UNidentified Flying Object. Neither does anyone else who saw it. Some people speculated that it might be a piece of satellite falling, but I will later reveal why this is a little hard to believe.

Last night a group of friends and I were camping and sitting all night around a fire, singing songs, telling stories. And I mean all night. It was a nice balmy November evening, in Northern California, in the Ukiah area.

At almost exactly 3:30 am, I started to see a flash of light peeking between the pine trees and then all of the sudden to my amazement, I saw moving out of the trees a BRIGHT ball of purple (pinkish purple) light flaring across the sky with a smoke trail following it. We had been looking up at the stars all night, because the night was clear and the moon was almost full and the stars were bright, it was really lovely, so many of us saw it at the same time.

We were absolutely awestruck, nobody, (except one person) had ever seen anything quite like it before, and a lot of these folks have seen a lot of interesting things.

As it flared across the sky, I saw a smoky trail following it, and it followed pretty much a straight trajectory across the sky from west to east. We saw the trail, probably because the moonlight was so bright. We reached a consensus that it took about 25-30 seconds to go across the sky, which seems to me to be, well, an abnormally LONG time to go across the sky, unless it was a plane or something like that. This was unlike any meteor I've ever seen.

7 minutes later we heard something which sounded like an impact and felt an impact under our feet (everyone did).

We speculated on it all night, the one person who said that "this was the second most amazing sight she'd ever seen" told us she had seen something very much like it once before when she was up at Pyramid Lake, NV. She concluded it must be a meteor, and then I asked her, how do you know that what you saw was a meteor??? She couldn't answer that.

So I called up the Ukiah Police Department today to question if anyone else had reported it. The person said no, but after I described what I saw, she said that on Oct. 31st someone had also reported the same phenomenon in the same area, and that later the California Fire Service was called in to put out a large brush fire that occurred that same night.

As far as I know this is not the season for meteor showers.

A friend of ours who was there is in the service (I won't say which service), has connections with NORAD, so far no one at NORAD or his service admitted that they have any record of such an occurrence.

As far as I know, NORAD tracks such things.

Anyway, I will check out these alt. sites, but could you please do me the courtesy of cc'ing me on this, because I won't check out the alt.sites I've sent these to everyday.

I am writing this on behalf of a friend who has no internet access. He works nights and last week saw something that is making him question his sanity. I suggested we posted it to the relevant groups on the net and maybe someone can confirm his sighting or offer a rational explanation for what he saw.

Last Thursday 2nd Nov between 3.55am and 4.05am he saw the following in Nottingham. At 3.55 he saw a group of ten (approx) orange lights moving across the sky above the city, approximately along the line of the River Trent in a southerly direction. They appeared to move as a body but within the group 2 or three were moving quickly amongst the others. He describes their shape as a random cluster. He considered they were too high to be street lights and were about the same size in the sky as the background stars. He has also discounted the possibility that they were fireflies. There was no noise and it's pretty quiet at that time of day even in a city. He called over a workmate and felt very foolish when as they looked a few seconds later nothing unusual was visible. Going back to his own task he looked up again a couple of minutes later. This time he saw perhaps 20 lights in the group following the same path and shape and with the same 2 or 3 lights dancing in and out amongst the main body. He watched them until they disappeared from sight. They moved quite rapidly but not at any phenomenal speed.

This man is a maths graduate and teacher and not given to anything other than level headed behaviour.

Last night I saw what appeared to be our old friend, the black-hoveringtriangle-with-bright-lights.

I was driving north on the M3 motorway around 5 miles north of Winchester at 8pm. It was a dark clear evening, the moon was up
almost full.

I noticed some lights in the sky which appeared unusual: a very bright white one with a small red one below and to the right, and a small blinking white light above and to the left. I initially thought it was an aircraft but soon realised that the lights were either stationary or moving very slowly at a height of around 2000 feet.

My passenger who has better eyesight than me said that the lights were apparently attached to the underside of a dark triangular craft
with the bright light in the middle. He estimated it to be around 50 to 100 feet in length. I stopped the car and we both got out to watch for several minutes as the lights slowly disappeared behind a low hill to the south - we couldn't tell if they were descending or just moving away from us.

We both live under the flight path to London Heathrow airport and are familiar with aircraft navigation and landing lights. The main light
in our sighting was much brighter than these and appeared to be shining down and slightly forward rather like a searchlight.

Lafayette, LA. USA

Describe briefly the physical appearance of the object(s): At it's closest point, it was a structured craft of some sort. It had two orange lights in the rear, two
"pillow-like" semi-transparent, soft-white colored things on it's underside. There was a pointed structure at the front, with a red light that sometimes strobed near the tip. There were other lights strobing at different intervals on other parts of the object. The top of the object was not visible, as it blended in with the black sky.
It was hard to tell exactly what shape it was.

Describe briefly the location of your sighting: Right outside of town, on a road.
Fields mostly, with a few trees lining the road. A few houses were on both sides,
with empty lots between them.

Where were you & what were you doing at the time: I received a phone call at home from my girlfriend saying they seen the object south of Lafayette, LA. I immediately drove towards where they said it was headed.

What made you first notice the object: It was a bright, star-like object moving towards the northwest. I noticed a few bright flashes from the object every now and then.

What did you think the object was when you first saw it: I thought it might be a airplane at first, or a planet near the western horizon.

Describe your reaction/action during and after the sighting: I was pretty excited, very curious, too. I felt determined to get a better look.

Describe the object and its actions: When I first saw the object, it was in the WNW and moving slowly in that same direction. I stopped my vehicle and looked at the object with 7x50 binoculars. It looked like a bright, reddish star or plane to the unaided eye. With the binoculars it was a round light with a smaller strobing light near one edge of it. I then drove several miles following the object and it seemed I was getting closer to it. The object moved along ahead of me but finally slowed it's WNW movement and seemed to be hovering about 15 degrees above the horizon to the west of me.

When observed through the binoculars, it seemed to be a structured craft. There was a round, green light the color of grass right next to it to the left of craft. This light seemed to be attached to the object by something. I flashed my headlights on and off quickly to attract it's attention. The object then started moving slowly in my direction (east), so I attempted to get where it would cross the North-South road I was on. I stopped and got out the truck and watched as the object slowly drifted over towards me and crossed the road I was parked on. The shape of the object seemed to resolve into several strobing lights, with the two "pillow-like" objects on the underside. There was no sound coming from the object, as far as I could tell.

The object continued to move towards the east and back towards town. It seemed to be only 300-500 feet in the air when it passed over me. As it got further away, it picked up speed and got lower towards the horizon. Several radio towers and a water tower were in that direction. As it neared these, it turned towards the south, and dipped down behind some trees in the distance.

