

Greetings [Contact name] I hope this message finds you well!

My name is Rafael, I am 17 and I am an aspiring digital marketing expert and copywriter. I stumbled upon your website and I am genuinely impressed by your content. You've got something special going on!

I have a passion for digital marketing and copywriting. Even though I'm still in the early stages of my career, I'm eager to learn and grow, and I'm on the lookout for exciting projects to build up my experience and portfolio, while at the same time helping businesses grow and reach their peak!

Now, I have noticed some improvements that could be beneficial for your business. I offer you my service to improve the design of your landing page and implement an email list which has proven to increase sales and customer experience!

-The landing page could use a tweak in overall design. I can remake it and give it a new look and writing a short copy for it so people will easily recognise your business

-I can help with the implication of an email list and construct the emails the customers would receive from your business,

If you are interested in collaborating with me and boosting your business sales and experience, I'd love to hear from you! Feel free to leave a reply or reach out to me at [myemail]

Looking forward to your response!