

:+:+: Additional Set-up for FFXIV Chat Logs :+:+:

Here are 5 additional options to explore for personalizing your chat log!

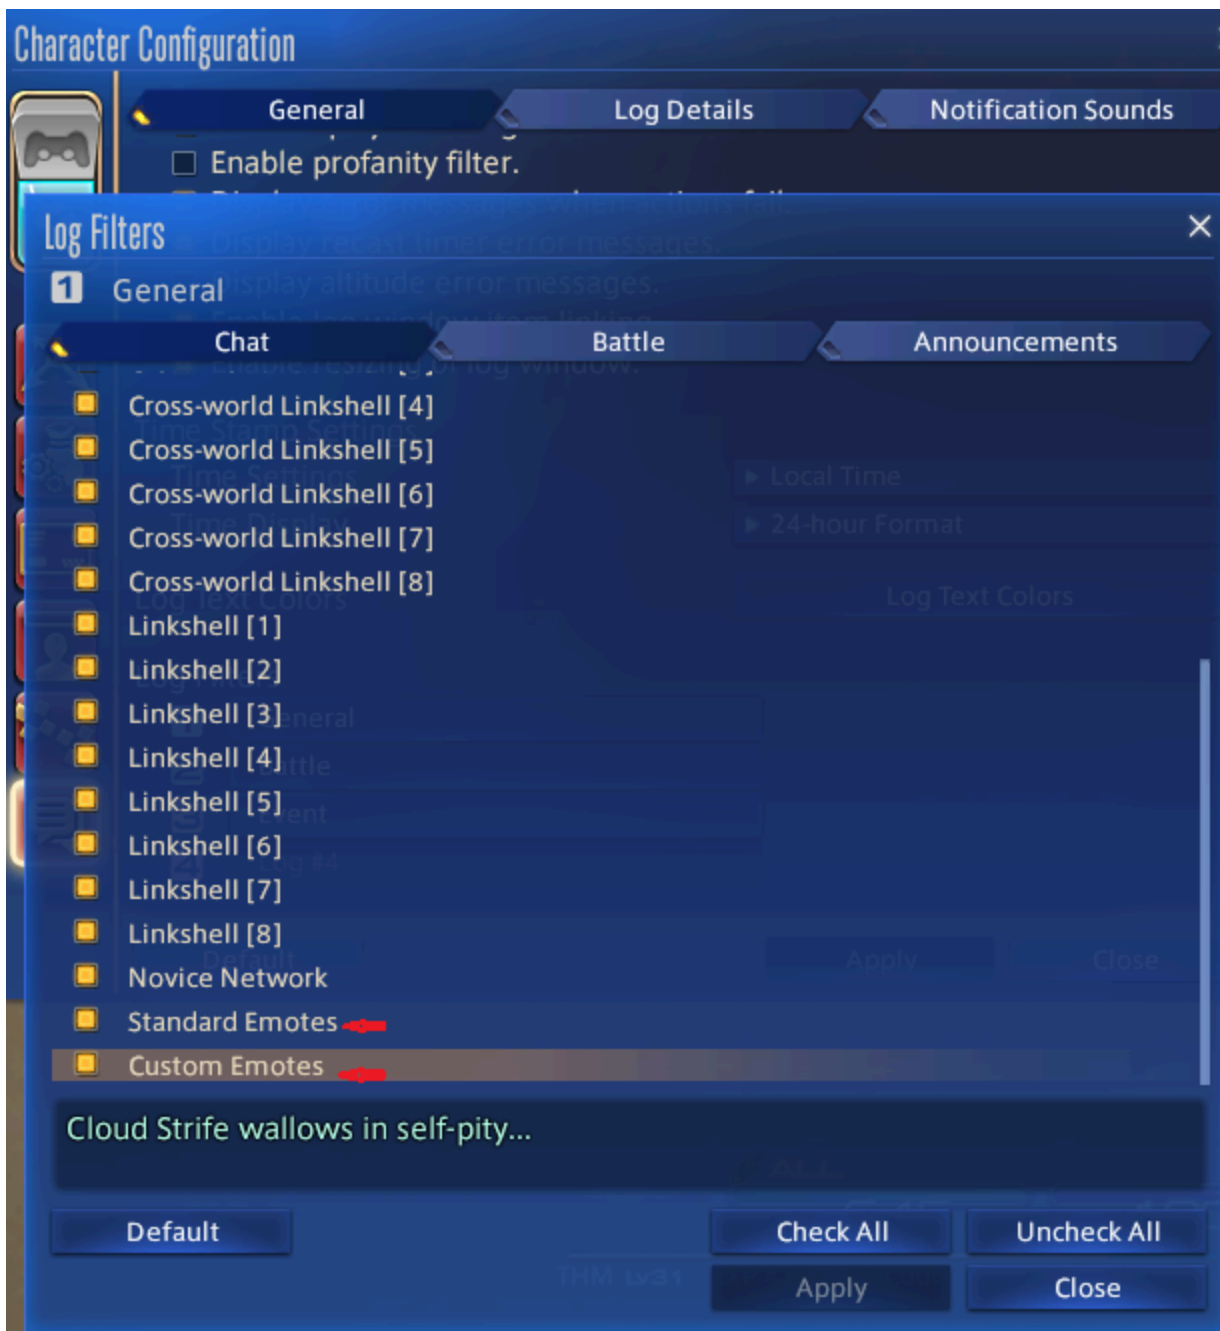

1. Custom Emotes
2. World Display
3. Friend Group
4. Recruit Status
5. Log Window Zoom

1. Have [Custom Emotes] enabled!

Many RPer use both /say and /em to denote what their character is doing. Often, they'll mix the two