How did you lose sight of the Object: It got low to the ground and went behind some trees.

I was walking my dog and stopped in a park and was admiring the almost full moon on a calm, clear evening. Bright lights caught my eye moving from north to south very fast. I first thought it was a shooting star (meteor) but after a few seconds i could see six oval shaped objects in perfect formation. The light seemed to be pulsing
from side to side on each object and was white. I didn't hear anything. In less than 10 seconds they had gone across the sky
and that was it! I know what I saw, and it was not any kind of airplane i've ever seen, and I see all kinds in this area with all of the military bases close by.

Subject: Bright Object Over East Coast on 17NO95

On Friday night, November 17, 1995, the National UFO Reporting Center in Seattle received multiple calls from numerous individuals on the East Coast who were witness to an extraordinarily unusual event, which was observed over an area stretching from Maine to North Carolina.

The first call received was from a small town in eastern Pennsylvania,
where a young woman reported witnessing a gigantic object, seemingly covered with many peculiar lights, which hovered over a nearby field for several minutes. She first noticed the object at about 2223 hrs.
local
time.

The next call was from a FAA facility in New England, which relayed two

pilot reports from airline crews who saw an object, extremely bright with a luminous tail stretching far behind it, streak by, headed approximately southwest, and approximately 2000 feet below their altitude at approximately 2220 hrs..

Multiple other reports followed in rapid sequence from Maine, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and North Carolina. One call was received Saturday morning from a young man, who reported seeing not one, but two streaks of light pass near his location in Basking Ridge, New Jersey, and about 2220 hrs.

Also, a call was received from Seymour Johnson AFB, near Greensboro, NC, which had taken one or more calls from individuals, who called to report observing a very large object hovering motionless in the sky, then beginning to move both vertically and horizontally. Names and numbers for the individuals who had called Seymour Johnson AFB called were not available.

If anyone was witness to these events, or knows anything about them, we would welcome any information or news reports, articles, etc.. The postal address for the National UFO Reporting Center follows: P. O. Box 45623, University Station, Seattle, WA 98145.

Subject: Not sure what I saw

I'm not really sure what I saw, so I'm asking you folks. Last week we were driving to Las Vegas from the south. At about 3:00am we saw a vapor trail start to form in the west. It was moving pretty fast so I timed it. Whatever this was took about 2:30 minutes to cross from horizon to horizon at about 45 degrees from up. Can anyone figure out how fast this would be? maybe it's not fast at all, but it sure seemd to be, especially low enough to form a vapor trail.

Subject: Ufology and the media- plus fresh sightings in UK!
Date: 22 Nov 1995 17:01:13 GMT

Dear fellow believers,
I am a phd student in the United Kingdom working in a journalism department at Sheffield University. I am hoping to study the way the media cover ufo incidents, and I would be glad of any opinionsthat you may have. I would particularly like any newspaper clippings of any ufo-related events. My hypothesis is that the media have played a crucial role in marginalising ufology as sensational rubbish, completely failing in most cases to treat incidents with objectivity and sensibility.

On a more informative note, are visitors to this page (whatever planet you are from) aware of the recent (November 1995) sightings in the eastern side of the United Kingdom?

Several witnesses saw a bright, moving disc which appeared to have two small cuts in the top and bottom. One observer described it as being like the bat-signal. Several national newspapers in the UK covered the story and included a photograph taken by one witness. A close up of the photo does indeed show a bright yellow disc , a bit like those seen in Kaikura, new Zealand in 1978, but with small semi-circular indents at the top and bottom. No clear explanation was given as to what it could have been-any views?

Subject: Triangular craft spotted over Phoenix and Colorado Spring, please help

On november 11, 1995 I looked up in the sky and saw a object almost hovering in the sky at 11:45. I took a look at the object with a 60x spotting scope. I only looked for a couple of seconds because I immediately saw a couple of strange lights and alot of green color on this object. I knew this was some kind of strange object and show get some video before it disappears. I along with two other witness watched this object until 12:30 p.m when it passed over the roof of my house and went of a viewing range. It was atleast 3,000 ft in altitude and would hover as it revolved in strange patterns, sometimes it would stop and hover for a couple of minutes and then it would take off moving in various directions. The object had 3 white lights and a green color in the center of the object. Or you could say a green object with 3 white lights at the corners. I shot video on a SVHS camcorder with a ultraviolet filter and switched to a polorizer and used a 30x optic zoom. I got around 20 minutes of video of this object, we got bord with this sightings as it appeared to be a weather ball. Kind of like three balloon tied together. I called the FAA and the national weather service and Village Labs and was basically told that we don't use weather balloons anymore and use satellites for that. Can anyone verify that statement or know anymore about weatherballoons. Later I captured some frames from this strange video and you can see its a triangular shape with three white lights on it. It either a UFO, balloon, or a military craft.

The reason Iam releasing these pictures before they are positively verified is for public cyber help.

1. Has anyone seen a object simular to this?
2. Can anyone provide simular pictures of weather balloons?
3. Does anyone live in Colorado Springs have any video tape of a object like this?

I heard this from a source I consider reliable, does anybody know more about this or can you debunk it. I heard that last week in Colorado Springs during an airshow which they were waiting for the Blue Angels to take off there was a massive sightings. A triangular craft showed up and hovered in the sky while 33,000 witnesses watched it. It was captured on multiple videocameras and should be one the most documented sightings to ever take place.

Subject: TRIANGULAR UFOS SEEN IN WISCONSIN
Date: 29 Nov 1995 09:28:22 -0600

The following article is my own, and so was the research which went into it. It is copyrighted and cannot be quoted beyond the usual word count without my permission. Nor can it be reposted without my permission.

I would appreciate anyone reading it who has downloaded the pictures of triangular craft to e mail me the JPeGs or gifs or whatever they are. I can't seem to download them from Usenet! I would love to see the ones that were posted in the last week. Your cooperation would be gratefully appreciated.

Here's the article:-

TRIANGULAR UFOS AND NOCTURNAL LIGHTS IN SE WISCONSIN

During the recent UFO flap in South Eastern Wisconsin six videos were taken of nocturnal lights. Many reports came into the news-desks of the local networks. It was through them that I was able to make contact with some area residents who saw strange objects in the evening sky, or video taped them in the night sky. At first everyone was saying how these lights and objects must be the planet Venus. Venus was the most prominent light in the evening during February when most of the reports came in.

Due to its prominence it is pretty easy to see why Investigators would want desperately to rule out Venus from possible UFO sightings. This was pretty easy to do because Venus was always to be found in only one specific quadrant of the night sky and quite obviously a star-like light. However, many of the nocturnal lights witnessed were either not in the position of any known bright star or planet,

did they behave like stars and planets do.

