Maternal Grief 1:1 Spiritual Healing Program

Healing Your Sacred Wound and Reconnecting with Your Child

Dear Mama,

I see you in the depths of your profound pain. I see the way grief has shattered not just your heart, but your very sense of reality. I see how you move through each day feeling like a ghost of who you once were, carrying an ache so deep it feels like it emanates from your soul itself.

What you're experiencing after the death of your child isn't ordinary grief that can be processed through traditional counseling or managed with coping strategies. This is a sacred wound—a spiritual injury that occurred when the eternal bond between you and your child was violently disrupted by death.

This is why everything you've tried so far hasn't brought the relief your heart desperately seeks. The well-meaning friends who tell you to "find closure," the grief counselors who suggest you need to "let go and move on," the support groups that focus on emotional processing—they're all addressing the surface symptoms while completely missing the deeper spiritual reality of what you're experiencing.

There is nothing wrong with you for not healing according to their timelines or expectations. Your continuing anguish isn't a sign of being "stuck" in grief—it's your soul's natural response to a profound spiritual disruption that requires spiritual healing.

I want you to know that the sacred bond you share with your child is eternal. Death has not ended your relationship—it has transformed it into something that spans both physical and spiritual dimensions.

Through this healing program, we will work together at the deepest spiritual level to repair the sacred wound in your spiritual bodies, reestablish clear channels of connection and communication with your child, and help you discover how to maintain and even deepen your maternal bond in beautiful new ways.

You don't have to carry this crushing pain alone anymore.

You don't have to pretend you're "moving on" when your heart knows better.

You don't have to accept that your child is simply gone when every fiber of your being feels their continuing presence.

Through sacred practices rooted in ancient wisdom, I will help you transform this overwhelming anguish into a different kind of connection—one that brings peace to your wounded heart while honoring the eternal love that connects you and your child across all dimensions of existence.

Your child is not lost to you forever. Your role as their mother has not ended. The love that flows between you continues beyond death's apparent limitations.

Together, I will help you discover how to feel whole again while maintaining the sacred connection that death cannot truly sever.

With deep understanding and witness to your sacred journey,

Ning

Understanding Your Sacred Pain

When your child died, something happened that goes far beyond what most people understand about loss.

This wasn't just the end of a physical presence—it was a spiritual fracture that affected every level of your being.

The bond between mother and child is one of the most sacred connections in existence, beginning long before birth when your souls chose each other for this journey. When that bond appears to be severed by death, it creates a wound that resonates through every aspect of your life.

You might be experiencing:

- A bone-deep exhaustion that no amount of rest seems to touch - this isn't just emotional fatigue, it's the profound depletion that comes from trying to maintain connection across dimensions without understanding how
- An actual physical ache in your chest, as if part of your heart has been torn away - because it has, at the spiritual level, leaving a literal hole where your child's energy once resided
- Overwhelming waves of grief that seem to come from your very cells - because your entire spiritual anatomy has been disrupted and your body is responding to this deep wound
- Your child is on your mind 24/7 - you can't stop thinking about them - your maternal instincts are still reaching out, trying to check on them and maintain the connection that was so natural when they were physically here
- A profound sense of fragmentation, as if pieces of your soul have been scattered - because the unified field that connected you and your child has been violently disrupted
- Excruciating guilt that torments you as your mind loops through "if only" scenarios - blaming yourself for not protecting your child and replaying every decision that led to this moment

- Burning existential questions like "Why did you have to die?" "Where are you now?" "Are you okay?" that no one seems able to help you answer, leaving you spiritually lost and desperate for truth
- Overwhelming grief about your child's unfinished future - the loss of their potential, no new memories to create together, and confusion about what to do with their belongings and unfinished projects
- Complete identity crisis and loss of purpose - not knowing who you are anymore when being their mother was so fundamental to your sense of self, leaving life feeling meaningless and directionless
- Feeling like a shell of yourself, hopeless and deeply depressed - as if the essence of who you were died with your child, leaving only an empty version of yourself behind
- Overwhelming loneliness and feeling completely misunderstood in your grief - like no one can comprehend the depth of your loss or the sacred nature of your continuing bond

The Anguish Cycle of Grief

What you're experiencing moves in cycles, what I call the anguish cycle—five interconnected loops of grief that can keep you feeling stuck and separated from your child.

Understanding these loops is crucial because each one holds both your deepest pain and your pathway to healing.