together depending on what the first word of their response is. This is not to be confused with standard emotes!

Open Character Configuration → Log → General → Access any Log Filter per tab

2. Toggle off [World] display!

This can reduce the length of others' RP lines.

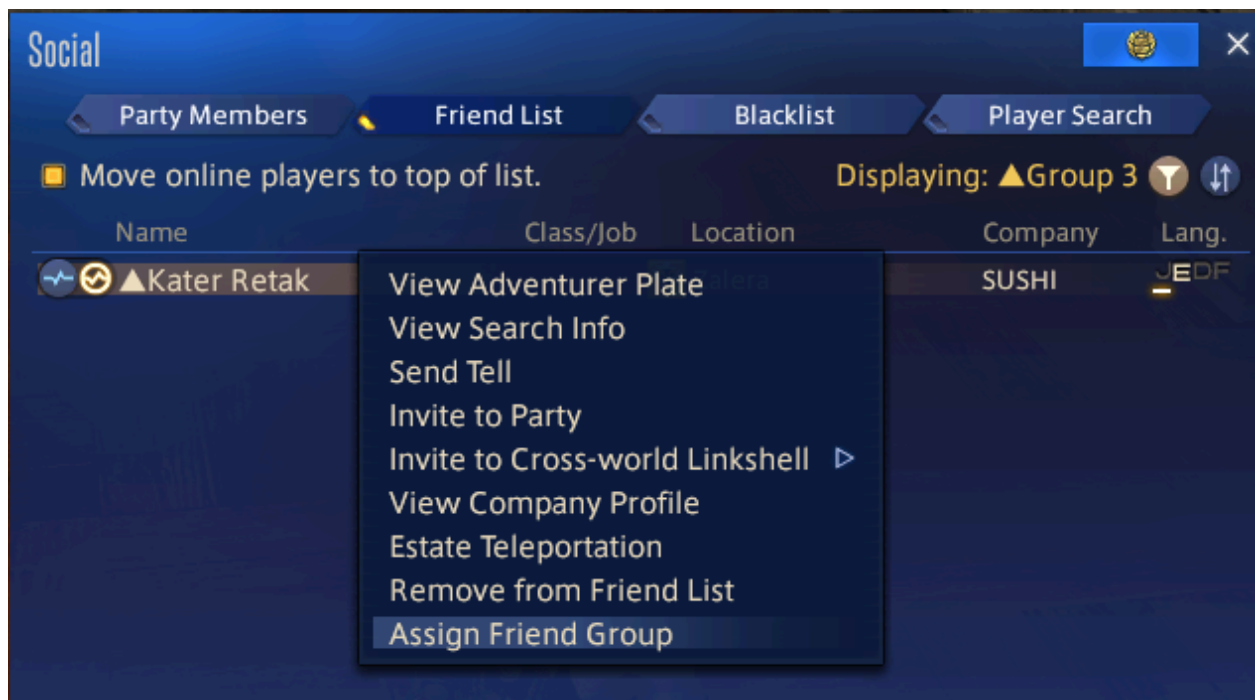

Open Character Configuration → Log → General → under Log Window Settings.

