Police Department Handbook

This handbook is meant to help you in case you forgot something or maybe you want to refresh your memory. This handbook may not be used to cheat in any police exams or tests (as they do come up from time to time) The OPRP team hopes that this handbook helps you. We have worked hard on it so do not mock or disrespect it. That might be your opinion but we are sure no one else wants to hear. Please do not abuse this handbook. Thank you.

Basis Rules

As an officer you should always initiate and follow all rules. Police officers are not exempt from any rules. If you are attempting to prevent a crime the criminal should always be given a fair chance and enough time to put their gun away. If the criminal does not follow your commands other action may be taken, the action taken should depend on the situation.