The lights and objects seen in Wisconsin moved by changing positions, strobed in strange sequences, shined down beams of light, had higher luminescence than stars or were revealed on video tape to be objects and not stars or planets at all.

Also, eye-witness accounts of sightings strongly suggest that several different types of shaped craft were operating in SE Wisconsin starting in late December. Videos were shot of moving or hovering unidentified lit-objects in Beaver Dam, Hustisford, N. Milwaukee, and Ft. Atkinson, WI. Sightings came in from all over SE Wisconsin. A triangular object was observed crossing a highway near Ft. Atkinson, WI., and video-taped. The triangular craft (or crafts?) is the one type being reported which, in the following cases, rules out Venus as a solution to what is being seen.

A report of a black triangular craft with lights on it came from two Waukesha Patrol Officers. It is unclear what went on during the investigation of the Waukesha sightings. There was more than this one, but the officers felt rebuffed by the investigative team, as was learned from Lt. Marks of the Waukesha Police. The two officers described what they had observed. Part of their call-in was also aired on Channel 12 news, which is where I heard it. What they saw was identical to a Cedarburg craft. Waukesha is about 15 miles West of Milwaukee.

The first report about a triangular craft to surface in our area

ved a young man returning home to the suburban community of Cedarburg around 9 PM
. Hovering just above a Cedarburg water-tank off Wawatosa and Sherman Av; the yo ung man, who did not give his name to the police, described a large, black UFO wi th bright lights at each point . It had a bank of brilliant white lights on one s ide, nine in all. His phone call was recorded by the Cedarburg
Police Department
and part of it was aired on the evening news on 2/4/93. I spoke at length with Po lice Chief George Rees about the February 1st sighting. His department was very c oncerned over the sighting. Two of his officers witnessed bright beams of light f rom the vicinity of the sighting, but made nothing of it until learning of the yo ung man's report. This object was seen by him from several directions. From the E ast looking West, from the North looking South, in his rear-view mirror, and from over his shoulder out of his rear window. The sighting lasted the length of his ride through Cedarburg, due to the placement of the water tower on the side of a high hill. In Beaver Dam a young man, out searching for UFOs, was hit by a beam of bright white light from a 'V' shaped object. This was February 4, 1993.
This report is just now being investigated.

The fourth sighting of a triangular object took place on Highway 12
and Star Sch ool Road between the towns of Whitewater and Ft. Atkinson, WI.
This is the most d etailed report of a sighting I was able to get. This investigation is on-going, s ince sightings in their area continue unabated.

One of the interesting features of the sightings has been repeatability. There is a tendency for percipients to obsess on UFOs once they have had a sighting.

Almost

every person I interviewed in regard to their initial sighting has had others

. In the case of the Ft. Atkinson sighting, there has been five additional sightings of oddly behaving nocturnal lights.

Kevin Crump and his Grandmother Betty Barnick own an antique dealership in the town of Delevan, WI. They travel home by Hwy 12 most often between the hours of 5

:00 and 7:30 PM on a daily basis. On February 4th 1993, Kevin and Betty were returning home to Ft. Atkinson via Route 12 at 5:35 PM. Kevin carries with him in his car an RCA Camcorder. With it he likes to tape anything that is newsworthy,

he makes short, creative videos with his friends. On the way home at about 5:30 they spotted a fire-engine and decided to look for whatever was on fire. Both Betty and Kevin were carefully watching for lights or the fire when Kevin spotted something in the sky, from the driver's side window. "We thought at first that it was a low flying plane. Then all of a sudden it shot out a blue glowing ball from the tail-end of the craft. It looked like a flame ball from a Roman candle. It shot out about two inches, in ground to sky distance, with a trail of twinkling lights. The blue ball just hung in the sky over the old school to our left."

They pulled off the road to get a better look.

Kevin then got out his video camera and opened the door while Betty decided to stay in the car.

tay in the car. Kevin said, "I looked up and saw the ship just about directly overhead. I could see a faint outline of the ship because the moon was above it. The moonlight reflected off the black metallic surface. It was the shape of an oblong triangle with a light at each point. A red and a blue light at the front and a white light at the back. " An unusual feature of this craft is that it traveled with the base forward, instead of the point first as with most conventional craft. Kevin then tried to "film" the UFO but realized that he hadn't attached the battery pack to the camera. He ran to the back of the car where it was stored, retrieved it, attached it and aimed to where the object had been, but it had moved off to a considerable distance.

"It was heading toward Whitewater. I aimed the camera towards the ship and started taping. I filmed the triangular craft first. Then I took a close-up of the blue ball that the ship shot out." Kevin and Betty then started to drive off when Betty yelled, "Pull over, it's turning around!" Kevin quickly turned onto Star School Road and headed East a short distance. He went passed a farm and over a hill to a clearing on a curve. He pulled off the road. "There it was in the sky, and it was not alone. There was another bright light below it above the trees. It was a tremendous bright light, brighter than any star or planet in the sky. There was a flashing light way up high. At first I thought it was a plane, there were planes es in the area at this time. But I realized that it might be the blue ball that shot out of the ship." Kevin and Betty then left this location at Betty's insistence and drove into Ft. Atkinson. There, Betty needed to buy groceries and the two stopped at the local Sentry. Betty went into the store while Kevin waited in the car. He noticed that the light was still there, so taped it again. Jeffery Sainio, MUFON Staff Photoanalyst, felt that the strobing of the light captured by Kevin on video was of an unusual nature. He ruled out the possibility of it being fire crackers, airplane, and considered it unconventional. He now feels that there isn't enough on the video to either eliminate it or to say unequivocally that it shows a UFO. I feel that due to the unusual circumstances of the sighting that it is likely that Kevin Crump and Betty Barnick witnessed a UFO and then attempted to video-tape it somewhat successfully.

Beyond the original tape Kevin made, there have been multiple witnesses of UFOs in the Ft. Atkinson area, and strange creature sightings have occurred near there as well. Kevin has taken much more footage of nocturnal lights, some of it clearly showing a triangular light display. We are being kept informed of all that is happening there.

The last report of a triangular UFO just came. It involves a seven year old boy who saw a black triangular craft with lights on each of the points, it was perhaps 100 feet in length. It projected a white beam of light and vanished in an instant.

Subject: NEW COLORADO SIGHTING ?

I would appreciate any information anyone might have on this.

I understand that a Triangular shaped UFO was sighted at a football game during halftime at a Military installation in Colorado. The Blue Angel jet squadron was supposed to perform, but instead the crowd was treated to something quite different. The triangular shaped craft was in the stadium for about 2 minutes and hovered about 200 feet off the ground.

