X-wing episode

A long time ago, in a galaxy far, far away…

The STAR WARS: Red Squadron logo appears and fades into the distance. Pan down from the stars. An X-wing flies past the screen. It flies towards the hidden rebel asteroid base. It lands in the hangar. Cut to Corr Berav walking down the hall, conversing with a base staff member.

BASE STAFF MEMBER GUY
Welcome to Caldio 7, Flight Officer Berav. We'll have a mission real soon.

CORR
Thank you. I'm looking forward to showing them what I've got.

Cut to briefing room. Corr Berav walks in and takes a seat.

BRIEFING GUY
Our target is the Imperial fuel station orbiting Caldio 3. The ships it services will all be on patrol at the time of the attack. The station itself is unarmed. You should have several minutes to destroy it. Good luck.

Fighter launch sequence. They form up.

DAVIN
All wings, report in.

CORR
Red Two, standing by.

MIRI
Red Three, standing by.

KHAM
Red Four, standing by.

JEB
Red Five, standing by.

BEREN
Red Six, standing by.

DAVIN
Prepare to go into hyperspace on my mark.

They go into hyperspace. They arrive at the target.

DAVIN
Lock S-foils in attack position.

They do that.

DAVIN
Break by pairs for runs on the station.

They split into pairs and do several attack runs on the station. Cut to a few scenes of the interior shaking and crew running for the escape pods.

KHAM
Miri, you’re too close. Pull up.

Miri is close enough to the station to be damaged by explosions from it.

MIRI
I’m a little cooked, but I’ll be fine.

JEB
Sensors show an energy buildup in the station’s reactor.

DAVIN
That’s our exit cue. Let’s head home.

The X-wings fly away as the station explodes. Cut to an establishing shot of a star destroyer, then to the bridge.

IMPERIAL OFFICER
Sir, there has been an attack on the fuel station in the Caldio system. Reports from the survivors indicate the rebels are responsible.

CAPTAIN

Set course for the Caldio system. We'll teach those rebels a lesson they won't soon forget.

End credits.
