

Hello Teachers: I hope you enjoy the done-for-you Parent Newsletter Templates. Simply copy the text below and paste it into the body of an email you will send to parents. You can add your school logo, a personalized greeting, and your signature. Also, edit any parts you like to best represent what you are teaching this week!

Parent Newsletter, September Week 3

Dear Parents,

This week in Spanish we've had so much fun! We chatted with our friendly, Spanish-speaking puppet. Our puppet loves to help us practice counting in Spanish! ,

One of our favorite games might make a surprise appearance—the balloon tap game! It's always a hit, and this time we'll use it to sharpen our Spanish numbers in a playful way. Which students will be able to keep the balloon in the air while calling out numbers in Spanish? We'll soon find out!

Next, we'll move on to reviewing how to ask and say how we're feeling in Spanish. We'll practice asking each other "¿Cómo estás?" and answering with "bien," "más o menos," or "mal," using fun facial expressions to bring our answers to life. You'll be amazed at how quickly you'll be able to express your feelings in Spanish!

While learning Spanish words and phrases practical to everyday life we got to have loads of fun playing games, interacting with our puppet, and sharing with each other. It's been a week full of excitement, learning, and laughter!

Bilingual Beginnings!

Alert! Drum roll, please! Parents, our digital guide, Bilingual Beginnings: A Parent-Child Guide to Practicing Spanish at Home, is your golden ticket to going from "No comprendo" to "¡Hola!" in a jiffy! Even if Spanish sounds like a foreign language to you, these guides will turn you into a Spanish maestro in no time! By bringing Spanish into your casa, you're not only helping your child ace their second language but also picking up some Español skills along the way! It's a fiesta for everyone! Ready to dive into the September edition of Bilingual Beginnings? Just Click here!

Gracias for letting us introduce your niños and you to the Spanish language!

Sinceramente,

(Teacher Name)