If this is true the implications are staggering in lew of the fact that I understand that there is a potential for quite a bit of GOOD video out of this sighting.

I haerd this from a friend who was traveling through Colorado around the time this event supposedlt happened. However, I also understand that there has been no media coverage of this event. But, since it purportedly happened at a militaru sight that may be the reason.

At this time I am stationed at Tinker AFB, Oklahoma, and have been overseas some 8 plus years in the Air Force. The report below is a little old and since Somalia has been devastated due to the civil war it will be imposible to contact anyone in that country with knowledge on the sighting of February 1982. During the time I have been stationed here at Tinker I have submitted my UFO reports to CUFO and MUFON through Mr. John Timmerman and Raymond Fowler.

UFO Sighting in Somalia

Gentlemen

While attending tech school at Keesler AFB MS in the fall of 1985 I met the acquaintance of a Major Farah Warsame of the Somalian Army. At the time he was undergoing retraining on radar theory and practice involving american equipment. He was worked with radar many years, but was trained up until recently on Russian equipment, and having lived in the U.S.S.R. for three years, has become familiar with various types of aircraft.

It is due to his prior Airforce background and radar experience, which I believe lends great credibility to Major Warsame as a rational observer of aerial phenomena. Enclosed you will find his report of UFO's he and several officers sighted on february 15, 1982. A map provided in the base library helped greatly in ascertaining accurate latitude and longitude of the sighting.

To comment briefly on the character of Major Warsame, he is married and has a family, is of high moral mettle and integrity, and would have nothing to gain publicity wise in releasing such a report. In fact the only report and interview of this account a cirvis in nature have only been by his government and myself. Fortunately Somalia does not share the paranoia surrounding UFO's unlike the U.S./U.S.S.R., and subsequently there exist no JANAP 146 to violate in the release of such data. Perhaps the most significant aspect in the report is further evidence of alien mother ships.

I have written Major Warsame recently of my intention of mailing a copy of the report to NICAP, and that your agency might request a formal interview. I have just received a letter from him with his consent to an interview. By the end of March he will be completing tech school, so I would encourage NICAP to reach him as soon as possible. His add: PSC-2 box 11633 KAFB, MS 39534, base phone 435-3413.

In conclusion I hope this information proves helpful to your research, my best wishes to NICAP and look forward to hearing from your office soon.

Sincerely yours
Howard D. Hollister, USAF

CIRVIS UFO REPORT FOLLOWS:

On February 15 1982 at 2000 hr three members of the Somalian Army while towing Radar equipment en route to capital from Galkayo at 7 deg North lat 47 deg East long did spot a long shaped UFO traveling in a Northeastern direction from the Southwest.

It appeared very long like a train flying in the sky. Light could be seen out of windows on the UFO, but could not be counted. Captain Mohamed Farah Warsame estimates its length to be 500 meters. While the three soldiers observed the UFO approaching Galkayo some 30 kil away the UFO split apart into three vessels. One went to the North, the Northeast and the third Southeast, at a speed in excess of Mach 1 or 1000 kil per hour. That same evening other officers from Lugh Ganane 3 deg North lat 43 deg East long reported same sighting.

I'm posting to say that in 20th November I watched 3 strange objects in the sky. The bigger one had a Triangular shape, and it had a body, It wasn't only light. The other 2 were similar but smaller or were farther away, I don't know. This happened at 22:30 in Vale de Milhaços, Near Lisbon, In Portugal. Two more people watched this. The objects passed very quickly across the sky from NE to SW. When I lost it from my sight, it got a lot more luminous, about mag -4, kind of. It was pretty odd, before they appeared my light bulb from the street got off, and adter it disappeared it came back. There were more light bulbs in the street but this dind't happened to them.

Propably an amazing coincidence.

Has anyone experienced or heard of recent sightings (within the last 10 years) in Andean Regions of Bolivia? While hiking high on the Altiplano in Bolivia 10 years ago this January, I witnessed a dazzling display of bright, laser-like lights shooting up at the sky behind a bluff nearly two miles away late at night with a group of Quechua-speaking indigenous farmers. When I asked them what it was they smiled and refused to tell me. After insisting for them to tell me what I was seeing they explained it came from up there, pointing at the night sky. "Military?" I asked, knowing that the U.S. were present in Bolivia. The Bolivians shook their heads and pointed to the sky again. I nervously followed my companions back to our sleeping quarters--a half hour hike down the bluff we were standing on in the pitch dark of night. The name of the bluff is Misquipampa, outside of Cochabamba, Bolivia.

Subj: UFO Sighting in Oshkosh, Wisconsin

SIT Report

Here are the sighting details. I interviewed two Wisconsin users two weeks ago right there in the Sightings chat room. The UFO was seen Wednesday night, November 2, 1995, about five miles west of Oshkosh, Wisconsin. The object was airborne, cigar-shaped with a bright white light in the front and a fainter white light at the rear. Two guys driving west on Highway 21 saw the UFO. They said it was flying north at a slow rate of speed, heading for Lake Butte des Morts. As it passed in front of their car, the UFO showed small flashing gold, green and red lights on the bottom. The witnesses pulled off the highway and telephoned the Oshkosh P.D.

However, two homeowners living in that area had just phoned the police department minutes before, reporting the UFO's overflight. The sighting was written up in the local Oshkosh daily newspaper on Thursday, November 3, 1995.

Although there is a lot of junk on the group I couldn't find any better.

Last night about 02:30 I heared a loud noise flying over my house.
It sounded as large object cutting through the air with high speed.
When it approched I didn't hear any engine sound. When it flew away from me I could hear a weak humming sound. This all took about 3 seconds. It must have been very fast because after 3 seconds I couldn't hear it while the sound was as loud as a storm (only the high tones) when it was at it loudest. This all happend in GOIRLE, THE NETHERALNDS, close to the Belgium border.
Anyone had the same experiance? Any reports like mine?

Regards, Twan.

This is a report of something I saw on 10/30/95. Please reply if you have seen a similar event.

It was August 30th, and I was hiking in the hills above Los Altos. I was at the summit of a hill (approx. 1000ft.) The time was about 8 p.m., and it was starting to grow dark. At the summit, I looked north towards the hills near Page Mill & 280, and saw what seemed to be the lights of three light aircraft converging on a point west of the radio telescope. They were at a distance of about three miles from this point of convergence at speeds that seemed normal for small aircraft. Their headings were approx 315, 120, and 240 degrees. I saw these craft as diffuse, yellow lights, and I distinctly remember there were no other colored or flashing lights accompanying these objects. I thought it was odd for these three planes to follow a somewhat risky course, so I decided to keep my eye on them. I looked again about 30 seconds later and noticed that their distance was closing. Their bearings seemed the same, and their distance from each other was halved. I took note of this and decided to look that way again. Another 30 seconds passed, and I looked northward to see approximately 6 or 7 lights flying near the point of convergence in what appeared to be circular paths independent of the others. My first impression is that it was a "swarming" motion, although each object appeared to hold their altitude. In my judgement, the speed of this swarming motion varied from private-plane speeds to those I normally associate with fighter aircraft. These 6 or 7 lights were reddish, slightly smaller than the initial three, and judging from their position relative to the nearby hills, I would guess their altitude was around 1000-1500 feet.

