

The lost kids

The Williams family went out for a hiking trip in the weekends for their holiday in the daytime. "This is gonna be GREAT!" positively announced Jess "I don't know how you can say that" replied Jeff bored looking in his phone. The two kids happen to come across a fine looking bird "Jeff come quick so we can take a photo there is a beautiful bird, I don't want it to fly away!" shouted Jess. "I'm coming, I'm coming calm your horses!" answered Jeff.

As the kids take a photo of the bird their parents Christopher and Millie just continuously extend there hike. Christopher and Millie don't realize that Jess and Jeff is taking a photo of a bird. The kids begin walking but they end up in a fork road.

There were two paths "MUM! DAD! We are here!" Shouted Jeff. They didn't know which way to go so they went down the path that didn't look weird. As they were walking Jess happened to have a feeling that they were going down the wrong way. "Jeff are you sure we are going down the right way?" said Jess, "Of course how can we not" replied Jeff.

It starts to get darker and darker as they go down the path. They have not seen any sight of their parents. The kids finally realise they are lost! "We should look for foot prints" suggested Jess. "Ok I will use my torch on my phone" suggested Jeff, "Ok thats good, we can have something to see". The kids continue looking for footprints, "I think I can try make a call" said Jeff, but there was no signal.

"Wait, Wait Jeff I have just remembered I bought a compass and a map" said Jess, "Ok that's good" replied Jeff. using the map and compass also the phone light they find an open area with no trees. They make a fire, "You look cold Jess do you need my jacket?" said Jeff "Oh, thank you I was freezing" replied Jess.

Jeff and Jess are so scared that they lost their parents. They stayed up until the sun slowly flew up. They see a figure hoping that it is their parents. They immediately start running towards it saying "Help, Help We are lost!". As they have got closer and closer they see their Mother and Father running towards them. "Kids, Kids we are here" shouted Millie and Christopher. "We missed you guys sooo much!” cried Jess, “Same as us” said Millie. Then they all walked back out of the forest and back home.