1. The Sadness Loop: This isn't just ordinary sadness—it's a profound physical and emotional ache that seems to emanate from your very cells. You might feel it as heaviness in your chest, a constant pressure behind your eyes, or a deep longing in your arms to hold your child again. This loop often manifests as overwhelming waves of grief that can strike without warning, leaving you feeling physically drained and emotionally raw.
2. The Guilt Loop: Here, your mind becomes trapped in an endless cycle of "what ifs" and "if onlys." You replay decisions, analyze moments, and carry the crushing weight of perceived responsibility for your child's death. This isn't rational guilt—it's the profound anguish of a mother's heart that believes she should have been able to prevent this loss. This is an archetypal grief that all mothers who have lost children carry.
3. The Existential Loop: This loop plunges you into the deepest questions about life, death, and meaning. Everything you thought you understood about the world, about faith, about purpose has been shattered. You find yourself questioning not just why this happened, but the very nature of existence itself.
4. The Unfinished Bond Loop: Here, you grapple with all the futures that will never be—the milestones unmade, the conversations that will never take place, the dreams unrealized. This loop isn't just about missing what was; it's about grieving what should have been. Every holiday, birthday, or significant date becomes a reminder of these unfinished stories.
5. The Identity Crisis Loop: This loop challenges your very sense of self. Being a mother is not just something you do—it's who you are at the deepest level. When your child dies, this core identity seems to fracture. You find yourself questioning who you are now, how to continue mothering a child you can no longer hold, and what your purpose is in a world that feels fundamentally altered.

Why Traditional Grief Support Falls Short

Traditional grief counseling, while well-intentioned, often misses the mark entirely when it comes to maternal grief. It focuses on emotional regulation, coping mechanisms, and "moving through" grief as if it were a temporary condition to be overcome.

You might have been encouraged to "find closure," "let go," or "move on"—phrases that feel not just inadequate but almost offensive to the eternal nature of your bond with your child.

These conventional approaches fail to recognize that what you're experiencing isn't just emotional grief—it's a spiritual disconnection that requires spiritual healing.

They don't understand the spiritual dimension of maternal grief. They don't understand that you're not looking to "get over" your loss; you're seeking to transform it into a different kind of connection. Your child's physical absence doesn't mean your relationship has ended—it means it needs to evolve into something new.

Introducing the Maternal Grief 1:1 Spiritual Healing Program

This intensive program was created specifically for mothers like you who understand that grief isn't something to "get over," but rather a sacred wound that needs spiritual healing. Through this carefully structured 6-week journey, you'll:

- Learn to recognize and work with your spiritual wound at its deepest level
- Develop clear channels for connecting with your child through dreams and spiritual practices
- Get direct answers from your child and inner soul wisdom to the existential questions that keep you awake at night
- Understand how to maintain your eternal bond in new and beautiful ways
- Transform raw grief into sacred connection that continues to grow
- Discover how to mother across dimensions while honoring your child's continuing journey
- Find peace, wholeness, and renewed purpose that goes beyond intellectual understanding

How The Program Works

The Maternal Grief Spiritual Healing Program combines two powerful components that work together to create profound healing and lasting reconnection with your child: an 11-day sacred email journey and six weeks of deep 1:1 healing sessions.

This dual approach ensures you receive both daily support and profound personal guidance throughout your journey.

The 11-Day Sacred Soul Collaboration Invitation

Each morning for eleven days, you'll receive a comprehensive email containing sacred practices and teachings designed to amplify your connection with your child.

These aren't just ordinary emails—they're daily guideposts on your journey of reconnection, each building upon the previous day's work.

- Days 1-3: Foundation Building - Understanding your point of urgency, crafting healing questions and learning the 3 I's (Intention, Invocation & Incubation)
- Days 4-11: Deepening the Connection - Mastering soul attunement and strengthening your bond

Six Weekly Sacred Healing Sessions

Alongside the daily email journey, we meet for 90-minute weekly private sessions, creating a powerful container for deep healing and transformation.

These sessions support your email course learning while providing personalized energy healing, dream interpretation, and spiritual guidance tailored to your unique journey.

Your 5-Step Sacred Journey (The Soul Reunion Framework)

Step 1: Finding Your Point of Urgency

We begin by identifying exactly which loop of the anguish cycle is creating the most acute distress for you right now. Using a comprehensive assessment tool, we'll determine whether you're most trapped in the sadness loop (overwhelming physical and emotional ache), the guilt loop (crushing self-blame and "what if" thinking), the existential loop (spiritual crisis and unanswered questions), the unfinished bond loop (grief over lost futures), or the identity crisis loop (not knowing who you are anymore).

