

Iceheart TOS

By using my images you agree to the below, don't worry all this is mostly for YOUR protection. I'm not asking for anything of yours lol.

I request you do, but it is not required to leave my signature on these pieces

Regardless of what the art is, if it is created by me DO NOT use it for AI.

This is for morality purposes (i worry about the sentience of the AI and how much freedom they have) for more information there will be a video soon on my stance with AI

TERMS FOR USING MY CHARACTERS

What I mean by this is things like fan-work or drawing my characters with your own.

This is pretty much always ok, with very little "don'ts". The only thing that I ask is don't be a bigot with them, don't make me update this part to be more specific lol. Feel free to change the designs / cloths / species, whatever you think is interesting im interested in seeing

If you do, it'd be super cool if you tag me on whatever platform you post, or if you would prefer a simple DM, check out my Bsky or Discord :)

TERMS FOR FREE CHARACTERS

By free characters I am referring to fully colored, rendered, or "designed" characters on my page. These are meant to be used as pre-made profiles or references for your own works

No one owns any of these characters! I highly encourage you to create and change them to your heart's content to name and make your own character, heavy referencing and tracing is all good and fine, but do not be upset that other people are using the character

I do not use references while making these characters, and they are not meant to resemble any other character, brand, person, or motive. If something looks really similar to something you own contact me and depending on the situation a character might be taken down.

Please do not sell these characters, if you see someone doing so contact me and I will do my best to sort it out. They are meant to be free use by everyone, and are not claimable.

TERMS FOR COLOR-IN PAGES

Color-in pages refers to pages that are made without color that are meant to be colored in by the consumer.

Please feel free to change, trace, erase, and modify however you want! I would prefer that you keep content you make from my art free / not sold, however if you create a character it is YOUR character. I have no ownership over your colors, patterns, or designs. I request you do not sell things directly from my portfolio, but using these things for content creation that leads to money is fine

Please be kind when considering these things, i do not want to change that rule but i will if i have to. My goal is to inspire others to put creativity over money, and hopefully use these tools to learn and enjoy themselves.

TERMS FOR MY PERSONAL CONTENT

My personal content refers to my characters, logos, stories, and pictures not uploaded to the free archive (the free section of Tannith's Gumroad).

You are allowed to trace any and all of my personal content, I allow usage of my pictures for icons, backgrounds, and references. However I am more strict with reselling these. These are my characters, and I request you respect that. Anything that is directly my picture or character CANNOT be sold by anyone other than me

TERMS FOR COMMISSIONS AND YCHS

Please DO NOT steal, trace, or heavily reference someone else's character without their permission. If someone has commissioned me it will be clear the image is a commission.

This being said, if you intend to commission me you have full control over whether your picture is posted on any of my accounts at all. If you decide it's ok, and later change your mind let me know and I will take the image down.

IF you decide that you want your image posted on any of my channels, be aware that I encourage tracing of my art. As it is NEVER ok to steal from someone who doesn't want their content taken, and you should always respect those boundaries, there are going to be some people who haven't read the TOS, and some who just ignore it. By allowing me to post your commission you accept the risk of others doing this

I also hold the ability to take down any of my posts at any time, and I am not required to store your art for you. Any and all storage of your art (after the commission process is finished) is fully the buyers responsibility. I hold the ability to stop the commission process at any time and refund the buyer depending on how much of the process is done.