A doughnut-shaped "flying saucer" glowed for an hour over a provincial city park Saturday night, attracting a crowd of awed onlookers and cameramen, news reports said Sunday.

The strange object emitted a wave of luminous red light from its center and moved slowly and soundlessly over a hilly park in the southern city of Taegu, Yonhap news agency said.

Television and radio stations were swamped with telephone calls by witnesses who claimed it was an unidentified flying object (UFO), Yonhap said.

An air force surveillance team in the city also saw the glowing saucer through binoculars but failed to detect it on a radar screen, it said.

Many people in the city were reported to have photographed the saucer.

The pilots of four aircraft reported UFO sightings over North East China, it was revealed yesterday.

The captain of an internal flight to Beijing on December 4 radioed that he could see "a white oval object travelling at about 550mph." He later reported that it "turned green and followed the aeroplane's flight path." Within minutes, the captain of another airliner reported seeing the same thing, and two others spotted red or yellow UFOs.

Subject: UFO Sighting?

Hello all. This is my first post this group. I just wanted to relay a possible UFO sighting I had in the spring of 1995. Before I tell my story I just want to make it clear that I ain't one of them people whose heads are in the clouds always looking for something odd. I'm your average small town Joe who works at a factory for a living. I don't smoke, drink, take drugs or nothing like that. The following incident was witnessed by my brother who was with me at the time. Also there is an airport in this town of 13,000 people and Offut AFB lays 100 miles north of me in Omaha, NE.

I was on the edge of town town towards dusk. It was about 7:30, the sun had already set and things were getting dark fast. I was 2 miles due south of the runway when I spotted a bright light, much like the bright light you see on the front of a small airplane which pilots use to be able to see at night. Anyway, as this light approached from the south, I stopped my Suburban and got out to watch. I just figured it was an airplane so my brother and I wanted to watch it as it flew overhead. But as it got closer, I never heard any prop noise or nothing. All I heard was the same noise you hear when a passenger jet flies over at night at high altitude. It is kind of the distant low hollow hissing noise you hear. But the light was VERY bright as if it was a Cessna or small craft approaching the strip at about 700 ft up. As it proceeded to fly north and fly overhead of me and my brother, I

As viewed here, this would be the bottom of the craft as it flew north.
The vertical lines appeared like they were actual slits cut into the craft and were lighted from within by a pretty iridescent blue...much like the color of an indiglo watch. I also remember that the lights on the sides (where you see the "o"'s) were not in standard aircraft lighting with the green on the right and red on the left. They were both white steady lights. The light on the rear (..) was a steady red light and the light on front (++) was a steady white light. Unfortunately, I can't remember where the flashing beacon light was. It was in either one of the locales marked with the letter "B". As it passed overhead it was moving at the same speed a passenger jet would apparently be moving as viewed from the ground while at cruising altitude. Like I stated before, if it was actually that high up, it would have had to have been a LARGE craft - enough to eat up the surface area of 5 or 6 passenger jets. But it seemed to me that it was at lower altitudes. Maybe even as low as 1,000 feet but it was very quiet. Things just didn't add up when I saw it.

After it passed us by, we jumped in the Suburban and drove about a mile north at about 60 MPH, but by the time we ran out of road, it looked as though it had already sped up and I would approximate it had covered about 5 to 9 miles on us based upon the comparison of the lights I can see from a small town about 9 miles north and to the east of where I was at.

After this incident, I retraced the path it flew in the sky and it had made a big graceful curve like this (barring ascii limitations):

| Direction of travel ----> | W | Dead end |
|---------------------------|---|--------------------------------------|
| — | | _____ |
| —_/_/ | | —About_2_miles _____/

It almost seemed to me that it lined up with the runway just so I could "see" it and then went on its merry way. This is a terrible picture and is not to scale but it helps you to visualize what happened.

As an addendum to the story, my other brother showed me an article in the December 1991 Popular Mechanics and on page 35 is almost an exact representation of what I saw except note what differences there are between this Top Secret craft and my descripts. There are still some discrepancies.

The craft did appear to be black, much like the SR-71 but it could have been any shade of a dark color. It sure wasn't white - I'm positive on that.

I know I'll get called a nut but my story is consistant everytime I tell it. I know what I saw and I will never forget it.

On September 25, 1995, on northbound 395, at about 8:30 in the morning about 15 miles south of a desert town called Johannesburg (spelling it not right).
Me and a friend were going to Yosemite from San Diego. The weather was clear with low clouds (kind of streaky with some billow on top) blue sky. I was traveling in an area with no where to turn off, the shoulder was very narrow and we were on a slight incline. I was going about 80 mph when my friend pointed up to the sky on the left. I leaned forward and looked out the windshield and saw two luminescent disks in the sky. I could not believe it. There was a car about 20 car lengths ahead and we wondered if they saw the U.F.O.'s too. Apparently not. I slowed by speed to 15 mph so I could watch glimpsing in the rear view mirror worried I would be rearended, but nobody is there as far as I can see. We watch the U.F.O.'s...The one on top in the formation darts to the right at an incredible speed and stops, instantly. The other one mirrors the move from the underneath position, like a game of tag. The top U.F.O. now darts down at an angle to the point of a triangle and again, its friend follows. The lead U.F.O. then darts at an angle like a V completing the triangle and again the other follows. The lead U.F.O. darts again and incredible speed to the right again on a path parallel to the earth. It's funny when the objects are still in a hover position they appear to be disks. But when they move they elongate and take on a more triangular shape. The lead U.F.O. hovers under the clouds, it appears to change shape from a disk to a sphere...then it shoots up into the clouds. I could see vapor wafting off the craft as the clouds part as the U.F.O. accelerates. Its friend followed without the hover maneuver. I know what I saw was not an hallucination, my friend saw the U.F.O.'s too. If fact she saw them first. We know these objects were not planes or jets or helicopters or balloons or anything we had ever seen. It bothers me that I do not know what they were. Edwards Air Force Base is out there as is China Lake and some other military facilities. But it is hard for me to believe that our military has the technology to make an object in the sky move like these objects. If they do, they should be sharing the information we the public. I really wish I knew.