This process involves deep listening to your unique experience through guided exercises and a specialized scorecard that helps pinpoint your primary point of urgency. Through careful exploration, we map the territory of your specific grief landscape using the anguish cycle framework, identify which loop feels most urgent and overwhelming, and create clear direction for focused healing work that will bring the most immediate relief.

Step 2: Crafting Sacred Questions

Once we understand your point of urgency, we work together to craft specific questions or requests for your child and your soul wisdom. This isn't just asking questions - it's creating sacred invitations that can open channels between worlds. These questions serve multiple purposes: they focus your spiritual energy in specific directions, create clear pathways for communication, establish precise healing intentions, open sacred space for connection, and guide the dream incubation process.

We carefully choose each word and phrase to create the most effective bridge between you and your child, drawing on ancient wisdom about how to communicate across dimensions.

Step 3: Dream Incubation

Drawing on practices that date back to ancient Greek dream temples and wisdom preserved through maternal lineages, we create optimal conditions for healing dream visits. This isn't just about improving sleep - it's about creating a sacred space where your soul can meet with your child's in dreams.

The process involves preparing your spiritual body for dream connection, creating protective sacred space around your sleep, establishing clear channels for communication, setting powerful intentions for healing encounters, and drawing on ancient wisdom for dream work. These practices help thin the veil between worlds, making it easier for your child to reach you in dreams and for genuine healing to occur during these sacred encounters.

Step 4: Soul Attunement

Just as every child has a unique fingerprint, they also have a specific spiritual signature - a unique frequency or pattern of energy that is theirs alone. Through careful practice, you learn to recognize and attune to this signature, much like learning to recognize a specific voice in a crowd.

This process involves learning to sense subtle energy patterns, developing spiritual discernment abilities, understanding different forms of communication, recognizing authentic signs and messages, and strengthening your eternal connection. As you develop these abilities, communication with your child becomes clearer and more reliable.

Step 5: One-on-One Healing Sessions

Throughout your journey, we meet for 90-minute weekly private sessions that provide sacred space where:

- The crushing weight in your chest can finally find relief through targeted energy work
- Dream messages can be fully understood so you know exactly what your child is telling you
- Your exhausted body can begin to feel renewed energy and vitality
- The scattered, fragmented feeling can be gathered back into wholeness
- Your sacred bond can be restored and strengthened in its new form

During these sessions, we work with multiple healing approaches:

- Energy/Spiritual Healing: We address the actual spiritual tears that create that hole-in-your-heart feeling, helping to stop the energy drain and restore your natural vitality.
- Dream Message Interpretation: We carefully decode what your child is communicating in dreams, ensuring you receive their full guidance and comfort.
- Body-Based Healing: We help your physical body release the grief it's been storing, creating lasting relief from symptoms like crushing chest pain, exhaustion, and physical ache.
- Soul Integration: We work to bring back the parts of yourself that feel missing since your loss, helping you feel whole again while maintaining your connection.
- Relationship Transformation: We support the evolution of your maternal bond into its new form, teaching you how to continue mothering across dimensions.

The Healing Transformation You Can Expect

Through this sacred work, you'll experience profound changes depending on which grief loop we focus on:

If We Work on the Sadness Loop:

- Relief from the crushing weight in your chest and that hole-in-your-heart feeling
- Return of natural energy instead of bone-deep exhaustion
- Ability to experience moments of joy without feeling guilty
- Physical symptoms like chest pain and body aches beginning to ease
- Renewed connection to life and hope for the future

If We Work on the Guilt Loop:

- Freedom from the torturous "what if" and "if only" thoughts that keep you awake
- Release from the crushing self-blame about not protecting your child
- Understanding your child's perspective on what happened
- Peace about the decisions you made and acceptance of what was beyond your control
- Ability to honor your child without punishing yourself

If We Work on the Existential Loop:

- Clear answers to your deepest questions directly from your child's spirit/soul wisdom
- Understanding of where your child is and that they're truly okay
- Restored sense of meaning and purpose in life despite your loss
- Renewed spiritual understanding that brings peace
- Connection to something larger than your immediate pain

If We Work on the Unfinished Bond Loop:

- Guidance about what to do with your child's belongings and unfinished projects

- Develop the skills needed to schedule dream dates with your child to create new memories together and spiritual connection
- Understanding of how your relationship continues and grows in new ways
- Peace about their unlived future and trust in their continuing journey
- Completion of conversations and experiences that felt unfinished

If We Work on the Identity Crisis Loop:

- Clear understanding of who you are now and your continuing purpose
- Renewed sense of meaning and direction in life
- Understanding of how your maternal role evolves rather than ends
- Restoration of your sense of self while honoring your transformed identity
- Excitement about life and your continuing journey with your child

A Mother's Journey

Ashlie came to me after losing her 17-year-old daughter, Zoie. She was devastated and longing to hold her daughter again. By Day 6 of our work together, she experienced her first visitation dream:

"We were lying down in an open pioneer wagon with lots of pillows and blankets. You were lying with your head on my chest, and I had my arm around you. Exactly how we used to snuggle."