3. For Friends, you can [Group] them!

If you are RPing with a friend, assigning them to a group will display a little symbol that can make finding their messages easier, especially in a busy area!

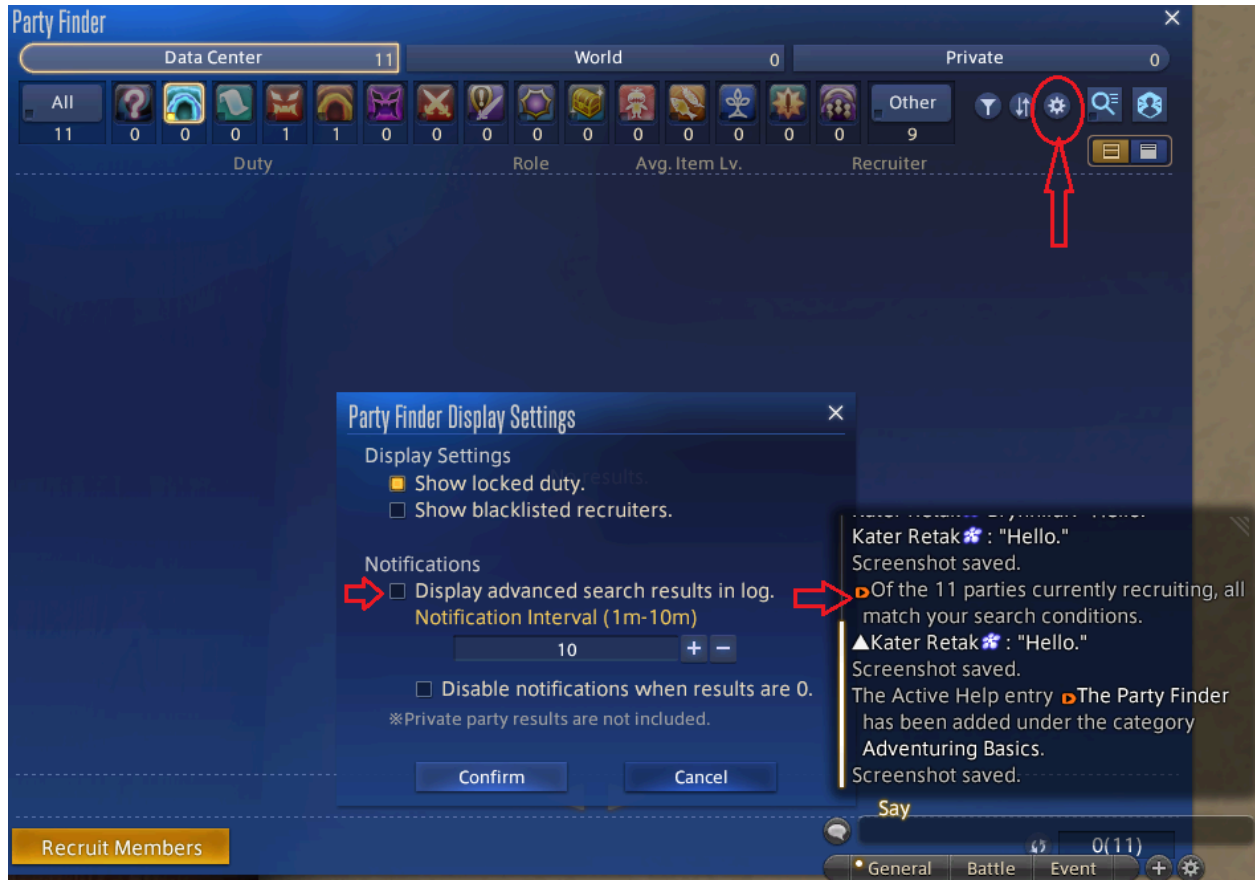

Open the Friend List to assign. There are seven symbols to organize with.

4. Turn off [Recruiting Status]!

Periodically, a message about the Party Finder's listings forces the chat log to scroll up.

Party Finder → upper right Settings button → Notifications.

5. Hotkey [Log Window Zoom].

Other than manually dragging the corner of the chat log to extend it, you can also expand the chat log wholly. This is a toggle, so you can press the button again to return to your regular layout. By default, it is not bound to anything.

Open Keybind → System → "Log Window Zoom"

