SL: One Main Reason Your Relationships Are Falling Apart

You see your life slowly falling apart, breaking down, and crumbling under pressure.

Unable to do anything you sit there with hands underneath your chin worried about your future.

You see upwards only to see nothing at all just a blank empty roof over your head.

This isn't how it was supposed to be. You were supposed to be happy. You even tried to do everything right.

When did it start to go wrong?

You have no idea. Just faith that, God has a Plan. A Path. A destiny.

Reserved only for you and with your name on that path.

But you are not ready. You are unaware.

You do not see what is happening.

You need to recognize the signs the universe is sending to you.

Simply praying and sitting on your lap will do nothing.

You need external guidance from someone who is well-versed in identifying what the world is trying to say.