Subject: Colorado Springs newspaper article on UFO sightings in area

I got this on a mailing list and thought it was interesting enough to post. The sighting by the two women is particularly interesting. This article ran in a Colorado Springs newspaper on January 7.

Bizarre occurrences part of area's folklore
By D'Arcy Fallon/Gazette Telegraph

Brandy Edwards, 6, was playing in her yard, looking to the sky for rain, last August 27 when she told her father to look up. Tim Edwards then took videos of an object hovering overhead. Life as he knew it changed for Tim Edwards after seeing and videotaping what many believe is a UFO. Since then, the cafe owner from Salida has been nervous and jumpy, looking at the heavens for other sightings. "There are so many weird things up here," he says.

On Sept. 23, Jeanne Shaw and her sister Loni Smith saw what they call a "mothership," the size of a football field going by a window at Shaw's home near La Veta. Shaw's children also saw the UFO, as did others in the area.

SAN LUIS VALLEY -- Tim Edwards is a jumpy man these days. Some might say he's an ordinary guy reacting to an extraordinary experience. Others might say he's seen too many "Twilight Zone" reruns. Puffing nervously on a Marlboro, Edwards, binoculars around his neck, paces back and forth on the front lawn of his Salida home and gestures to the mountains above him. Up there. He gazes at the sky with palpable longing. "There are so many weird things up here," says Edwards, 42, a quiet man who runs a popular family care with his wife and father.

Edwards swears he saw a UFO in August from his back yard, and he's still shaken up about it.
"I don't look outside no more. I don't get no sleep."
He's probably not alone.
Over the years, several people in the San Luis Valley claim they've seen Bigfoot, cattle mutilations, glowing fireballs, and yes, oddly shaped UFOs and "mother ships" that twist and dart across the night sky. Residents of this sweeping, semiarid expanse of pinon and rabbitbrush say this is a mysterious place of sacred mountains and bubbling hot springs, of oddly-placed sand dunes, lush meadows and some of the richest soil in the country.
At an average elevation of 7,600 feet -- more than a mile and a half above sea level -- the San Luis Valley is the highest and largest alpine valley in the world. Three times the size of Delaware and flanked by the Sangre de Cristo and San Juan mountains, the valley is home to a diverse group: yuppie stargazers, hardscrabble alfalfa farmers, sheep ranchers, folk artists, Guatemalan refugees and descendants of original settlers of the Sangre de Cristo land grant, who came from Mexico.
Steeped in history and folklore. the San Luis Valley has long been a UFO hotbed. As long ago as 1917, the residents of Salida told of mysterious "vehicles of the air" flying about the night sky, according to a 78-year-old edition of The Salida Record.
The valley "is one of the most sacred areas in North America to the indigenous people," said UFO expert Christopher O'Brien, who lives in the tiny, New Age hamlet of Crestone and tracks the valley's UFO activity in a bi-monthly newsletter, "The Mysterious Valley Report."
(He also is the author of "The Mysterious Valley," due out this summer from St. Martin's Press.)
Many American Indians considered the valley's Mount Blanca to be the Sacred Mountain of the East -- a door- way for the emergence of the Star People, often described as "arriving aboard flying seedpods," according to an article in Spirit magazine, which is New Age oriented.
But Tim Edwards says he didn't see a flying seedpod on Aug. 27. He describes it as a silver cigar-shaped spacecraft.

Like Richard Dreyfuss in "Close Encounters of the Third Kind," Edwards exudes an aura of nervous intensity as he talks about the sighting. It happened on a Sunday morning when Edwards was working outside on his house with his daughter, Brandy, 6, at his side. Brandy, worried that it might rain, looked upward and said, "Daddy, there's something up there in the sky," Edwards recounted last week. He brushed off his daughter's comments, but when she kept insisting he look up, Edwards said he realized she was right. There was something in the sky. The Wasson High School graduate grabbed his video camera and for more than a hour shot footage of the disc shaped or cigar-shaped object. It had oscillating lights that appeared to rotate from left to right, and it darted back and forth just above the morning sun. During subsequent sightings, Edwards shot videotapes showing small, white spheres emerging from the object. Edwards' first tape was shown in November on "Sightings," a TV show about UFOs and other strange phenomenon, and was analyzed by Village Labs, a digital video technology company in Tempe, Ariz. Village Labs president Jim Dilettoso said the tape wasn't a hoax or an optic aberration. He said it appeared to contain legitimate footage of a very large, solid, possibly three-dimensional object flying at high altitude. Whether one believes Edwards saw a UFO or simply an odd-looking plane, he swears he's a changed man. "They put some feelings in me I've never had before," he said. "When I was looking at the main craft, I got, like, an electrical impulse through my body. It was very important for the world to know the truth. Now I'm convinced we're not alone." The UFOs are buzzing the Earth because they're concerned about its inhabitants, much like humans are curious about whales and dolphins, said Edwards. And how should earthlings respond? With "brotherhood, universal love, and get rid of the nuclear stuff," Edwards said. "Not since Jesus was here has something so major come down," he added. "Most people are terrified that something could be out there." Or fascinated.

On the eastern edge of the huge valley, on a windswept hillside near La Veta, two sisters, Jeanne Shaw, 49, and Loni Smith, 53, talked about their cosmic encounter.

Before launching into her side of the story, Shaw explained she had always seen herself as "a bit of a skeptic" when it came to the paranormal. "Just because I see a little light in the sky, doesn't mean it's a UFO," she said.

Shaw's sister, a property manager in La Veta, is the same way. In fact, neither of the sisters -- who grew up in Colorado Springs -- seemed quick to jump on the UFO bandwagon. And yet both are unshakeable in their explanation about what they saw one night this past fall.

It wasn't a Black Hawk helicopter, as the Walsenburg police suggested to them when they phoned in alarm. Not a plane. Not a dream or an hallucination. It was a UFO.

Here's their story: On Sept. 23, about 8:15 p.m., as Shaw, her two children and Smith sat at the kitchen table after dinner, they heard a strange humming outside their mobile home in the Navajo Ranch Resorts subdivision, located between La Veta and Walsenburg.

"I heard, no, felt this humming noise," said Shaw, who moved to the La Veta area last spring after she got tired of life in Denver. "I felt something huge coming up the back of my lot."

Smith: "It was a vibration, although the windows weren't rattling."

They looked out the window and say they saw a slow-moving, rectangular-shaped spacecraft skimming the tops of the pinon trees. It had yellow and white oscillating lights in front and two red lights in the back, like a Cadillac's. They estimated it was as wide and long as a football field. Shaw:

"It was huge."

Smith: "It was monstrous. It was the mother ship."

