

Platform of The American Guild Party

American Guild Principles:

Return to the family:

We supports the family of two parents and their child dependent children as the primary social unit of functioning society. This unit is also the basis of a multi-generational extended family, which is embedded in socially as well as genetically inter-related communities, nations, etc., and ultimately in the whole human family past, present and future. The economic system of a society should therefore be focused primarily on promoting of the family unit, but not in the isolation of such unit. This reflects this most evidently by promoting the family, rather than the individual, as the basic type of owner; that is, Agrarianism seeks to ensure that most families, rather than most individuals, will be owners of productive property. The family is, then, vitally important to the very core of our parties thought.

Standing Army:

Recognizing the importance of the nation's defense, the American Guild Party supports a strong national defense. The American Guild Party see's it necessary to have a large military budget, standing army, and advanced military research, in order to protect the nation. However, the American Guild Party does not support the use of the military In foreign wars and interventions.

Social:

Guns:

The American Guild party supports the second amendment. We strongly believe in the unalienable right of the individual's right to defend their family against the oppressive Government.

Abortion:

The American Guild party stands up for the rights of the unborn and believe all Americans have a right to life. In saying that we support sex-education and an increase in funding for assisting pregnant teenagers and increasing funds for adoption agencies.

LGBT:

We as a party, recognize that marriage must be preserved as a union between a man and a woman, therefore we oppose same-sex marriage.

Environment:

The American Guild party supports the protection of rural land, and with so protecting the values of family life in the suburbs. The government needs to stop taking the rightful land of families and let them live their lives without unrightful government intervention. Eminent Domain is an overreach of government power, how can a society raise successful families if the government can't refrain from taking their land!

Economic:

Guilds:

The guild is one of the oldest and most stabilizing economic institutions in the history of humankind. A guild is an association of people engaged in the same occupation, and its primary object is mutual support. Guilds eliminate undue competition and hostile action between their various members and fostering cooperation and mutual growth. Unlike unions, guilds foster cooperation between employers and employees, are often more localized, and can include highly-skilled professionals.

Taxes:

Taxation is a powerful tool that the government can use to shape society. The American Guild Party is in favor of lowering taxes on working families in order to assist them in their journey to find prosperity. At the same time, the Party supports raising the corporate tax, as well as the taxes on wealthy individuals to ensure a fairer and more equal society.

Banks:

Recognizing the power of Big Banks, the American Guild Party seeks to dissolve the profit-making basis of charging interest and implement other regulations to decrease the power of private banks. The American Guild Party sees credit unions as a superior alternative.

Foreign:

Non-Interventionism:

The American Guild party believes we should keep relationships with other countries as it is key to a healthy economy and position in the world stage. But there is no reason to be funding a war overseas when we could be using that same money to fund programs to help Americans back on the home front.