When she asked Zoie where she had been, she replied simply, "I am right here. I never left."

Is This Sacred Journey Right for You?

This program is especially powerful for mothers who:

- Have tried traditional grief counseling and still feel like something crucial is missing - like they're only being treated on the surface level while the deepest wound remains untouched
- Are tormented by burning questions that only their child can answer: "Why did you have to die?" "Where are you now?" "Are you okay?" "What should I do with your unfinished projects?" and know that your child is the only source who can provide the specific answers your heart desperately needs
- Want to feel peace and hope again instead of this crushing despair that makes every day feel impossible to get through
- Long to create a new relationship with their child - to schedule dream visits where you can hug them, have conversations, create new memories, and even go on adventures together in the dream realm
- Need guidance about completing the old relationship - getting answers about what to do with their child's belongings, unfinished projects, and how to honor their legacy in meaningful ways
- Are drowning in guilt and want relief from the self-blame that torments you day and night, replaying every decision and wondering if you could have saved them
- Want to feel connected to life again - to experience joy without guilt, to laugh without feeling like you're betraying your child, to simply feel happy and whole again

- Are exhausted from just surviving each day and want to feel vitality, energy, and genuine excitement about life instead of this bone-deep depletion
- Feel completely lost about who they are now and desperately want to rediscover their sense of purpose and meaning in a world that feels forever changed
- Seek deeper spiritual understanding and healing that addresses the soul-level injury that traditional therapy simply cannot reach

You May Not Be Ready If:

- You're in the very early stages of acute grief (first 6 months) - if this is you, please reach out separately so we can discuss how I can support you
- You're currently in crisis and need immediate therapeutic support
- You're not open to spiritual or energetic approaches
- You're looking for traditional grief counseling
- You're seeking to "move on" or "find closure"
- You don't have 60-75 minutes daily during the first 11 days for practices and rituals

Your Investment in Sacred Healing

---

This comprehensive 6-week spiritual healing journey represents a profound commitment to healing your spiritual wound and creating a new relationship with your child.

Single Payment: $1,111

- Complete 6-week program with all sessions and materials
- Immediate access to entire resource library
- Bonus soul attunement practices

Payment Plan: $555 x 2 payments

- Same access to all program components
- Flexible payment scheduling
- Easy monthly payments

30-Day Money-Back Promise

I understand this is a significant investment in your healing journey. If after our second session you don't feel this is the right path for you, you'll receive a full refund with no questions asked. You keep any materials received, and I'll continue to support you in finding the right path forward.

A Note from My Heart

I will never turn any mama away because of financial reasons. If you feel a deep calling within your heart to participate in this sacred work but cannot afford the program as listed, please reach out to me personally.

We can discuss your specific situation and needs, and I will see how I can support you on your healing journey. Your child's love and your maternal bond are priceless, and financial barriers should never prevent this sacred healing work.

Your Next Sacred Step

If something in these words resonates in your heart, if you feel called to this deeper healing, I invite you to take the next step:

- 1. Complete the Application Share your story and current situation so I can understand exactly where you are in your grief journey and how to best support you.
- 2. Schedule Your Sacred Conversation We'll have a heart-to-heart conversation where we explore your specific situation, answer your questions, discuss program details, and ensure this is the right fit for both you and your child's spirit.
- 3. Begin Your Sacred Journey Once you're enrolled, you'll receive immediate access to your welcome materials, resource library, and begin your 11-day sacred invitation while we schedule your first healing session.

A Personal Note

I only work with 3 mothers at a time to ensure each receives the deep attention and sacred space this work requires. If you're feeling called to this journey, I encourage you to apply soon as spaces fill quickly.

Remember: Your relationship with your child is eternal. Whether you choose to work with me or find another path, trust that connection is possible. Your child's love continues, and they are actively reaching out to connect with you in new and beautiful ways.