The sisters' words leapfrogged over each other as they attempt to explain their reactions to the sighting.

Tumbling out of the mobile home, they stared, incredulous at the thing.

Smith: "Our mouths were open to our navels. I felt like I was looking up at the bottom of a barge."

Shaw: "My knees buckled. I screamed. It was in our face."

As the object slowly moved away from them, Smith waved her arms after it, yelling, "Here we are! Here we are!"

Shaw, petrified, slugged her sister on the arm. "Shut up!" she said. "They'll beam us up!"
Shaw's son, Robert, 27, ran behind the spacecraft as it flew down the arroyo, trying to catch up with it. Shaw estimates it took about 20 minutes before it disappeared.
Two miles away in the subdivision, another resident, Joan Newland, was getting ready for bed. She, too, heard a low humming noise and figured it was a helicopter. But the sound persisted, and her dogs were going wild.
She looked out the window and gasped. Like Shaw, her knees buckled.
"It was huge. I saw it going over the trees. It was a shock to see something that big. I thought, holy..., what is that?"
Shaken and frightened, Newland decided to keep her observation to herself.
Then she got a call from Shaw, asking if she'd seen something strange out her window. The women compared notes and decided it must have been a UFO.
"What else could it have been'?" asked Newland plaintively.
"There's nothing that could fly that low without making any draft or wind."
Since that night, neither Newland nor Shaw has seen the spacecraft. Not that they've stopped looking.
Newland: "We keep our eyes to the sky now."
Shaw: "Only about 20 times a night."

from "ELDER SEES MYSTER LIGHTS" - UFO sightings abound across Western NWT
by P.J. Harston
Deh Cho Drum (Fort Simpson) - January 11, 1996

On Nov.13, just after 5 p.m., he and an eight-year old boy were driving out of Fort Simpson toward the Wild Rose Acres, subdivision when they both spotted what he first thought was the red light of a radio tower. "But we could see the radio tower lights and this one wasn't part of it," Norwegian said. The light hovered in one spot over the Mackenzie River and began to change color: red, then blue, then a bright white, flashing green and then red again. After about a minute and a half, the light sped away faster than any aircraft he had ever seen before - so fast, it left a trail of brilliant light behind it. "At first, I thought it might be a plane or helicopter, but then I knew it couldn't be because it went away so fast and because the colours of lights changed," Norwegian said.

Anyone have any idea what this could be?

Subject: Summer in Ithaca New York!

I am writing this not because I am a UFO believer but because you might be able to help me with my "sigthing" over Ithaca, New York, this Summer.

My girlfriend (she believes in OFUs I am not) and I went to swim in one of the reservoirs around Ithaca this Summer. (I just found this group, so I will try to post this.) After swimming, we were sitting in the dark (around 9:30 PM) and I saw something flying? jumping? on the sky not too far, about a half a mile away over the mountains. It took about 10 jumps and this thing got behind a bigger mountain. No noise, just orange light and circle shape on the bottom (I did not see the top). I am pretty sure this was not an airplane and it did not use air for its support in moving. I studied physics and I know how airplanes fly, they need continuous speed and airflow over their wings to produce power (pressure difference, Bernoulli law) over the wings. No when this thing stopped between jumps I do not think such a power existed to support its weight. If it was a helicopter, there should have been acceleration and slow down between jumps, now in this case, it was more like a frog jumping right forward (not upward and forward) in the air. The most suprising thing I've seen in my life. Did you guys see anything similar to this?

I am not a UFO maniac and I was not on the crave to see one. Actually I had a happy life without them. Thanks, Laszlo Boros

Subject: UFO sighted over Manchester Airport

Did anyone else see the report on the front page of the Times (Friday 2nd February 1996) concerning the two pilots of a British Airway's 737 who reported seeing a wedge shape craft covered in white lights with a black stripe down the side. This craft came so close to their plane that the first officer ducked thinking it was going to collide with them. This event occurred last January (1995) the C.A.A investigated and could not find any logical explanation. The pilots reported the sighting at the time but air traffic control did not see anything on the radar. This is the fourth such incident in recent years. Credit to the pilots for coming forward and relating their story.

Subject: Strange Flying Object in Rome

Hi everyone,

this is my first posting on this group... I want to tell you about something happened to me...

Some months ago, I was walking with my girlfriend and her brother on a famous road of Rome : via Appia Antica. There is a military airport close to that road. Suddenly, my attention was caught from a deep-blue sphere moving in the sky...

I thought it was a meteorological balloon... anyway it stopped in the sky, and, after ten seconds, it began moving on the left quickly... very quickly !

After a couple of seconds, I've seen a pair of military helicopters going in the same way !

Keep in mind that the sphere was totally dull, and I've seen no external mechanisms... in addition, keep in mind that my girlfriend and her brother saw the same things...

I've never believed in things like humanoid aliens or UFO and so on (even if I like X-FILES series very much)... I've always believed that the first alien form of life we will encounter will be a simple organism, such like a cell or a virus...

But what I've seen is stunning ! The question is : is that a UFO or a new military air unit ?

*Somaliland Officials Frightened by UFO, request help

UFOs PUZZLING AND FRIGHTENING SOMALILAND OFFICIALS

Government officials in the self-declared republic of Somaliland have appealed for help from the international community in solving an incident on December 5 and 7, 1995, in which two UFOs were seen to explode over the Gulf of Aden. Soon after the sightings, many of the local inhabitants came down with medical ailments such as coughing, diarrhea, respiratory difficulties, and headaches. Children were reportedly the worst affected, with a number dying of their ailments. Animals were seen running out of control shortly after the sightings. As of yet, no debris from the exploded objects has been found.

Sightings of interest.

30th December 1995 02.15 Am Local time Melrose South Australia.
Respondent caller reports sighting of a large white light object travelling from East to West over Melrose district - South Australia at 2.15 am. The object crossed at 45 deg. in the northern sky and it appeared to "jump up and down", moved in a fashion which would be difficult for an conventional aircraft. The object was first sighted in the Eastern sky and was watched for about 20 min. until it disappeared over the North-west horizon. Respondent states, "there were no multi-colours, no sound just a huge bright white light, It was close enough to cast a shadow behind me. It was not a plane and there again we would have heard its engine".

This service has received 1000's similar reports over the past year.
A number of similar sightings have occurred on the line between Adelaide
to Darwin.
It is also interesting to see the recent reports from Timor, Japan, Korea and Eastern China when correlated with these local reports.

31st December 1995. Mulden Northern Territory 11.45 PM Respondent callers report sightings of "Four Orange light objects" travelling slowly over the Mulden area in the Northern Territory. The first sighting took place at (23:30) or 11.30 to 11.45 PM 31/12/95 then again some two hours latter at 1.45 AM 01/01/96 .

