I'd appreciate if you have the name or link to any of those studies on how writing by hand can help students learn a foreign language. Thanks!

Years ago in the UWP we had a DE student who did her dissertation on this - she was studying Spanish language education, I believe.

Thank you! Yeah I ask because I'm finding it as a result in my dissertation- learners of Spanish appreciate writing by hand while studying abroad in Spain because it requires them to learn accent marks and spelling. We sometimes rely too much on technology for help on those aspects!
