

THE PANTHERS SERIES

Try Again #1

Try Later #2

Try Better #3

Synopsis:

The Panthers are the three high men who will inherit their shared fathers' company. Solace Complex and Resort, the most highest and wealthiest Company of all California. With its own restaurant, casino, and security team, the best place to be is at the Solace Complex. Made by three founders, Eric Moore, Dario Marino, and Lucas Wilson. Moore Security, Godere Marino, Wilson's Casino. All will be inherited to the three sons. The Panthers. Xander Moore, Dante Marino, and Gareth Wilson. With high wealth, and soon to be kings, their image is cleaner than a fresh napkin. Though they hide something deeper. Something wicked. No one gets past them but three did. Even if the three didn't want to.

Try Again

She's someone I must protect. Someone I need to watch out for from the watcher. She is my safe and I'm her guard. Gareth should have never put me as his sister's guard. Night Wilson, she's chaotic, outgoing, and she has the look of a sunset dream. She was once someone I loved but she left. Now she's back and in danger. No one threatens what's mine.

He's someone I should get away from. Someone who thinks he has a say in my life. I don't know why my brother had put me under his protection. Xander Moore, he's malice, hidden, and he has the look of a dangerous prince. He's becoming too close no matter how much I push him away. But the more he stays away, the more I'll start to itch for his presence.

Try Later

Nothing makes me feel greater than having a woman give me all her appreciation. I've had every woman beg on their knees for me and I haven't met one that treats me like a nobody. Except her. Riley Carson. Gorgeous, quiet, and oh is her manners below her beauty. Though, I love a good challenge. When she finds herself tangled up in a mess that only I, her one and only, can help her with, she'll beg. I don't do commitments but the more I uncover Riley's scars, the more I'm being drawn to her true self. I won't let her go then.

I didn't think I'd come across someone like him. We are different personalities that ended up on the same road. Dante Marino is a chef, an arrogant, and egoistic fool who only cares about the women his eyes fetch. One problem, I need him. I need him specifically for a mistake I've made. I thought him helping me was just enough, until it becomes deeper than help. I thought it will pass but he's there. Everywhere. He'll want me close but the more I trust him, the more I get close to a heartbreak.

Try Better

This was never how it was supposed to be. I only needed her for one thing but something has kept me so attached to her. It's so forbidden, so wrong. What hurts me the most is she will never be mine. Amira Jalal, beautiful, a hot head, and a Muslim. There is no way she'll be for me even if I rip open this Earth from inside out. But she won't be for anyone else. Even if I have to get my hands dirty for her.

No matter where I go, I always end up in situations where he's always there. I don't mind because I could care less about him and that goes for him too. Or so I thought. Gareth Wilson, a charmer, popular, and a devoted Christian. There was never a start for an end to us. He knows it and I do too. But as soon as he has eyes on me, he will never let any other person take a glimpse.