Respondents report that these objects were "intense bright orange light objects" which travelled slowly, conducting various aerial formations then finally settling upon a triangular or diamond shape formation before moving out of sight.

Sunday 7th Jan. 1996 8.20 PM local time. Central East Northern Territory
A cattle station hand sighted in daylight a "battleship grey object
"reportedly to be 100 ft W by 40 ft H with a box shape underneath - 25 ft W by 6 ft H, while holding an altitude of about 130 feet. The top of the object seemed to be spinning exceedingly fast while the bottom was not moving, it emitted vapour and a smell like "steam off hot metal and there was a whirl wind or vortex underneath near wild livestock". The station hand an Ex Marine and UN force member, reported that he had taking photo's and noted that "the cattle and wild horses were transfixed to the object", thus quickly evacuated the area not before photographing the object.

8th to 15th Jan 1996 calls from most parts of Australia.

Tuesday 16th Jan. 1996 approx. 11:30 PM local time. Cairns, Queensland.
Reports of an object about 2 Klm high emitting a shaft of light from its underside, the object appeared to "expel a gas or vapour from its sides and seemed to be about 2-300 meters in width, the beam emitted was about 150-250 meters wide".
Reportedly the object moved up and down the white shaft of light in the East over the sea.

Thursday 18th Jan 1996. approx. 10.30 local time Redland Bay, Queensland.
HOTSPOT AREA. Over the past 18 Mths.
Callers report sighting a "large green object" emitting a beam of white light downward in a "A- shape ". The object appeared to be "about 2-300 meters" across with the beam of light about 100 meters across to the East.

Friday 19th Jan. 1996. 2:30 AM local time. Millnmeran, Queensland.
Respondents caller witnessed a large object about 1-2 Klm away. South East East. The respondents report witnessing a 200mtr plus size -multi coloured object that emitted a beam of light about 1-200 mtrs wide, over a large creek in the area. The object appeared to be about 800 meters up.. A respondent claimed to be former UFO sceptics but now has changed their mind about the issues.

Saturday 3rd Feb. 1996 approx. 10.45 PM local time Townsville Qld.
(EST. 23:45)
Callers report sighting two spinning orange fire lights in the south west sky of Townsville and watched for some 20 minutes before the objects headed to the north east of Townsville before shooting off in to the west. The objects looked like spinning flying fire in the sky.

Saturday 3rd Feb. 1996 approx. 10.20 PM local time. Northern Territory (Est. 23:50)
Two car loads of people unknown to each other, reported seeing a fast moving Orange soundless fireball light that came out of the northern of the sky. The fireball light suddenly stopped and remained still for sometime, it was low in the horizon when another similar fireball meet up with the first. They then both proceeded to head south slowly together.

Saturday 3rd Feb. 1996 approx. 11.58 Emerald-Cockatoo Area Vic.
(EST 23:58)
A amateur astronomer reports to have sighted two fireballs appear to arise over the Telecom tower at Mt. Burnett near Cockatoo. The witness apparently was viewing the moon with a telescope, when a startling fizzing sound was heard. The loud sound was like an "unsealing bottle of lemonade". We turned to look and "Oh, that's when we saw two large round fire balls. They just appeared from nowhere, they were balled shape with an almost transparent appearance, the colours were what seemed like a fiery glaze, orange was the predominant colour or light source. The witness said "that they have never seen anything like this in 26 year of sky watching" and have no idea what they were. The witnesses went on to say that they will be there tomorrow night just in case the phenomenon reappears.

Sunday 4th Feb. 1996 approx. 12.20 AM local time. Ferntree Gully Vic.
(EST. 00:20)
Callers report sighting two bright orange lights heading in unison towards the Melbourne city area. The witnesses claim that the objects seemed to be swirling around in a controlled fashion. One respondent claimed seeing a similar thing last Thursday over the Ferntree Gully area.

Monday 5th Feb. 1996 Approx.: 10:40 PM Endeavour Hills, Melbourne.
(EST.22:40)
Witness reports sighting a Bright Amber light travelling on a North East heading over Melbourne eastern suburbs. The object was very bright and was thought to be at a high altitude, no sound heard.

Monday 5th Feb. 1996 Approx: 10:50 PM local time Ringwood, Melbourne.
(EST.22:50)
Witnesses report sighting two Orange lights travelling over the Ringwood district. The objects were low in height, travelling about 50-80 knots on a West West North heading arising out of the southern Dandenongs district. As reported, one object stopped over the Orchard Park area whilst the other object continued, a short time later, the stopped object then moved off as if to catch up to other. No sound heard.
Melbourne (Tul). Weather as @ 11:30, Slight Southerly (South to North) 12 Knot winds up to 3000 feet.

Tuesday 6th Feb. 1996 Whiteside Brisbane Qld. Details yet unknown.

Wednesday 7th Feb.1996 Approx: 9:30PM Turramurra Sydney. NSW (EST 21:30)
A satellite size light was sighted tonight heading in a Southerly direction over Sydney.

The object apparently stopped repeatedly and moved in a Zig- Zig fashion several times.
The objects sudden change of directions were reported to be greater than 70 degrees, it was last seen heading South.

Friday 9th Feb. 1996 Approx: 12.37 AM Local time Milton, Brisbane, Qld.
(EST 0037)

Respondent reports seeing a Large Cigar shaped - white light with a golden tail crossing the southern sky from west to east. The respondent at first thought it was an aeroplane on fire or in trouble. The object reportedly was about 10-15 Klm away, as large as 20 commercial aircraft or bigger, it was about 35 degrees up from the horizon and travelled far too slow and was seen too long a time to be a meteorite..

Subject: Red//Green Lights in N. NJ

Last winter my husband and I were driving my son to see his father and we stopped off at a shopping center which had a McDonald's, for a soda. We went in. When we were getting our kids in the car, a light in the sky caught my eye. It was a red ball of light. It was moving over the treetops, from what I could tell, silently. It arched up and left. Right before it disappeared over (behind?) the trees - it turned green. I couldn't believe what I had just seen. The whole thing last all of about six seconds. It was incredible! I only told a couple of people, but I couldn't stop thinking about it. After a while I started to doubt what I had seen with my own eyes. Three days later there was a report on Ch. 4 news about red and green lights in the sky in upstate NY. It blew my mind. Unfortunately Ch.4 had no explanation of this phenom. Having doubted what I myself had witnessed, it's no wonder the general public thinks sighters are cracked. Has anyone seen these lights too. I'm aching for insight.

To this day, one year later, I can't be a passenger in a car
spending the trip watching the night sky.
