

Literal Meaning: Finding the Answers in a Nonfiction Text

Trick or Treating is on for P.E.I.

Children on P.E.I. will be allowed to go out trick or treating under pandemic public health guidelines, Chief Public Health Officer Dr. Heather Morrison announced Tuesday.

Morrison made the announcement during the weekly pandemic briefing Tuesday morning. She did outline some recommended restrictions.

Children should limit the number of places they visit, sticking to their own neighbourhoods and people they know. Contact while treats are handed out should be limited. Instead of handing over treats or putting them in a communal bowl, place them on a table or surface that can be cleaned.

If a doorway is already occupied by other trick or treaters, keep your distance and wait your turn.

Dr. Morrison also asked people to respect homes that do not wish to take part in trick or treating and have their lights off.

<https://www.cbc.ca/news/canada/prince-edward-island/pei-pandemic-briefing-sept-22-1.5733685>

Can you find the answers? First, highlight the key word(s) in the question. Then find where the key word(s) are in the article. Lastly, read that part.

1. Did Dr. Morrison say we can or can't have trick-or-treating?
2. Should you go to as many houses as usual?
3. How should people give you the treats?
4. What do you do if there are already people at the door?
5. If someone has their lights off, what does it mean?